Pointers Looking That Way Noticing an article in The Globe-Democrat, that general manager Carsop, of the Hannibal & St. Joe road, was looking up a through route to Chicago, a reporter of THE BEE catted upon a well informed railroad official of our city, in search of information on the subject. Upon being asked by the reporter if his attention had to, he replied: "Yes; and it made me think of conversation I had with Mr. Carson some time ago. I asked him why he didn't try to get a connection with the great continental route. He said the old reliable was too much in debt and the management was too badly mixed, to hope for anything of the kind just then, but he hoped to see the day scon when the read would have a line to Omaha."

" Have you heard anything lately, which would lead you to infer that the management are thinking of an Omaha connection ?"

"It seems to me that the time has come for such an opening, and this action of Mr. Carson looks that way. You see the Hannibal & St. Joe was the first road pushed to the Missouri river, and had it not been for unfortunate management, it would have made more money than any of the other roads twice its length. "Lady Lightfoot's" Fizzle. The long and much-talked-of Lady Lighticot" against time, ten niles in thirty minutes, was pro ounced by all who witnessed the at empt to be a grand fizzle. As early as 2 o'clock vesterday afternoon con reyances of all descriptions were on the road to the race course. A high wind was blowing at the time and clouds of dust were flying in all directions. At the course it was ascertained that the race would not come off until late in the afternoon. Many who had driven out, returned on account of th isagreeableness of the weather. It was four o'clock before "Lady Lightfoot" was brought on the track and after the usual preliminaries scored at 4:16. The first balf mile was an easy trot, time 2:05. The sec and half mile was a repetition of the first, with the exception of 14 seconds poorer time. As she passed under the wire the mare got down to a good run, but was held in on the last quarter of the half mile. Time, 1:264. The time on the fourth half mile. 1:21, was the best made during the nore appreciative than crowded.
