OMAHA BREVILLES.

-Mrs. C. Carpenter, daughter of Prof. Snow, of this city, died at Newton, Iowa, on Saturday last. She had been married not quite a

-The linseed oil mill started up again yesterday, after a suspension of work for six weeks, caused by the cold weather freezing them out of water.

-The German theatre association have engaged Emeline Atlanti, who sang at Thiele's Sunday afternoon, to appear next Sunday evening at Turner Hall.

-In our report of Saturday's sale of the Credit Foncier property, the typos made us say that Mr. J. P. Roe bid in twelve lots at $2,302 more than their appraisal, whereas it should have been $302 only.

-Rev. J. P. Hammond will deliver a lecture at St. Barnabas' Church this evening on Spiritualism. The proceeds will be devoted to the benefit of the poor. -The first anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Able, was celebrated Sunday evening by a social gathering of their friends at their residence on Harney street. -The sleighing was played out Sunday by the warm weather.

The last day of winter was like a warm spring day, while the first day of spring (yesterday) was a good sample of winter weather. -The sale of the balance of the Credit Foncier lots will take place in front of the court house, this (Tuesday) morning, at 10 o'clock according to adjournment, by the Sheriff, from Saturday. -The trial of Frederick Heisse on a second indictment for grand larceny in stealing property from J. W. Tousley, was begun in the District Court yesterday. He was acquitted, it will be remembered, on the first indictment. He is being defended by N. J. Burnham. -Two young men named Edward Bonn and J. James, had a collision some three weeks ago on a Chicago street sidewalk, which resulted in a fight. Sunday they met again by chance near Jefferson square, and attempted to ornament each other's physiognomy. It was about an even thing. They were arrested, and yesterday at the Police Court Bonn was fined $10 00 and James $5 00.

-A physician in the grasshopper district has at last utilized the grasshopper in his practice of medicine. He administers the lively jumper in place of blue pills, castor oil, and other disagreeable physic, which he now throws to the dogs. The patient is required to swallow the lively grasshopper backwards, and in less than ten minutes he will kick the insides out of the patient

-A couple of pugnacious bulldogs had a very lively unpleasantness Sunday afternoon at the corner of Thirteenth and Douglas streets. They fought for fifteen minutes, and were finally divorced by a couple of colored peace-makers, who separated them by pulling on their tails for seven minutes and a half. The capines were obliged either to let go their grip, or lose their caudal appendages. They chose the former horn of thedilemma, after concluding that discretion was the better part of valor.

-A nice young man, who parts his hair in the middle, and regularly attends a high-toned church, was seen renting an opera-glass at Max Meyer & Bro 's this morning. Did he intend to take a walk on Capitol Hill, and view the surrounding scenery-Council Bluffs in the distance included-or did he propose to attend the performance or the cancan, and gratify the "prurience of a diseased imagination?" We'll bet a new hat that he occupies a prominent seat at the theatre this even-

-A new mail route has been established from No-hat via Red Cloud to Forest City, Missouri, with trips six times a week. This enables Omaha papers, mailed in time, to connect by the Kansas City, St. Mrs. E. Harris and children, Fort Joe & Council Bluffs railway in the | Scott, Kas; J. P. The City Band, composed of the best musicians in the city, invariably play their choicest selections, and almost always execute some new and difficult music, specially rehearsed for the occasion. The concert Sunday afternoon was rendered doubly attractive by the fine singing of Emeline Atlanti, formerly of the Strakosch opera troupe, and who is temporarily stopping in the city. She is on her way to California, to fill an engagement

-A party of Council Bluffs bummers visited a Streetville den, near that place last Friday evening, and got into a row with some Streetville roughs. A Council Bluffite slapped the mug of a Streetvillain, and then the shooting began. One shot perforated the shoulder of one of the Bluffites, all of whom were pretty severely bounced. This information was not obtained from the Council Bluffs papers, who suppressthe accounts of the skirmish.

