WASHINGTON.

The House Ready to Adjourn Having All Important Bills Passed.

Members Sugar Their Constituents by Wrestling With a Sugar Bill.

But This Only a Thin Disguise to Cover Cowardice to Tackle Bills

Garfield at the Capital—He Drops Around to See His Future Quarters.

THE SUNDAY CIVIL BILL.

Special Dispatch to The Bee.
Chicago, June 15, 4 p. m.—The Journal's Washington special says: The house agreed to the conference report on the sundry civil bill, which now appropriates about $23,000,000. The senate receded from its amendments to the extent of nearly a million dollars. It is probable that all the appropriation bills will be disposed of to-day.

THE SUGAR BILL.

It is possible that action may be taken on the sugar bill at all, notwithstanding the filibustering efforts in the house against it, as it has been proposed as an amendment in the senate and there will be a direct vote upon the bill.

THE AGRICULTURAL APPROPRIATION passed the house finally, agreed to by conference committee. This leaves only one appropriation bill, the general deficiency, yet hanging fire.

GARFIELD'S RECEPTION.

Extensive preparations have been made here for the reception of Garfield to-night. Clerks in the departments have contributed considerably for the reception, to make it an imposing affair.

GENERAL AND MRS. GRANT arrived here from Milwaukee last night, and drove immediately to their son's house. This morning General Grant visited military headquarters.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL.

The house this afternoon agreed to the conference on the general deficiency bill. This ends the list of general appropriation bills and clears the way for adjournment at any time.

WHY THE HOUSE FILLIBUSTERED.

Special Dispatch to The Bee.

WASHINGTON, June 16, 1 a. m.—It was whispered about among members of the house yesterday that one object of keeping the sugar bill before the house was to prevent the transaction of miscellaneous business.

Large numbers of signatures of names of the bill on the calendar and on the speaker's table were very well contented to have that measure stand in the way and keep everything out.

WORK FOR SPAIN.

At the cabinet meeting yesterday Secretary Evans presented a statement of Capt. Baker, of the schooner "Ethel C. Merritt," recently fired into off the Cuban coast by Spanish cruisers. The captain states that he was six miles off the Cuban coast when first fired upon. The story will be soon as he gets in proper shape all the facts in the case, open correspondence with the Spanish government on the subject.

A LOOK AT FUTURE QUARTERS.

Then called at the executive mansion, and had an extended conference.

Garfield will remain in the city until Friday next, settling up his private business and gathering together his papers. He will then return direct to his home in Ohio, where his family is.

LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

His letter of acceptance will be written some time next week.

RAM FOR THE CHIEF.

Last evening he was succeeded by the District republicans, national veterans, and the society of the army of the Cumberland.

CONGRESS TO-DAY.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, June 15—4 p. m.— The report of the conference committee on sundry civil bill was adopted. It appropriates $22,523,000. The clause directing the secretary of the treasury to pay the money appropriated in the bill in silver coin, was stricken out, and a clause added appropriating $10,000 for the expenses of the Indian commission.

While the house was discussing the sugar bill Conger said it was devised to protect foreign labor and destroy American labor.

Frye excitedly characterized that statement as one which did not contain a word of truth.

Conger said such a remark scandalous and untruthful of its author.

Pending further consideration of the sugar bill, the conference report on the bill to settle property at Hot Springs, Arkansas, was agreed to.

The above business having been disposed of, the com cast over the sugar bill was carried and with that same result as before.

A bill appropriating $100,000 to carry into effect the claims of the convention entered into between the United States and the French republic, signed on the 15th of January, 1880, was passed.

There was now a struggle on the floor, when the regular order was demanded.

Mr. Cox moved to take a recess, but the house was discussing the sugar bill Conger said it was devised to protect foreign labor and destroy American labor.

While the house was discussing the sugar bill Conger said it was devised to protect foreign labor and destroy American labor.

There was great excitement on the floor, but no one was injured. The Anchors' passengers were all safely transferred to the Queen. The Farmer's crew was very much demoralized.

The President Says the Deputy Marshal Bill is Poor Legislation,

And Sends It Back to the Senate With a Solid Veto.

Special Dispatch to The Bee.

WASHINGTON, June 15, 9 p. m.—The president at a late hour this afternoon sent to the senate a special message vetoing the deputy marshal bill. The message is very elaborate.

The president says: "After mature consideration of the bill entitled 'an act to amend the pay and appointment of deputy marshals,' I am constrained to withhold it from my approval and to return it to the senate in which it originated, with my objections to its passage."

The president then quotes in full the sections of the laws already on the statute books relating to the appointment and duties of deputy marshals, also the decisions of the supreme court in cases of Sieben v. Marshall, decided at the October term of 1878, on the question as to the constitutionality of the election laws, known as the "enforcement act," and says: "I have deemed it fitting and proper to quote thus largely from an elaborate opinion of the supreme court because the bill before me proceeds upon a construction of the constitution, as to the power of the national government, which is in direct conflict with the judgment of the highest judicial tribunal of our country." The bill before him changes completely the present law by substituting for special deputy marshals of the existing statutes new officers heretofore unknown to law, and who lack the power, responsibility and protection which are essential to the office to efficiently discharge their duties. In all respects this bill makes a radical change between United States officers at national elections and the powers uniformly possessed and executed by state officers at state elections. This discrimination against the authority of the United States is a departure from the original government established by the precedents beginning with the earliest statutes on the subject, and violates the true principles of the constitution. In conclusion, it is proper to state that my objection would be made to the appointment of officers, to act with reference to elections, by courts of justice, in which it originated, for their further consideration, which is contemplated by the constitution.

Seymour and the Presidency.

Special Dispatch to The Bee.

CHICAGO, June 14, 4 p. m.—Major Harrison, of Chicago, and Mr. Monroe, editor of a democratic newspaper in Kansas City, had an interview with Ex-Governor Seymour at Utica yesterday regarding the Cincinnati nomination. They report that they found the old gentleman in good health and spirit and apparently well able to withstand the labors of a canvass or duties of the presidency, but beyond this they would say nothing, except that while the governor is not a candidate, nobody has been authorized to decline the nomination in his name. They will report to the delegates when they assemble at Cincinnati.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Special Dispatch to The Bee.

LONDON, June 15—4 p. m.—England has approved the proposals respecting the Russo-Greek frontier line, which Lord Beaconsfield formerly rejected. Mr. Goschen and M. Tissot are working together very cordially.

ENGLISH CATTLE TRADE.

Special Dispatch to The Bee.

LONDON, June 15, 4 p. m.—The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent says: An effort is making to bring before the house of commons questioning whether the regulations regarding the importation of foreign cattle are necessary and justified by the state of the trade. The trustworthiness of the examination will be impugned, and a recent bill will be cited where pleuro-pneumonia was declared to exist among cattle at Epping Forest, where nine were destroyed, and in which the chief government clerk, after examining the carcasses, declared he could find trace of the disease.
