

THE OMAHA BEE

FRIDAY, JULY 25, 1876.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE

ADVERTISING RATES

Business Manager

OMAHA BEE

BREVITIES

Vischer is now in San Francisco.

Everybody had a good time at the Presbyterian picnic yesterday.

Gen. Estabrook will address the Hayes and Wheeler club of the Sixth ward to-morrow evening.

Boss Cunningham was a spectator of the thrilling play, "The Bouncing of Hascall," last night.

A looker on in Vienna, you know.

There will be a match game of base ball to-morrow afternoon, back of the High School, between the Centennials and the Quicksteps.

Judge Porter gave a couple of vagrants an opportunity to leave town this morning, and they stood not upon the order of their going.

The police "pulled" the villain-ates of the bad house of Trux, on Ninth street, on suspicion of having committed a robbery, but as the prosecuting witness didn't positively know that he had lost his $15 there, they were discharged.

The Concordia's summer night's festival at Thiele's last evening, was a splendid success. There was a select attendance, and everybody enjoyed the splendid music by the band and the dancing that followed.

A man named Lavender who was arrested yesterday by Policemen Byrne and Mansfield, for raising a row and bullying the inmates of a low den on Ninth street, has been identified as the same man who attempted a highway robbery the other evening at Council Bluffs. He will be sent over to the Bluffs to receive what he deserves.

Personal.

J. J. Hanna, of Tiffin, O., is at the Metropolitan.

H. T. Elliott, of Chicago, is at the Metropolitan.

J. S. Pierce, of Milwaukee, is at the Metropolitan.

C. A. Vaughn, of Chicago, is at the Metropolitan.

W. J. Colvin, of Brooklyn, is at the Grand Central.

John J. Hyland, of Chicago, is at the Grand Central.

S. R. Ball, of Wilmington, is at the Grand Central.

M. N. Townsend, of Peoria, Ill., is at the Grand Central.

George S. Knowles, of Chicago, is at the Grand Central.

N. P. Douglas, Covington, Ky., is at the Grand Central.

W. R. Crompton, of Burlington, is at the Grand Central.

Thos. D. McElroy, of Chicago, is at the Grand Central.

E. Maxwell and C. S. Judson, of St. Louis, are at the Grand Central.

Judge Redick and wife left yesterday for Albuquerque, New Mexico.

H. R. Royston and John Zehring, of Chicago, are at the Metropolitan.

Gib. Baxter, traveling agent of the Missouri Pacific, is at the Grand Central.

Gerald Fitzgibbon, late sergeant of the 21st Infantry, left Omaha today over the K. C., St. Joe & C. B. railway for St. Louis, and thence he goes to Europe.

For your Hats and Caps go to "BREDERICK," Leading Hatter.

EST PRESS in Omaha.

ANOTHER MASSACRE!

Below Cost! Below Cost!

Below Cost! Below Cost!

Below Cost! Below Cost!

Below Cost! Below Cost!

Below Cost! Below Cost!

Below Cost! Below Cost!

Below Cost! Below Cost!

Below Cost! Below Cost!

Below Cost! Below Cost!

THE BOUNCING OF HASCALL.

The Worst Political Shyster that has Ever Disgraced the State of Nebraska.

How he Became an Ex-Member of the Executive Committee of the Hayes and Wheeler Club.

A New Executive Committee Elected.

A Lively Meeting at the Court House Last Evening.

"The Hayes and Wheeler Veterans of Omaha."

The reporter of the BEE had no trouble in filling his note-book at the meeting of the Hayes and Wheeler club last evening.

The court room was densely packed, and the meeting was an enthusiastic and an excited affair throughout.

President Cowin filled the chair and called the meeting to order.

After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and accepted, quite a number of gentlemen came forward and signed their names to the roll of the club.

The motion for the recess to allow them to do so was made by I. S. Hascall.

The Campaign Glee Club, composed of Messrs. Morris, Saunders, Reed and Northrop, sang "The Red, White and Blue" in admirable style, and were enthusiastically applauded.

A calm followed. It was the calm that usually precedes the storm, and the storm came soon afterward.

It's coming was announced by a terrific thunderbolt, so to speak, in the shape of the resignation of Mr. J. W. Gannett, vice president of the club from the First Ward.

Mr. Will Browne stated that he had an important communication, addressed to the President, and he handed it to the President, who turned it over to Secretary Manchester to read aloud, as follows:

OMAHA, July 25.

Hon. J. C. Cowin, President:

DEAR SIR:—I have to request that you will present to the present members of the Douglas County Hayes and Wheeler Club, this my resignation of the office of vice president from the First Ward of this city.

