GOING FOR GOULD.

A Powerful Rival to the Power of the Railroad Dictator.

A Gap of 150 Miles Only to Protect the Monopolist.

On the occasion of the recent visit of the magnates of the Washburn railway to this city, The Bee made public some very important news, which was suppressed in the morning papers but was nevertheless telegraphed to Chicago, where it was recognized as authentic and reliable. The Council Bluffs Nonpartisan affected to treat the whole matter with contempt, and to view it in the light of a canard, but the following from the Chicago Tribune will set all doubts at rest:

The recent announcement that the Washburn meant to make its terminus at Omaha and build a depot there, is taken as a sure indication that Gould still runs the Washburn. Gould has always been anxious to force the roads terminating at Council Bluffs to make their terminus at Omaha, and refused to run the Union Pacific to Council Bluffs to connect with those roads there until compelled to do so by the courts. He now thinks that running the Washburn direct to Omaha will compel the other railroads to run to Omaha also. If he could succeed in accomplishing this, he would be worth millions to him, and result in a corresponding loss to the Union Pacific.

There is no doubt that Gould will be able to succeed in accomplishing this, and result in a corresponding loss to the Union Pacific.

BEATEN PATHS.

ARE DIFFICULT TO ABANDON.

For years the current of fashionable shopping in Omaha has centered in the vicinity of Thirteenth and Fourteenth and Farnham streets, spreading very little to the north or south.

But beaten paths must sometimes be departed from, and NEW PATHS would never be opened. Ladies are beginning to discover that there is no special virtue in any particular street or neighborhood, but that excellence and cheapness are as easily obtainable on TENTH and JACKSON STS. as on the more fashionable avenues of trade.

FULL TO OVERFLOWING.

LIVING AND DEAD, which may be cast into them. They breathe out horrible odors and pestilence at every step. More than three hundred of the deaths in July were along the line of these two streams.

A resident says: "All the little children through that south valley have died this summer." Whole families have been slain as plainly as if they had been struck by lightning.
