The European issue over Turkey does not necessarily begin with Thanksgiving.

Owing to a continuous pressure on its advertising and local columns during fair week, the telegraph and editorials have been somewhat cut down.

The democratic convention was held yesterday at the court house. It is understood that Charley Redick didn't secure his delegation for the district attorneyship.

SENATOR CONKLING will speak on Tuesday next in Warren, Ohio, and General Grant will provide at the same meeting.

Conkling will speak at Cleveland, and at Cincinnati on the 1st of October.

New York business men are circulating a suggestive campaign document in the hands of western merchants when buying goods. It is four blank pages of print paper labeled on the cover, "Hancock's Civil Record."

JESSE GRANT was married last evening to a daughter of W. S. Chapman, one of the wealthiest of California millionaires. "Back" Grant attended his brother's wedding, and is said to have admitted the breaking of his engagement with Miss Flood. There's many a slip between the flood and the ship.

The renominations of Miles Ross by the democracy of the Third district of New Jersey is a shame and a disgrace. Ross is known as one of the most corrupt politicians of New Brunswick.

It is not surprising to learn that on the announcement of the result to the convention delegates from two counties left the hall.

The greenback convention in Maine yesterday decided, after considerable opposition, to fuse with the democrats in an electoral ticket for the November election. The democrats are given three of the seven electors. Simon Chase and a large following decline to abide by the decision of the convention and will put in nomination a straight greenback set of electors. In other event the republican party will have to exert their best endeavors.

The immense proportions attained by English workmen's societies in attracting much attention among mechanics and laborers in this country.

"The reason why England is so flourishing in England is said to be because in addition to their trade union features they take the place of the mutual aid and benefit associations so common in this country. Four of the English organizations—the engineers, iron founders, boiler makers and steam engine makers—have nearly 40,000 members, with annual income aggregating over $1,000,000. In 1870 they expended nearly twice that amount for the benefit of sick and idle members. It is said that these administrations of the affairs of these societies is remarkable for economy and honesty, and their benefits to members and their families can scarcely be overestimated.

Many complaints are coming from republicans of the manner in which the New York campaign is being managed. All the cheap morning papers are either honestly democratic or are wearing the independent livery to serve the democracy in. Of Hartford's Weekly, the Pennsylvania Monitor, remarks:

One republican paper, Harper's Weekly, we believe to be doing more harm than good. The contents of its political illustrations is especially unhappy at the present time, they being aimed, as usual, at the Catholic voters, who are the most numerous of the non-republican element.

It is a happy day for the republicans if they can make a good majority of the Catholic voters. It is a sad day for the republicans if they cannot. It is a sad day for the republicans if they cannot make a good majority of the Catholic voters. It is a sad day for the republicans if they cannot make a good majority of the Catholic voters.

THE "KINS JOKER."

The Bee has received through the courtesy of one of its subscribers a number of the famous tissue ballots or "kiss jokers" used in the famous campaign of 1876 when Wade Hampton led the red shirts, South Carolina to a glorious victory. The ballots in our possession are printed on thick tissue paper and are about three by one and a half inches dimensions. They were gotten up in Orangeburg county and are headed by the names of Wade Hampton for governor and W. D. Simpson for lieutenant governor, besides containing the full democratic state and county nominations. By their means in 1876 the county which in 1876 cast nearly twice as many republican votes as it did democratic was counted in for Hampton and the whole democratic ticket was elected by an overwhelming majority.

A comparison of the two years' vote shows the powerful effect of the "kiss jokers" when properly used. In 1876 the tissue ballot had not come into general use. The red shirt brigade placed more reliance on intimidation and negro killing as a means of suppressing the republican vote than on fraud at the polling places. The result was that in 1876, the republicans carried the state for Hayes and Wheeler by a majority of nearly one thousand votes. In some counties, notably in Edgefield and Greenfield, the tissue ballot was used, and its effects were so starting to the republicans and so satisfactory to the democrats that in the succeeding elections means were taken to put this silent perpetrator of the people's will into operation throughout the state. Half a million of the tissue ballots were distributed in the various counties to the chairman of the democratic committees. Ten or fifteen were folded together and voted as one. When the votes in the ballot boxes were found to exceed the number on the poll list, republican ballots, which could be easily detected from the democratic tissue votes, were drawn from the boxes, leaving only the "Kiss jokers." The result was that of a vote of 119,363, the democrats polled 110,550 votes through the aid of the tissue ballot. This, in the words of a celebrated confidant, "beat the intimidation business by a good deal."

