the Columbian Carpet-shaking machine explained to her the way in which it worked. The machine consisted of a large wire-gauze cylinder, in which a carpet could be placed, and which was revolved at a high rate of speed by clock-work. Within the cylinder was a collection of flails and brushes, lution, thoroughly beat and swept the gloss to the surface of any carpet, rug or blanket, that might be submitted to its action." When he had tested its effect upon the parlor carpet, Mrs. Peters was so charmed that she bought the machine on the spot, and as soon as the agent had gone she took up the STOMACH lution, thoroughly beat and swept the carpet. The agent asserted that his machine would "thoroughly remove all dust and extraneous substances from the textraneous substances from the textran from the texture of the carpet, would destroy moths and other deleterious insects, and would impart a beautiful its effects that not only is the body invigorated. And regulated by its use, but despondency ban-ished from all the mind.

NERVOUS DEBILITY thinking that there must be something wrong, took out the carpet and crept into the cylinder in order to see if any of the flails or brushes were out of order. Suddenly, and without the least warning, the diabolical machine began to work. The cylinder revolved with tremendous rapidity, and the flails and brushes did their whole duty.
