MAYOR CHASE DID NOT MAKE A REQUESTION for troops, either by telegraph or otherwise, and all statements to the contrary are false.

FINDING themselves beaten in the primaries and conventions, the Louisianians Grant boomers propose to come to the national convention with a double-barrel.

MARK FEE has been convicted in the criminal court of Cook county, Illinois, of attempting to convict an innocent man of larceny, and the jury fixed his punishment at nine years in the penitentiary.

ACCORDING to The Chicago Tribune the majority of the national republican committee is enthusiastically in favor of Blaine.

The Blaine men, even, have all along contended that, if Gen. Grant carried Illinois, he would be nominated. He has carried it, high and dry, and so we suppose they will now give up the point.

When estimates that Tax B. is responsible for the recent labor troubles in this city, and charges that the editor went to Bohemian town at the beginning of the strike...

We have no disposition to blame Governor Nance for calling out militia to protect the Omaha Smelting Works or to suppress an apprehended riot.

SENATOR SAUNDERS' bill to annex a portion of Dakota to Nebraska, by the extension of the northern boundary of this state, passed the senate Saturday and will doubtless pass the house in due time.

CONVENTION COMMENTS. Grand Island Independent: "Nebraska rebuked the prestige and spoils doctrine by a decisive vote of two-to-one, and declared for her real ruler."

Mr. Cook will present his plans and estimates for water works to the mayor and city council Tuesday night.

COOKED HIS GOOSE. Lincoln Globe: Some of the Blaine delegates think that inasmuch as Senator Paddock "staked his pile" on Grant...

THE COMPLEXION. Sioux City Journal: The Omaha Republican finds there is considerable dispute over the complexion of the Nebraska delegation to the Chicago convention.

Plattsmouth Enterprise: Senator Paddock, as dictator of Nebraska politics, is not for themselves.

PADDOCK IN A NEW BOLT.

Senator Paddock has planned himself a good deal on being prominently representative of the plow-hunter and sheep-raiser.

Long before anybody in Omaha dreamed of troops, Senator Paddock directed Governor Nance by telegraph to request President Hayes to order troops from Fort Omaha to this city to suppress the strike.

Governor Nance happened to be absent in the interior of the state, when General Paddock's order reached the state capital, and the governor's private secretary, Mr. Morrii, who, by the way is a man of excellent common sense, very properly declined to comply with the order until he could ascertain whether there was any serious danger to life or property at Omaha.

The Tribune's Washington special says Senator Paddock at half-past ten this evening, received from the secretary of state of Nebraska, now acting as governor of the state, a requisition on the president for troops to assist the local authorities in Omaha in preserving the peace and protecting life and property from rioters.

This explains why the regulars were transferred from Fort Omaha to the corral, but the president was evidently not aware that the senator from Nebraska was imposing on him a requisition for troops which he called a requisition from the acting governor of Nebraska.

The president very naturally took it for granted that any man who represents Nebraska in the United States senate would know who is the defacto governor of his state, but he was mistaken.

Mr. Paddock does not know enough to know that the constitution of Nebraska enacted in 1875 gives no authority to the secretary of state to play acting governor. We have a lieutenant-governor to fill the place of the governor in case of his absence from the state, and therefore the secretary of state has no right to assume the authority vested in the executive.

But the brilliant Paddock knew that Governor Nance was not out of the state. Why, then, did he impose on the president, and why did he make his midnight call at the White House?

Simply to give himself notoriety and have all the papers filled with his august name. To the people of Omaha it will certainly appear remarkable that the heroic marine senator should put himself out so much to get federal troops into the city when he did not need them.

And why did Mr. Paddock order Governor Nance to send a requisition for troops to the president? Is the governor a mere tail to his kite, or does he look upon him as he regards the pages on the senate floor who come and go as he claps his hands? This thing of ordering out troops is a very serious matter. It ought never to be done, except at the last extremity, and only then by the authorities that are charged with the preservation of order by the laws.

If the senator has merely acted in this way because he wanted to gratify his vanity, or because he desired to show the president that our state officers were his obedient lackeys, he has justly rendered himself liable to public censure. There is not the remotest excuse for his conduct.

SENATOR SAUNDERS' bill to annex a portion of Dakota to Nebraska, by the extension of the northern boundary of this state, passed the senate Saturday and will doubtless pass the house in due time.

The acquisition includes some very valuable lands.
