Everts' Speech.

NEW YORK, September 30, 1 a. m.—At the great republican rally at Cooper Institute last night, fully five thousand people were present. The great attraction was the speech of Secretary Everts. The meeting was presided over by Hugh McCulloch, ex secretary of the treasury, who introduced the speaker of the evening in a few brief remarks. Mr. Everts commenced by saying that the great question now is which of the two parties ought to conduct the affairs of the nation for the next four years. He said that twenty years ago the people trusted the government to the republican party, born of patriotism and devoted to liberty. (Applauded.) If next November the people trust the government to the republican party, it will show that the people are tired of patriotism and weary of liberty. But the people will answer again, as they have answered before, "Never, no never!" During the war, every coward and politician in the north was found in the army of non-fighting traitors. But the republican party, which took the last dollar and last man, and the people, when the war was over, said that the party that carried us through the war should still carry us through the reconstruction. The republican party will keep the government as long as the democratic party presents the same front. He said that the party expects to gain power, no longer as a party of war, but by appealing to the American people. "But the people," he said, "are tired of the democratic party. The republican party is better than the party that has carried us through the war. The republican party has made liberty universal. Referring to Tilden, Mr. Everts declared that, in his case, history had repeated itself, for the record and the fact are alike. Tilden was like a man who had dealt with the solid south, which he had condemned unsparingly as an enemy to the peace and prosperity of the nation. He said that the republican party, in terms of warmest praise, saying that he had larger and more varied experience, a more comprehensive mind and better and tenderer heart and better acquainted with the people. He said that every candidate that has been presented to the people since the nomination of Gen. Grant. He spoke of Tilden as a man who had been throughout his career a man who generally had known President Hayes better four years ago, he would have had a larger vote. People felt that Tilden was a man who had known Hayes four years ago, and four years hence they would think about Garfield as they now think about Hayes. In speaking of Hancock, Everts said that he was a man who had been faithful general, and no republican asked to obscure or build his name in that regard, but he cannot come to the standard of a party like the republican party, which can boast of such men as Lincoln and Hayes. Everts is a man of the freedom of the south, and asked if all else was against the freedmen, he would be glad to be against them. He said that there was a wide gap between the principles of Lincoln and his party and the party which Gen. Hancock represents. Gen. Arthur had never had an office but what came to him as the will of the people. In the remaining part of his speech, Mr. Everts spoke of the great question before the people, and he very warmly commended the democratic party for its action on these questions.

Nebraska Democrats.

HASTINGS, Neb., September 30, 1 a. m.—All day yesterday the great and grand gathering was held for the time. Hastings was given up to politics. The evening trains brought the last of the county delegates into the city with a crowd of hangers-on. Liberal hall, where the democratic convention was called, was filled with delegates and spectators, many ladies being in attendance. Promptly at 8 o'clock, J. Sterling Morton, chairman of the state central committee, called the meeting to order, and considerable enthusiasm was exhibited. Ireland was chosen chairman, and Nat Small, of the Fremont Herald, acted as secretary.

The following committee on credentials was chosen: Ireland, chairman; Frank Boyd, of Douglas; Abbott, of Saline; White, of Cass; Burch, of Sully; Reynolds, of Butler, and Ferry, of Clay county. Gay county is the only county sending a doubleheader.

J. Sterling Morton made a very satirical speech, in which he invited heads to come on and welcomed them.

FOREIGN EVENTS.

The British Cabinet Forced to Strike Boldly or Retire in the East.

A Variety of Old World Items.

A DEBATE MEETING.

LONDON, September 29, 4 p. m.—Lord Granville, secretary of state for foreign affairs, who has been at Balfour for the purpose, it is understood, of laying before the queen an outline of the policy to be adopted by the government in reference to the eastern situation, and to obtain her opinion of it, is now on his way by express to London to attend the cabinet meeting to-morrow. This meeting will be one of importance, as the ministers are compelled to decide upon what course to take in the difficult and complicated problem in the east. The affair has progressed so far that something decisive must be done, and by virtue of at least a quasi leadership of the powers in the naval department, England is placed in a position in which the alternatives seem to be, to advance boldly or retire with a loss of prestige. There is a deep feeling in official and commercial circles as to the result of to-morrow's consultation.