Those gentlemen that insist that in order to bring in and secure the votes of grog-shop loafers, bummers and rascals, it is necessary to place upon your executive committee a man who has the reputation of being the worst political shyster that has disgraced the State of Nebraska, are welcome to all the glory, or all the shame, whichever it may prove to be for myself, I will have no part whatever in it, and I don't propose to train in any company where I cannot carry my self-respect.

Very respectfully,

J. W. GANNETT.

Talk about thunderbolts! We beg pardon for using such a mild term. This letter proved a bomb-shell, and when it exploded it seemed to strike every member of the post-bird strike.

Every eye in the room was turned on I. S. Hascall, for it was evident to the uneducated opiate that he was the man who was referred to as "the worst political shyster in Nebraska."

He thus became the observed of all observers. The postal brigade had been hit, and hit hard, square in the bowels, and as soon as P. Vandervoort could catch his breath, and straighten up and maintain his equilibrium, he belched forth in stentorian tones that Thomas L. Kimball, of the first ward, be nominated to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Cowin proposed that the matter be postponed till the third Monday in November.

Mr. Will Browne moved that the communication be laid on the table.

Hascall rose to his feet and said he thought it was a proper motion to postpone the matter till the third Monday in November, and that it was improper to lay it on the table.

If Mr. Gannett was so fastidious as not to want to be vice president of the club, it would be well to accept his resignation, and let him join a Tilden club if he wants to.

Mr. Browne sprang up and said: Mr. Gannett doesn't propose to join a Tilden club. He is a man, every inch of him. I want his communication laid on the table so that it can be taken up at any time.

Gen. Estabrook said he didn't hardly understand the import of the communication. It seemed to him that there was something about the club that this respectable gentleman (Mr. Gannett) considered offensive, and which prevented him from longer remaining a member of the club. He moved that a committee of three be appointed to investigate and report at an adjourned meeting. If there is anything wrong with this club out to know it. He felt as if his reputation might be tarnished in some way.

Mr. Gwyer was very much exercised at the language and tenor of the letter, which he did not consider respectful.

President Cowin said the letter was addressed to himself.

Gwyer was called for a second reading, as it was a gospel, every word of it. [Laughter.]

The letter was accordingly read a second time.

Mr. Gwyer said he now understood the tenor of the letter. It seemed that the language was offensive. Some one person on the executive committee was offensive to the writer. He knew not who the man could be. If it was as true as a gospel, it concerned himself, as he did not want to be caught in bad company. The tenor of the letter was unpleasant and unsatisfactory, but if Mr. Gannett wanted to be relieved, why certainly the first and only thing to do was to accept his resignation.

A delightful but inharmonious chorus of hisses and cheers interrupted him for a moment.

He didn't propose to hold him here if he was too lofty a man to associate with these men. He considered the letter offensive personally to himself, as well as to others, and moved that the resignation be accepted instantaneously.

The hisses here drowned the feeble cheers.

Mr. T. F. Hall thought the letter was an important document. It was the resignation of a prominent gentleman in this community. He had stated his reasons why he did not wish to belong to the club. The question was, did the club want him to resign, or did they wish to reorganize the executive committee.

He had thought at the last meeting that the organization of that committee was a little weak. Mr. Gannett was not the only gentleman in this community who objected to the committee. The objectionable man was a man of all men against whom he (Hall) had nothing to say, but it was to the interest of the club that he should be removed. The committee, he understood, had been appointed in the interest of harmony, but it had proposed the opposite effect. He proposed that the club proceed to elect an executive committee. They would not elect any one whom they did not want. The object of the motion to lay on the table was to allow an opportunity to decide whether that committee should be reorganized or not. If it was not reorganized, then let Mr. Gannett, and as many others as pleased, withdraw from the club.

Mr. Cowin said that a committee of four—Thurston, Sperry, Benjamin and himself—had been appointed to prepare a constitution and by-law for this club, and they did so with a view to advance the interests of Hayes and Wheeler, and had organized this club on the basis of doing all the good possible. He then explained the appointment of the committee at some length.

Mr. Cowin endorsed Mr. Hascall, and gave him a very good record. He, for one, was willing to go with Hascall and endorse him in every particular. His character could not be impeached, and no objection could be raised against him.