-The facilities of the BEE job department have been increased by the addition of a large amount of new and exceedingly beautiful type and an extensive assortment of cuts preparatory to the spring trade. Our business men are requested to call and see the superintendent, Mr. C. F. Brewster, who will give them any information desired, and bottom prices for first-class work. Mr. Brewster is from Chicago, and has a well-earned reputation of being one been connected with the BEE establishment speaks for itself.

-The female minstrels and cancan troupe arrived here Sunday from Sioux City, and are stopping at the Grand Central Hotel. Last fall, early in the season, our city was visited by Mr. J. M. Pattee, (formerly of Omaha), while he was en route to Montana to examine the laws of this territory lotteries were authorized institutions Mr. Pattee then made up his mind to return to Laramie at an early day and open business on a big scale. Soon atterwards he was taken sick in New York and by the advice of his physicians made a visit to Europe. He has now recovered and will soon have his lottery scheme fairly before the people of the world. To assist him in the preliminary work he has engaged the services of Mr. H. L. Lowman, of Birmingham, Conn., a gentleman of large means, who is nterested in the well known Shovel Company at his place. This gentleman arrived in this city last evening and has rented the rooms over the store of A. G. Swain for offices. After the business is fairly started, Mr. Lowman, who is an experienced miner, will examine the mines in this vicinity, and do some prospecting. This is really what induced him to come to this country and we believe that he has the veloping valuable ledges that have been and will be found in this sec-In ten days or less Mr Pattee will arrive here from New York, where he has been advertising his lottery and establishing an agency. He i now doing the same at C icago.

I could not consistently accept this is, were it not from the fact that I know full well that it is offered with shocked. We don't believe that— the purest and best of motives. Asward, I shall keep it as a most pleasant memento, and remember the occasion of its presentation as one of the pleasantest of my life. Gentlemen of the police force-I need not say to you that your services are appreciated by the people of this city, as well as by the Police Judge, the Marshal and myself. The position which I occupy is such that I can tell better than you can, in what esteem you are held as offieers, and I know that the public commend you for your faithful services. And what could the Marshal, the Police Judge and the Mayor, all combined, do towards preserving order in the city without an efficient police?

Again, gentlemen, I thank you and the gentleman whom you have selected to make this presentation, for the very complimentary manner in which this elegant cane has been presented. [Communicated.] The Recent "Lyran" Masquerade-The Committee of Arrangements vs. the "Folkets Tidning."

OMAHA, March 1. EDITOR OMAHA BEE:

Will you be so kind as to publish the following explanation, relating to the late awarding of the prize to the "Folkets Tidning" at the "Lyran" masquerade, by the committee of arrangements. The prize that was awarded to me by the making of a dress from the headings of the "Volkets Tidning" has created some unjust criticism as reflecting upon that influential Scandinavian paper. I wish to state that the proprietor and editor of the "Folkets Tidning" was in no manner, way or form concerned in it, had nothing to do with it, either by intimation or advice, but was unknown to him; it was originated, executed and worn by myself. When I learned of the feeling existing from my carrying off the prize, I took steps to correct it, to keep harmony, not only in justice frozen to death on the track, as there to myself, but in justice to the proe's Tidning, Messrs Larson& Cohrev.

I desire no censure or blame to be attached to either the judges or the paper, and to correct any misunder-standing in the matter have returned the prize, to allay all teeling on the part of the committee of arrangements, thus finally disposing of the matter and silencing all unnecessary comment in the future. Very Respectfully, F. IANDBERG.

Annual Meeting of the State State Editorial Excursion to "Old Morality" Goe: for T. B. M. Teacners' Association.

