POLITICAL POINTS.

John I. Davenport Holds the Fort in New York City and is Sustained by the Courts.

An Unpartisan Meeting in Indianapolis Resolves to Favor an Honest and Peaceable Election.

Indiana Democrats and Republicans Charge Each Other with Fraud and Corruption.

Preparations for the Great Struggle That is to Take Place To-day.

The How of Battle.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11, 4 p. m.—The campaign in this state practically ended with the meeting and great demonstration of Saturday, and the voters are now doing quiet service, preparations to the contest to-morrow in the congressional hall. The greatest interest centers in the first second, third, fourth, sixth, ninth, tenth and fifteenth districts. These are the contested districts, the others being either democratic or republican by large majorities. The state has been restricted since the last congressional election, and the present districts in most cases do not correspond in number with those in last congress. Both parties have labored with a desperation and energy unparalleled in Ohio politics, and democratic and republican express great confidence in the success of their respective tickets. The cry of fraud is heard on all sides, but which will be so close and so great that little illegal voting seems possible. There is every indication of a full vote, and it is probable that the vote of this county will reach 50,000 or more. At the last election, the republicans had a majority of 3645 and the vote was over 50,000. A quiet determination on the part of both parties to see every vote counted, and the vote of Ohio will reach 675,000.

The Hoosier Hurrah.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 11—4 p. m.—The hall which mainly precedes election after active campaign work is done, is not perceptible. The excitement, wrangling and earnest political work which characterize the campaign is continued and will be carried to election, and on through till the last ballot is counted. Indiana has not been assigned within the memory of anyone now active in politics. The state has been filled with orators, camp-meets have been held, and the people are full of the north, and money has not been wanting on either side. Disturbances have been frequent in various parts of the state, the most serious being at Shelbyville, where Albert McCone, sheriff of the county and a democrat, was killed by Ed. Kennedy, a republican. Kennedy escaped and has not been captured. One thousand dollars reward is offered for his arrest. A bitter partisan feeling prevails here, and there is intense rivalry between the two parties. The address of the democrats this evening, and the crowd is very great. McCone's body lies in state in the court house, which is draped in mourning. A large number of people are in the city, and a bitter feeling between the parties, and the excitement is greater than during the war. Each party lays the blame of yesterday's riot on the other. It was the occasion of a Republican rally, given for Gen. Ben. Harrison.

One Hundred Men are Seizing the Country for Young Kennedy, who was lynched by the Indiana people if captured. Bitter party feeling is thoroughly aroused and it looks as if more trouble will follow.

The How of Battle.

Chicago, October 11—10 a. m.

Gen. C. H. Howard, who is Adjutant-General of the left wing of the Army of the Potomac, is in the city. He is the brother of O. C. Howard at the battle of Gettysburg. Gen. Hancock denied the statement of Gen. Slocum, that Gen. Hancock stated to a reporter that he went upon Cemetery Ridge with his brother, O. C. Howard, on the morning of July 13th. The latter said, "Here is the military position," and there located the troops. Gen. Hancock did not arrive until 4:30 p. m., and soon retired to his own command, twenty miles distant. Gen. Slocum did not come until sunset. Gen. Howard's statement corroborates Gen. Hancock's assertions about Gettysburg.

Special Dispatch to the Bee.

NEW YORK, October 12—1 a. m.—At the headquarters of both democratic and republican national committees in New York, the results of the Ohio and Indiana to-morrow. Ex-Governor Jewell received last night the following dispatch from state committee of Indiana:

INDIANAPOLIS, October 11.

The work of distributing eastern repeaters to small democratic towns all over the state being energetically pursued by the democratic committee. We had positive information that a corruption fund, to buy votes, of $250,000 was distributed over the state. The democratic committee has arranged at several hundred polling places to have a hundred men at each with revolvers strapped outside their coats to hold up and drive away republicans. About 3000 red shirts were received Sunday night. Every species of crime and outrage will be resorted to on Tuesday. After Jewell read it he said, "Well, I have no fears that our boys will finish. The hotter it becomes the more the republicans will stand." Several of the national republican committee, said, when questioned about the outlook in Ohio and Indiana, "We shall carry Ohio by a good majority, but will probably lose Indiana. We would be successful there with a fair vote, but this dispatch from Indianapolis shows what methods the democrats have adopted for carrying the state.

headquarters of the democratic committee, Mr. Wm. L. Scott, who is in charge, in answer to inquiries put to him, gave the uniform response that the party, in Indiana especially, was never in better fighting trim. He felt as confident of the issue as if he had already received dispatches announcing the result. He displayed the following dispatch from the democratic committee:

INDIANAPOLIS, October 11.

The republican state committee closed their work last night. They have distributed their repeaters by both legal republican and democratic towns. The purpose of this is to reduce the democratic majorities and increase republican majorities where they think districts are close. These repeaters are from Philadelphia, Pittsburg and New York. They are reckless and blatant, and do not hesitate to resort to violence upon every occasion. They and other thugs that have been imported will go heavily armed to the polls, and try to drive away peaceably disposed republicans. They are to-day laid in their threats as to what they will do. Their intention is to frighten democrats so they will not go near the polls. The Indiana democracy does not fight easily, and their threats will be of no avail. Measures will be taken to reduce the republican vote. The republican vote is estimated to be between $400,000 and $500,000 throughout the state to buy voters, but we are certain that even these democratic measures will not succeed with the honest women of Indiana. Be afraid and violence is the republican plan for to-morrow. Detectives sent from the state of Pennsylvania to the republican committee, have done their work and spotted repeating villains. Among those assigned to campaign work in this state to-day were ex-Gov. J. T. Hoffman and Gen. George B. Clellan, governor of New Jersey. This is the first campaign in which Gen. McClellan ever took part as a stump speaker.