DEATH OF A FAMOUS ENGINEER.

PARIS, September 29, 4 p. m.—Julius Ferdinand Jacquemont, the famous engineer and inventor, died at the age of 63 years of the cholera which he had established a world wide fame.

AFGHAN UPRISE.

LONDON, September 29, 4 p. m.—A dispatch from Simla says another rising of the Afghan tribes is feared early in October.

EASTERN QUESTION.

A Russian dispatch says the admirals of the combined fleets are awaiting further instructions from their respective governments.

WORKMEN'S RELIEF.

BERLIN, September 29, 4 p. m.—Prince Bismarck has drafted a bill establishing a state workmen's association and mutual savings society. Its workings will temporarily be applied to Prussia only. All laborers and employees will be compelled to contribute to the fund.

PLOTTING TO SURRENDER.

LONDON, September 29, 4 p. m.—A dispatch from Gravosa says: A plot has been discovered to surrender Podgorica to the Albanians. The principal conspirator is a merchant in the city named G. G. Logar. He goes next to Ohio and will spend his time in that state and Indiana until the October elections. He was asked whether the republicans were raising the money to go to the aid of the rebels. He replied that he heard that the democrats were raising money to transport voters from Kentucky and Illinois into Indiana, and he would be one of one thousand persons to give $1,000 or $2,000 to prevent it. He would send men along the border to prevent the transport of voters.

WON'T CELEBRATE.

LONDON, September 29, 4 p. m.—A Catholic of that city has refused to participate in the festivities in celebration of the completion of the Cologne cathedral.

THE DEAD LANDLORD.

LONDON, September 29, 4 p. m.—A dispatch from Dublin says that complete reports prevail at Eberhart, the residence of the late Lord Mountmorris. The undertaker in question refused to return with the remains of Lord Mountmorris, other than by the route they came. They also refused to place the corpse in the coffin and this had to be done by a volunteer. Lady Mountmorris is reported to be afraid to leave her house.

AN IMPOSSIBLE FEAT.

LONDON, September 29, 4 p. m.—The North, a Russian paper, published in Brussels, in an article discussing the eastern question, says great obstacles exist to prevent the combined action of the powers against Turkey, and that its perfect knowledge of the fact at Constantinople has emboldened the porte to defy the will of the signatories to the Berlin treaty. The Nord adds that, in view of the coalition and the equal certainty that none of them will act alone, the porte is likely, for the present, not only to hold its territory, but in so doing to open the way for fresh infraction of the treaty.

PASSION PLAY.

PARIS, September 29, 1 a. m.—On September 29 was held the thirty-ninth and last representation of the Passion Play at Ober Ammergau. There were 3,500 persons present.

LONDON'S MAYOR.

LONDON, September 30, 1 a. m.—Mr. William MacArthur, liberal member of the house of commons for Lambeth, was yesterday elected Lord Mayor of London.

WAR OR NOT?

Mr. Gladstone has arrived in London in order to attend the cabinet council to-day. All the chief ministers are now here, and the session is looked forward to with great anxiety; upon its decision, it is believed, will turn the question of war or peace in Europe.

WHY GARIBOLDI RESIGNED.

A dispatch from Rome, in reference to the resignation of Gen. Garibaldi, as member of the chamber of deputies, says the truth doubtless is that Gen. Garibaldi is mortified at the non-interference of his country, and will be tractable during the sitting, and several important subjects will be discussed. The opening services of the session will be held at St. George's church, and the direction of President Bishops, in which the sixty-two bishops, representing as many dioceses, will participate; officiating clergyman will be secretaries of the house of bishops. The business session of the convention will be held in the Church of the Holy Trinity.