The bloody shirt was laid away quietly to rest and republicans permitted to vote just as much as they pleased. Voting, and having their votes counted they found, very different matter. The tissue ballot was King and the southern leaders had found the most effective mode of making a solid south.

Once and awhile a British journal hits the truth in speaking of America and Americans. A recent number of Lloyd's Weekly contains a biography of Gen. Garfield, closing as follows: "Such a man is likely to do well in any position in life. He is, indeed, fit for any service, and the republicans have been well inspired, we venture to think, in the choice they have made. We figure to ourselves in James Abram Garfield a second President Lincoln, and the United States of America have no higher nor nobler name, even on the brilliant roll of their presidents, than Honest Abe, the rail splitter, who piloted them through the hours of their greatest trial."

WASH FROM WEST POINT.

West Point, Neb., September 23. West Point and Cuming county are looking up this fall. The prospects for fall trade are encouraging, the business men of West Point and Waver understand the situation, and have laid in a full supply of goods for the fall trade. Home goods are bringing $4.00 per hundred pounds, and the farmers who have fat hogs to sell are smiling and happy. West Point is getting to be one of the best hog markets in the Elkhorn Valley; every day witness wagon after wagon coming into town loaded with hogs. The summer has been a good one for the farmers in this section of country. Wheat is an average crop and corn is well out of the way of early frosts and promises to be a big crop, while most of the farmers have steers and hogs to sell—this, with fair prices; must make good times here this fall. The new town in the northeast corner of the county is having a boom, several new houses are going up and the prospects are very bright. The town is named West Point. The town is called West Point. The town is called West Point.

The West Point Creamery will soon enlarge their paper mill so as to manufacture white paper. The brick is all the ground, the repairs on the flume are nearly completed, and the machinery will soon be in motion. Mr. Westpoint, the proprietor of the mill, is making a good thing of it. The mill is situated on the Elkhorn river, and is one of the best paper mills in the county. The mill is situated on the Elkhorn river, and is one of the best paper mills in the county.

FACTS FROM FAIRBURY.

Fairbury, Neb., September 20. Since the first of January six brick and stone business houses have been completed in Fairbury, and there are six more in process of erection, making twelve brick and stone business houses erected during the season. There will also be completed this fall a five brick school house, which, from its fine location, will be an ornament to the town, and we think the finest school building in southern Nebraska. Thus Fairbury is erecting a brick building, the front being of cut stone, which is doubtless the finest front west of the Missouri river, and reflects great credit on the builders, Messrs. Pfeiffer & Son, of St. Joe, whose work can be seen in all the finest buildings in Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska. Mr. Harbison will be the building for a bank.

The new Dudley house presents a fine appearance, and we wish its enterprising proprietor all the custom he can command.

We think Fairbury can justly boast of the finest buildings and more of them erected the present season, of any town on the line of the St. Joseph & Western R. R.

FOR BUSINESS INTERESTS AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Washington Letter to Cincinnati Commercial.

A prominent business man here, identified with the affairs of the Union Pacific route on the Pacific coast, yet it will be in some respects the more desirable. The Union Pacific has suffered greatly during the winter from heavy fall of snow, and from this cause is often blockaded for days and weeks. The new route will experience no such obstacles, as very little snow falls anywhere along the line during the winter months. The completion of this new Pacific route will not doubt have a effect of greatly reducing the rates of freight and passenger traffic, and the result will be to the people living in this part of the country doing business with Pacific coast points.
