CLUSTER OF CRIMES.

A Bold, Daylight Robbery in South Omaha.

A Stranger who Carries Nuggets of Ore.
A Brilliant Conversationalist and His Game.

A bold robbery was committed this morning at the place kept by Mr. John Lenkstrom, on Pacific and Sixth streets. As we heard the story, Mr. L. had opened out his saloon, and during the morning went across the street to his breakfast, or went into an adjoining room, and when he returned he found that some one had entered the room and stolen a valuable watch, a pair of new pants and a pair of boots, with some other articles of less value. Mr. L. does not care so particularly for anything except the watch and he is very anxious not to lose that. The man who committed the theft is known by sight but not by name. He has a dark complexion, black hair and smooth face. An effort is being made to find him though the police had not, up to noon, been called in to assist.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

A man who came up from Kansas city a few days ago reports having seen a man in jail there whom he calls "Whiskey" Brown, and says he is from Omaha. He also states that his offense consisted in robbing a party of men while drunk of $120, in gold and then getting away with $20, more which was given him in one piece to buy some refreshments for him. The police got their hands on him before he made his escape. His trial was fixed for last week and he is by this time either acquitted or behind the bars for some length of time. He thinks it is the same Brown who figured so conspicuously in the mock marriage last summer between May Leonard and old man Bennett, which caused such a sensation at the time. We give the story only for what it may be worth.

WORTH STEALING.

Among the passengers from the east yesterday was a portly, well-dressed Frenchman, whose home is in San Francisco, to which place he is hurrying, utterly disgusted with the east and everything connected with it. This man went to New York city about two or three months ago and put up at one of the first-class hotels. He was wealthy and carried considerable of the tempting yellow lace about him, preferring to keep it about his person rather than to put it in the hotel safe. One night he awoke just in time to see a man slipping out of his room and it took him but a few minutes to learn that with him had departed forever $10,000 in cash, a gold watch and chain, and other valuables. The matter was placed in the hands of detectives, who spent about $1,000 for him and then gave up the search, and the victim complained to return home.

THE FRENCHMAN'S STORY.

The Frenchman's story sounded pretty big but when he exhibited to several parties with whom he was in conversation, a gold nugget worth $100, a specimen of silver ore worth $50 and a pair of cuff buttons worth $20, he said that he went down without the slightest intention of incredulity. The party who was showing him the nugget and a pair of cuff buttons, which he also carried, was also called on as to his veracity.

A CHECKER CONTEST.

The Lincoln Journal tells of "one of the boldest attempts at robbery" that has occurred in that city in many years, which took place yesterday morning at the agricultural implement depot of Henry Keefer. Mr. K., with one of his clerks, was overhauling some papers and sorting out notes due and past due, preparatory to presenting them for payment, when a stranger entered the office, and after passing the usual salutation, was requested to take a seat. He did so, and at once entered into conversation with the proprietor, gazing largely upon the beauties of Nebraska, our fertile soil and our generous and hospitable people—in fact he was gazing upon Mr. Keefer's very nice game of wind and taffy mixed. During a lull in the conversation, and while Mr. Keefer's back was turned, a large envelope containing notes to the amount of $1,500 was picked up by the smooth talker, and in the next instant the genial stranger had departed with the missing notes. The matter was kept very quiet, and search was made for the thief without avail. In the afternoon one of Mr. Keefer's men discovered the envelope and notes in the back yard of the depot. The thief had no doubt made an examination of the package and finding it to be worthless to him, dropped it.

REORGANIZATION OF THE GARFIELD AND ARTHUR GLEE CLUB.

A meeting of the Garfield and Arthur glee club was held last evening in the office of the clerk, at which some important business was transacted. The popularity of this organization during the recent campaign was unbounded, and the justification meeting on the evening of the 4th inst. was tinged with regret for many at the thought that this was perhaps the last appearance in public of its favorite singers, as the object for which they organized was accomplished. The subsequent announcement that they would give a concert, was hailed with delight, and now we have the pleasure of stating that the club at its meeting last evening, reorganized on a basis calculated to make it permanent and one of the institutions of our city.

THE COAL FAMINE.

Mercury Congealed at Laramie This Morning.

The B. & M. Crossing the U. P.

The storm wind has again turned himself loose out west, and trains are laid out in consequence. The overland train due here at 3:25 p. m. today is reported two hours late, and all other trains out west are laid out badly. For some days a severe storm has been raging between Laramie and Green River, the snow drifting badly at the latter point. Yesterday the track spread in one place and ditched a freight train, but without very serious consequence, except adding to the general confusion.

THE COAL FAMINE.

Delayed trains have resulted in a scarcity of fuel, especially coal, all along the U. P. line and it is impossible to get coal or wood in the city. One man who wanted to order a load of coal yesterday was told that there were 100 orders ahead of his and he would not likely get his coal for a week to come.

THE COAL FAMINE.

On the B. & M. the train from the west Tuesday encountered a terrific snow storm between Harvard and Sutton. For two miles the train passed through almost a solid mass of blinding snow. After passing through it was all sunshine, with fair, balmy, spring-like weather.

MAKING CONNECTION.

The ties are all laid and gangs of men at work connecting the B. & M. and O. & St. P. roads by the river bottom route which was contested so hotly by the U. P. Trains will run over it in a few days, and it will form a continuous line from St. Paul to St. Joe and the south, via Omaha and Lincoln.

EXCELSIOR.

Our Forthcoming Annual Illustrated Review.

Splendid Engravings, Excellent Typography and Reliable Statistics.

Arrangements have been completed for bringing out the forthcoming Annual Illustrated Review of THE OMAHA BEE, which will be distributed to our subscribers on New Year's Day. All the illustrations in this annual review are to be lithographed by a first class artist. One of the most important features will be the sketches of the prominent private residences in the city, which last year were crowded out by other buildings. The statistical work, which is the most laborious part of this undertaking will be more complete in detail and more thorough if anything, than in any previous Review.

A Tilt Between Opposing Counsel in the United States Court.

The Judge's Reprimand.

The case of Engineer O'Donnell vs. the Union Pacific Railroad, for personal injuries received from a railroad accident, was before the United States circuit court Tuesday and was given to the jury that evening. In the argument of the case a personal argument took place between the opposing counsel, which created no small sensation.