T. B. M. (Tilton-Beecher-Moulton?) in Sunday's Herald expreses high-indignation against the proposed onslaught to be made on the high morals of our good city tonight. In commendable self-knowledge, he tears, that the "prurience of diseased imaginations will be gratified by witnessing the Can-can. that all that is good, and pure and chaste in our Omaha youth, will be obliterated and wiped out by the improper array of tricots and lownecked dresses." He asks, that, while it may be impossible to suppress the proposed peformance, the public may show its indignation at the intended affront, by leaving the seats of the Academy unoccupied, and thus save us from the awful doom of sinking into a bottomless pool of iniquity and sin. I pity T. B. M. He is evidently nice young man, that never stole apples from his neighbor's orchard in his boyhood, and never missed a tesson in his Sunday school; a young means and experience to aid in de- man that would think it an immortal sin to smoke on the Sabbath or drink anything but water on a week day. He belongs to that numerous class of people who will do anything to keep up the appearance of strict propriety, and would not for the world be charged with anything indecent or immoral. But does not his desire to let "the shameless creatures of the LaBerg dancing troupe dance to an empty nouse," come just a little bit too late, after the combined press of the country, all the leading journals, the Omaha Herald included, have prepared the public mind for a show of this sort, and have awakened a taste for exhibitions of a lewd character? He should not try to prevent the gratifying of that taste Nor does he deny that for past eight or ten months the newspapers have done so in the publication of the revolting disgusting, shameless, Beecher-Tilton affair. What is worse to pollute the public mind by the most minute description of the particulars of the Brooklyn scandal case, to corrupt the youthful ideas of young men and women, boys and girls, by the gift, as beautiful and valuable as it literature of adultery, as published day after day in the papers, or to put on exhibition a persome ture? The newspapers reaches the wife, maybe the innocent sister or perhaps daughter of T. B. M., the performance is in the worst case attended by young and old men, to whom temptation there certainly does not come in its worst shape. Ah, Mr. T. B. M., your initials seem to surely indicate that you belong to that class of society which to-day, with all the proof of the Brooklyn preacher's guilt, declare him innocent, but will insist that all and everything is indecent, improper and censurable connected with a public show. If your sense of the pure was so vivid, if you had such a keen perception of the danger in which the morals of your community might be placed, why did you not protest against the introduction of that cursed tale of a minister's shame and guilt into the columns of your family newspaper? The performance of the can-can you and your family need not attend; the reacing of the newspaper you cannot prevent. Which is the worst in its bad results?

You say the prurience of diseased | dorf's, 209 Douglas street. minds will be gratified. You then take it for granted that the minds of those attending the performance are corrupted. How did they become so? Where and by what means were they corrupted? Strike at the root; prevent the awakening of the appetite, if you would prevent the wish to gratify it. OLD MORALITY.

Who Went-What thhy Did and How they were Received.

Correspondence the of BEE) LINCOLN, Feb. 27.

"ALL ABOARD." The special train placed at the disposal of the State Editorial Association for an excursion to Brownville, left the Midland Pacific depot at half-past one o'clock Thursday afternoon The train was composed of two coaches, and guessing that the rear car was for ladies and ladies' men, your correspondent stepped into the smoking car, and off we went. The profession was well represented in the smoking depart- ly packed in a ment. There are two reasons why editors and correspondents are not, as a general rule, accompanied by ladies upon such occasions. First,

WHO WENT. The following is a list of the names aboard: Ex-Governor Furnas, Brownville; Col. O. Wilson and wife, Lincoln; Thomas Wolf, of the Seward Reporter, with Miss Mattie Thomas and Phœbe Nichols; G. E. Howard, Hesperian Student, with Miss Williams; Paren England, Lincoln; Prof. Thompson, Patron; Mr. Lange, of the M. P. R. R., and wife. Mr. Wells, Crete Post, with Miss Hattie Cole; Mr. Moore, Nemaha Granger, and wife; Mrs. Woodhurst, Lincoln; Mr. J. J. Imhoff and wife, Lincoln; Gen. McBride and wife, Lincoln; Ed. P. they cannot afford the luxury; and,

second, the ladies cannot afford to go with them.