A Case of Forgery, Murder and Suicide Startles the People of Nevada.

A Democratic Backlash.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—The Post this morning says a letter has just been received from Senator Jones of Nevada, written to a personal friend in this city, in which he says he is no longer in sympathy with the republican party, and that owing to his convictions, he will support the democratic nominations. Senator Jones is one of the most popular men in Nevada, and it is a well known fact that Nevada has been represented entirely by Senator Jones, as his colleague, Senator Sharon was hardly ever heard, except to draw his salary, and the entire burden of the state's interests and business was thrown upon Mr. Jones. It is also stated that Senator Jones has been elected to the United States senate, whether he is a republican, greenbacker or democrat, and it is also further known that Col. Fair who is also very popular, besides being the mayor of his neighborhood, $5,000, will receive the support of Senator Jones.

Stalwart Meanness.

CLEVELAND, O., September 29, 4 p. m.—The great commotion here among politicians of all parties on the fact that neither Gar, Conkling or Logan mentioned Garfield's name at Warren yesterday and also at the conference of the United States senators at St. Louis, has been the subject of much conversation. It is stated that the stalwarts and Garfield at the meeting to-night, but on the way from St. Louis, the stalwarts met with "Gen. Garfield, they decided to return to Chicago. Both left for there on an early train this morning. There are great preparations for a night at the city hall, and local leaders are urging contributions to pay Garfield a handsome tribute. He has not yet agreed to do it. The Democrats are rejoicing over the friends of Garfield, while the latter friends are openly indignant at the stalwarts.

A Dastardly Revenge.

WARSAW, Ind., September 29, 4 p. m.—About three weeks ago, Annie Chaplin, daughter of a wealthy citizen and a director of the First National bank, presented a check for $300 to the cashier of the bank, having as a signature that of her father. The cashier thought everything square. The father came across the street and pronounced it a forgery. He had his daughter arrested for forgery. She was lodged in jail, her pleading being of no avail. After remaining in jail some days, she implicated in the forgery G. L. Smith, a young man, who had been employed in a sewing machine agency. Smith was arrested and gave bail, but vowed vengeance. Yesterday he saw Miss Chaplin in the jail yard, jumped over the wall and shot her in the head, dying in a few minutes. Miss Chaplin was a bright, attractive girl, and stood well in the community.

A Drunken Row.

CHICAGO, September 29, 4 p. m.—During a drunken carousal in a State street saloon, a young man, the son of Jeffrey J. Morris and Edmund Morrill, two roughs, fired several shots, one to each other. Morris' wounds are pronounced fatal and Morrill's are dangerous.

An Important Omission.

NEW YORK, September 29, 4 p. m.—The Marine National bank of this city, a few days ago, complained of the postoffice that a letter addressed to light ship captain George O. L. Smith, Oil City, Pa., containing a large amount of money had not reached its destination. It contained two drafts, one for $500.00 and one for $500.00, and the market ranged off at $10.00. The drafts were enclosed in a large brown envelope. Diligent search was instituted and the letter found. It had been fully prepaid with postage stamps, but the necessary formality of addressing it to the bank for which it was intended was omitted. The package was returned to the Marine bank by the missing letter department of the New York office.

A New Archbishop.

NEW YORK, September 29, 4 p. m.—It is announced to-day that the Pope has named Bishop Corrigan of Newark, New Jersey, to be successor to Cardinal McCloskey, archbishop of New York, with the title of archbishop.

AN INFURATED ELEPHANT.

NEWARK, N. C., Sept. 29.—A dispatch from Charlotte, N. C., says the Chief of the big elephant attacked John Robinson's circus, became infuriated yesterday and killed John King, his keeper, and trotted off up town alone, creating a furor of excitement. Citizens organized for his capture, but the circus men finally succeeded in taking him in.