Mr. E. Rosewater said he wished to utter a few words in connection with this matter. "Mr. Cowin is no doubt in earnest for Hayes and Wheeler; so am I. He desires the welfare of the Republican party; so do I. But I would not, if I had the power, put on that committee Uncle John Stanton, or Curry, or Isaac S. Hascall, if you should recommend them. I am no homeopathic doctor. When there is a cancer in the body, I believe in cutting it out—excising it—and letting the body live. The man to whom Mr. Gannett refers is a man whom I know has sold out the Republican party time and again in this county, and I will raise my voice against it. I know nothing of Mr. Gannett's intention to resign, or of his letter, until my return from Lincoln to-day; but I approve his course. The men at the head of this club must be men of good character and reputation, who enjoy the general confidence of the community, and not men who merit and have the contempt of the people, to the danger of the Republican party. We may as well meet the matter now. Laying on the table is a mere subterfuge. We may as well say now that we propose to reorganize this committee and retain Mr. Gannett."

Tremendous cheering followed this speech, and the general cry of "question! question!" was made. Gwyer endeavored to speak again after order had been partially restored, but the President ruled him out on the ground that he had already spoken on the subject.

"Question! Question!" was again the cry, and Vandervoort made himself conspicuous by shouting out, "If you want to bring on your mob, come on." This looked very much like a challenge to a free fight, and it did look a little that way for a minute or two.

W. W. Marsh suggested that in taking the vote it be by yeas and nays, and from the roll, which was afterwards acted on.

President Cowin here rose and explained how the committee had been appointed by him. When the club was organized he had refused positively to entertain for a moment the idea of presiding at its deliberations—a fact well known to all. He refused to assist in the organization. The organization committee was appointed, and both sides recommended his name for president, and he accepted it.

Dr. Benjamin chipped in a few words, but nobody paid any attention to him.

President Cowin—The resolution is now before the house.

Chauncey Wilke then got up to make some remarks. He stood there divested of partisan feeling, so he said. There was something higher than that. The country was at stake. We were tramping down, and disgracing, the Republican party, and we were organizing for the defeat of it. He told a story about an Irish lawyer who had been told several times by the Judge to sit down. The lawyer finally said to the Judge, "May it please your Honor, I think you are impregnated with a great deal of dignity." And that was what was the matter with J. W. Gannett. He was impregnated with a great deal of dignity.

"Cries of question" ran all quarters of the house; also "Hill down," "shut up," "shut down your vent." He had been a Republican a long time [A voice—"Shut up." Cries of "question."] "Hill talk as long as I please," yelled Mr. Wilke.

President Cowin—Order, gentlemen.

A Postal brigade voice—"Keep perfectly cool, Chauncey!"

When the racket had somewhat subsided, Mr. Wilke resumed, and pitched into Mr. Gannett, whom he never saw at any political meetings.

Hascall was always there, while Mr. Gannett and other men, who were wealthy, were sleeping in their downy couches. There was no question as to the loyalty of Isaac S. Hascall. This movement instead of being for Hayes and Wheeler was to strike a partisan blow. My God! [This was said for dramatic effect.] His partisanship that is running us. He was for compromise. We had an executive committee that was an honor to the club. He defied any one to point out a man who had done more for the party than Hascall. What is Gannett? He is a kid-gloved gentleman, draws a large salary, and does no work. [Will Browne here interrupted him in defense of Mr. Gannett.]

President Cowin—Mr. Gannett needs no defense.

Mr. Wilke resumed. He was one of the few who had placed the Republican party in power. He had worked for years with Hascall, and had never considered himself disgraced.

"Question" being called for, the secretary, Mr. Manchester, called the roll, Maj. Doane and C. K. Constant acting as tellers.

Vandervoort I move that the Glee Club sing a song before we part to meet no more.

The roll proceeded, and the eyes were plied up fast. Gwyer was the first man to vote "no," and he did it emphatically.

Gen. Saunders, explained his vote of aye, by saying that he did it because he was treating friend and foe alike.

Frank Walters voted no. It was unnecessary for him to rise and explain, and he accordingly didn't do it.

W. V. Christy explained his vote of no. He was a partisan man, but didn't propose to bring partisanship into this club.

Snycpe put himself down on the record with the postal outfit and voted no, and explained his vote.

M. R. Kison voted no, and explained.

The result was 95 yeas and 37 noes, the announcement being received amid thundering applause. Thus was Hascall bounced off the executive committee.

It was found on examination that Gen. Strickland had never signed the roll and had been an outsider all the while he was kicking up a disturbance.

Yost moved that a committee of five be appointed to recommend an executive committee.

Marsh—There's another resolution to proceed with the election.

On motion of Mr. Hall, the following gentlemen were put in nomination for the executive committee: August Doll, J. B. Detwiler, W. W. Marsh, and Charles Wilkins.