WHAT THEY DID. In the smoking car, Caffrey and Calhoun were having a loud talk over the Butler expunging resolushuffling and throwing on a board by turns, little pieces of cards covrious figures and colors. Passing into the dominion of ribbons and 2:10—Compulsory Education, Results of Trial. J. D. Hayes, county The first sound that greeted my ear was "I made

'SANCO, PEDRO, GAME !" Looking in the direction from whence the words came I saw Huil and two other ladies playing with cards that resembled very much those I had seen in the smoking car: in fact, I firmly believe, though dare not assert, that the cards and game were one and the same. Col. Wilson and lady, General McBride and lady, Mr. Howard, Mr. Evans and ladies, with many others, were engaged in the same game watched their mysterious "plays," as they called them, but could not tell what they were playing, so

THE GAME I DO NOT UNDERSTAND. The train reached Nebraska City about four o'clock. Here we were met by Dr. Blake, city treasurer of Brownville, who passed through the train and gave to each excursionist a ticket that insured good grub, good treatment and lodging. The ride down was quite interesting because of the change of scenery; but the train moved very slow. Just as the lights began to flicker from the windows among the hills, the weary pleasure-seekers stepped from the cars, and were enthusiastically welcomed by the band and citizens of BROWNVILLE. Carriages were in waiting at the platform, and the party soon found themselves seated around the pleasant hearth-stones of the hospitable citizens of Brownville. Your correspondent was entertained by Mr. W. H. Small. Right here he would tender his thanks to this gentleman and his kind lady.

RIGHT ROYAL treatment received by him at their hands. I cannot speak too highly of the generous people of Browville WELCOME,

At half-past nine o'clock I went to McLaughlin's Hall, and arrived just in time to hear Mr. Rogers deliver the welcoming address on behalf of the mayor and common council of the city of Brownville. Mr. Peak and Mr. Webster Eaton responded in neat and appropriate language. But they did not assemble to listen to long-winded speeches and cries of

"ON WITH THE DANCE'. arose from every side. The musicians mounted the stand-they had excellent music by the way-and the evening's ball was inaugurated by a grand march, Gov. Furnas and Mrs. Woodhurst taking the lead. The elite of Brownville were out en masse. And it is worthy of remark that for good-looking, lively, enterprising boys and girls, Brownville is shead of the average town. Among the prominent citizens of the city present were Hon. H. Lett, Mayor Tisdel, Dr. Blake, and a host of others, all of whom took great interest in making the party an agreeable one. During the evening I called on the Advertiser folks. This is one of the substantial papers of the state, and very comfortably situated—I mean by that, on a sound financial pasis. Here it was that Governor Furnas commenced his career in Nebraska. The seeds and cuttings for his splendid nursery were obtained from eastern horticulturists in return for advertising. Surely that advertising proved profitable.

The excellent school building immediately attracts the attention of the stranger. It certainly speaks well for the city. I was told that the schools were in a very prospe-rous condition. During the evening I met one of the teachers, Mrs. E. E. Ebright, and from her received the above information. The lady's conversation and evident ability as a teacher would alone confirm her statements, but from what many told me a very flattering notice of the Brownville schools would not be over-drawn. But to return to the ball-room. Things went exceedingly merry. There was only one serious drawback. The hall was uncomfortably warm ; so warm indeed that consumptive persons like your corres-nondent and "Spark," and others, were compelled to go out occasionally, or even semi-occasionally, and

FRESH AIR. The dance was continued until the "wee sma' hours," and with two hours rest we were routed out, provided with an excellent breakfast, and with the band discoursing grand old music, the train moved

THE NORMAL SCHOOL. At Peru the train stopped an hour, that the party might visit the Normal School located there. Sleighs were in waiting, and the school was soon reached. The building is not very large, but well constructed. The recitation rooms were visited, the literary halls inspected, bringng up at last in the chapel. Here Dr. Edwards soon collected the students, some 200 in number, and the "A" class went through with their gymnastic exercises. It was certainly the most interesting and perfect performance I ever saw. I was highly pleased at the apparent prosperity of the school. Nebraska City was reached at 2 o'clock. I had my clothes all nice-

COLLAR BOX, fully intending to take them along, but had forgotten them. Now I was glad. We walked up to the Barnum House, paid seventy-five cents for dinner, fifteen cents for cigars and-was "broke." Toothpicks could have been bought, I presume, for a nickle. Mr. Brown, of the Press, and Mr. McCullum, of the Chronicle, gave us every attention possible, and regretted that no preparations had been made. It seems that we were not expected until 5 o'clock.

HOME AGAIN. The train reached Lincoln at 6 o'clock, all being very highly pleased with the trip.
