

WASHINGTON.

The House Gives Little Relief to Small Tobacco Dealers. The Senate Passes Saunders' Boundary Extension Bill. The Senate Considers the Proposed New Plan of Counting the Electoral Vote.

FOREIGN EVENTS.

HEALING OF THE WOUND. The senate in executive session confirmed the following nomination: N. G. Ordway, of New Hampshire, to be governor of Dakota; John W. Peck, supervisor of census for the sixth district of Illinois; James L. Deffen, of Illinois, to the United States attorney for the territory of Montana.

CONFIRMATIONS.

The senate in executive session confirmed the following nomination: N. G. Ordway, of New Hampshire, to be governor of Dakota; John W. Peck, supervisor of census for the sixth district of Illinois; James L. Deffen, of Illinois, to the United States attorney for the territory of Montana.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Special Dispatch to The Bee. WASHINGTON, May 22-4 p. m.—The house passed a bill providing that dealers in leaf tobacco who do not sell or consign for sale leaf tobacco to an amount exceeding 25,000 pounds in a fiscal year, shall pay a $5.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Special Dispatch to The Bee. WASHINGTON, May 22-4 p. m.—The joint rule for counting votes of electors for president and vice-president was taken up. The rule provides for meetings of the two houses and opening of the electoral packages by the vice-president. If objection is made to any such list the two houses shall return to their respective chambers and consider such objections.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Special Dispatch to The Bee. WASHINGTON, May 22-4 p. m.—The day in the house was completely wasted. After two hours had been spent in debating motions the house finally got into committee of the whole.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Special Dispatch to The Bee. WASHINGTON, May 22-4 p. m.—For some little time past the managers of the great coal companies have been conferring over a new plan for lessening the production and maintaining prices. One that has met the most favor is an agreement to suspend absolutely mining operations from June 21 to July 7, and follow the opening on July 8th with an advance of thirty cents per ton. This is approved by all the companies with one exception, and the effects of the agreement are now directed towards influencing the outstanding presidents to join in the agreement.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Special Dispatch to The Bee. WASHINGTON, May 22-4 p. m.—The coal companies are inclined to the belief that the formal suspension of payment by the Reading company will be beneficial to the trade the actions of the company have, for a year or more, being like a pall over trade. There is some hope for further delivery at less than schedule rates and discounted his customers notes to obtain ready money. The coal companies, to retaliate and prevent the Reading from profiting by this method, have cut rates and in many instances have cut rates and in many instances have cut rates and in many instances have cut rates.

DOMESTIC DOINGS.

Special Dispatch to The Bee. CHICAGO, May 22-4 p. m.—The Journal's Washington special says: One of the most prominent New England senators told your correspondent to-day that he believed the action of the Illinois convention only demonstrated the necessity for some candidate other than Grant or Blaine. Another senator, Mr. Blair, of New Hampshire, who favored Senator Blaine, said he believed the effect of the Springfield convention would be to weaken Grant's candidacy and make his defeat at Chicago more certain.

A TOTAL WRECK.

The New Catholic Convent Blown Down. Last evening, during the terrific wind storm, which blew great clouds of dust and rubbish down the streets, the total exclusion from sight of objects half a block away, the new Catholic convent suffered a severe shaking up. Situated, as it is, on one of the highest points in Shin's addition, in the northwestern part of the city, it proved an easy prey to the angry elements. About half-past six the wind made a sudden change from north to south. It was just at the time of this change that the north wall of the convent fell in, filling the basement excavation completely, and making a total wreck of all the work in the structure, which was hardly half completed. It is a three-story building, and the roof had not been put on. The windows were mostly open, and consequently there was nothing but the shell to resist the storm. We are informed, however, that the contractor, the Ittners, made provision against a possible storm, by propping the gable end, which had been finished and by closing some of the windows. The walls are 18 inches thick, and very strong. The joists which had been put in on the first and second floors broken and splintered into smithereens. The south wall is pretty badly torn at the joint sockets, and it is probable that every wall in the structure is twisted out of plumb to an extent that will necessitate the reconstruction of the whole building. A reporter was unable to find any of the contractors, and no one among the great crowd of spectators could estimate the loss in figures.