Gwyer nominated Paul Vandervoort, J. S. Hascall, Gen. Strickland, and E. Rosewater, causing some laughter.

Vandervoort and Hascall here threw some mud, and some sang out "Harmony! Harmony!"

Strickland—We have made three attempts at harmony and failed. We'll retire and form another club. We'll have no such pignies as United States Senators, nor Hiccokcks nor Rosewaters, nor editors there. Then we shall all have glory.

A unanimous vote of thanks was given to President Cowin for his correct rulings and able manner of presiding over the club.

Mr. Cowin thanked the audience, and introduced the Glee Club a second time, saying to Gen. Strickland, "General, wait a minute, and hear a good song."

Strickland—I hate to have a man stick me in the back with a stiletto, and then sing a sweet song in my ear.

Benjamin—Would it not be in order to accept the resignation of Mr. Gannett?

No attention was paid to him. The Glee club then sang "Hayes and Wheeler are our choice," a stirring campaign song. Mr. Northrop took the solo part.

Benjamin—We are in a state of revolution. We have established a precedent of disorganization. Men can be voted in and out now at any time. I want the secretary to strike my name off the roll.

"Good evening!" chimed in a voice.

The club then adjourned.

Hascall and his bosom friend Strickland and the postal brigade, about 40 in all, adjourned to Bancke's saloon, and held a meeting to form a club in which no pignies U. S. Senators, editors, nor Hiccokcks or Rosewaters, were to be admitted. C. K. Constant was elected chairman, and John N. Wood, who took his name off the other roll, was elected temporary secretary.

Smythe, Strickland, Constant and C. B. Bell made speeches.

The name "Omaha Hayes and Wheeler Veterans" was adopted. A committee of ten on permanent organization, to report Saturday evening, was appointed.

Neither Hascall nor Strickland were appointed, probably because the club was afraid that they might be bounced off as Hascall had been in the other club.

Dr. Conkling was there, and he says that Hascall was outraged at the first meeting, and treated badly at the second. The Doctor thinks seriously of voting for Tilden and Hendricks, because Hascall has been so shamefully treated.

LADIES, MISSES' and GENTS' BOOTS and SHOES.

A large lot must be sold at less than 30 cents on the dollar.

J. H. BRACKIN.

Upright Block.

THE SUMMER EXODUS.

OFF TO THE CENTENNIAL.

At this time when so many of our patrons are preparing for or contemplating their usual trip during the summer season, it is well to present to our readers the prominent advantages offered by the railroad running direct to the Centennial grounds.

To this end, we would speak of the economy, convenience and desirability of taking the Great Fort Wayne & Pennsylvania Line, which is running three (3) daily Centennial trains from Chicago to the very gate at the main entrance. These trains are made up of the elegant Pullman parlor, sleeping and hotel coaches, and combine the comfort and safety of its patrons, and to afford a comfortable and suitable resting place at the moderate expense of two dollars per day.

The Centennial depot, are to be found in the immediate vicinity, within five minutes walk of the Centennial depot, are to be found in the immediate vicinity, within five minutes walk of the Centennial depot.

Mr. Wilke resumed. He was one of the few who had placed the Republican party in power. He had worked for years with Hascall, and had never considered himself disgraced.

"Question" being called for, the secretary, Mr. Manchester, called the roll, Maj. Doane and C. K. Constant acting as tellers.

Vandervoort I move that the Glee Club sing a song before we part to meet no more.

The roll proceeded, and the eyes were plied up fast. Gwyer was the first man to vote "no," and he did it emphatically.

Gen. Saunders, explained his vote of aye, by saying that he did it because he was treating friend and foe alike.

Frank Walters voted no. It was unnecessary for him to rise and explain, and he accordingly didn't do it.

W. V. Christy explained his vote of no. He was a partisan man, but didn't propose to bring partisanship into this club.

Snycpe put himself down on the record with the postal outfit and voted no, and explained his vote.

M. R. Kison voted no, and explained.

The result was 95 yeas and 37 noes, the announcement being received amid thundering applause. Thus was Hascall bounced off the executive committee.

It was found on examination that Gen. Strickland had never signed the roll and had been an outsider all the while he was kicking up a disturbance.

Yost moved that a committee of five be appointed to recommend an executive committee.

Marsh—There's another resolution to proceed with the election.

On motion of Mr. Hall, the following gentlemen were put in nomination for the executive committee: August Doll, J. B. Detwiler, W. W. Marsh, and Charles Wilkins.

Gwyer nominated Paul Vandervoort, J. S. Hascall, Gen. Strickland, and E. Rosewater, causing some laughter.

Vandervoort and Hascall here threw some mud, and some sang out "Harmony! Harmony!"

Strickland—We have made three attempts at harmony and failed. We'll retire and form another club. We'll have no such pignies as United States Senators, nor Hiccokcks nor Rosewaters, nor editors there. Then we shall all have glory.

A unanimous vote of thanks was given to President Cowin for his correct rulings and able manner of presiding over the club.

Mr. Cowin thanked the audience, and introduced the Glee Club a second time, saying to Gen. Strickland, "General, wait a minute, and hear a good song."

Strickland—I hate to have a man stick me in the back with a stiletto, and then sing a sweet song in my ear.

Benjamin—Would it not be in order to accept the resignation of Mr. Gannett?

No attention was paid to him. The Glee club then sang "Hayes and Wheeler are our choice," a stirring campaign song. Mr. Northrop took the solo part.

Benjamin—We are in a state of revolution. We have established a precedent of disorganization. Men can be voted in and out now at any time. I want the secretary to strike my name off the roll.

"Good evening!" chimed in a voice.

The club then adjourned.

Hascall and his bosom friend Strickland and the postal brigade, about 40 in all, adjourned to Bancke's saloon, and held a meeting to form a club in which no pignies U. S. Senators, editors, nor Hiccokcks or Rosewaters, were to be admitted. C. K. Constant was elected chairman, and John N. Wood, who took his name off the other roll, was elected temporary secretary.

Smythe, Strickland, Constant and C. B. Bell made speeches.

The name "Omaha Hayes and Wheeler Veterans" was adopted. A committee of ten on permanent organization, to report Saturday evening, was appointed.

Neither Hascall nor Strickland were appointed, probably because the club was afraid that they might be bounced off as Hascall had been in the other club.

Dr. Conkling was there, and he says that Hascall was outraged at the first meeting, and treated badly at the second. The Doctor thinks seriously of voting for Tilden and Hendricks, because Hascall has been so shamefully treated.

LADIES, MISSES' and GENTS' BOOTS and SHOES.

A large lot must be sold at less than 30 cents on the dollar.

J. H. BRACKIN.

Upright Block.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

NOTICE—Advertisements of To Let, For Sale, Lost, Found, Bidding, etc., will be inserted in these columns once for FIVE CENTS per line; each subsequent insertion, FIVE CENTS per line. If inserted never less than TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN. DR. EDWARDS, 151 Farnham St., Neb.

MONEY TO LOAN—Call at law office of M. D. L. THOMAS, Vischer's Block.

WANTED—A girl, at northeast corner Eighteenth and Webster-sts., 28 1/2c.

WANTED—A situation to do general housework in a small family. Address BLUEZ KLUNDEB, Carleton house, 28 1/2c.

WANTED—An energetic man, with small amount of capital, to invest in a paying enterprise, namely, the introduction of an article for which there is a great demand; party who means business and wants to see results, can find a good opportunity by calling on J. F. FOGGERTY, Atlantic house, 28 1/2c.

WANTED—Some good, reliable man (musical preferred) to act as agent for the Great Smith American Organ, for Omaha and Douglas counties, on a commission basis; party who will make competition pleasant. Apply to PRESIDENT H. HILL, Columbia, 28 1/2c.

WANTED—Light active employment in warehouse or otherwise by a fair person, who can do any kind of work, and given that will make competition pleasant. Apply to PRESIDENT H. HILL, Columbia, 28 1/2c.

WANTED—Every one who "boards out" to know that F. D. Smith for five years has been in the city of Omaha, and is now prepared to supply a magnificent table for $1.00 per week, or $10.00 per month, and to furnish a good opportunity by calling on J. F. FOGGERTY, Atlantic house, 28 1/2c.

WANTED—Situation as seamstress in private family; cutting and fitting preferred. Inquire of Capt. Payne, U. S. Army, 28 1/2c.

WANTED—Laborers to work on the extension of the Omaha & Northwestern railroad between Herman and Tekamah. Apply at room 207, Omaha, Neb., or at 231 1/2c.

WANTED—Everybody to buy my dry goods, $5 to $8; hard work, $7 to $8; sixties, $9 per yard. Yard, south of our Sixties, at E. F. Macarty, Vischer's block, Omaha, 28 1/2c.

WANTED—A girl to do housework. Dr. Edwards, 151 Farnham St., 19 1/2c.

FOR SALE.

WISNER HOTEL, WITH FURNITURE for sale or rent; the best hotel in the northwest; best chance for a hotel man. 28 1/2c.

FOR SALE—Good street hack. DR. I. EDWARDS,