Correspondence of the Bee.

OAKDALE, Neb., November 18.—Oakdale, the county seat of Antelope county, situated as it virtually is at the head of the Elkhorn Valley, is experiencing a "boom" both in trade and immigration unprecedented in the history of any town in the valley.

Within the past year our town has more than quadrupled in size, and there is at present as much building going on as at any time during the year. Builders and carpenters have been compelled to work day and night, and the supply of this class of mechanics has not equalled the demand.

Among our most prominent improvements is the store building of Mrs. S. J. Palmer, 30x50, which is an ornament to any place. Mrs. P. has filled the store with a fine stock of general merchandise, and the second story is to be fitted up for a public hall, of which our town now possesses two. J. A. Taylor has commenced the erection of a fine two-story brick hotel of large dimensions, and the M. E. church folks are pushing their church enterprise through with that energy which Methodism has shown the world over. Twenty-five thousand head of cattle were shipped from the Oakdale stock yards last week, and the F. & M. V. R. finds that they are not sufficient motive power at present to carry on their business.

Antelope county has just passed through one of the most exciting political campaigns in her history, and the victory won at our election was due to the great number of THE WEEKLY BEE taken in the county. The republicans nominated for office of representative a man of unblemished character, and a man who is the tool of no ring or railroad corporation. The democrats, with the help of a few of the "brass-collared" politicians, nominated a man who pledged himself to vote for Padlock for the United States senate. But he did not, and the credit of the voters of this county is preserved.

W. W. Putney, was elected by a handsome majority in the face of a desperate fight. I do not believe there was a crime in the whole case, and the only crime of which Mr. Putney was not accused by the Valentine ring of this county, and Valentine himself, who came here to speak but who was elected to congress in the Nineteenth district at the October election.

He found the people here very enthusiastic in their support of the above verdict. He was sentenced on the 30th inst. to the penitentiary for two years, and was separated from his home on the street on the evening of the murder, seized a large stone, followed her head with it, two little boys being witnesses.

Attempted Kidnaping. NEW YORK, November 18, 10 p. m.—There was some excitement among certain circles in the city to-day over the arrest last evening by the police, upon a telegram from Philadelphia, of a beautiful young woman who arrived on the evening train. The police refused to give any names, and the young woman is carefully guarded, no one allowed to speak to her. A private detective, who claimed to be in search of her, was refused admittance. Relations of the lady arrived to-day, but the police refused to deliver the prisoner until her husband should arrive, and a telegram was sent him, bringing on two physicians who would testify to her alleged insanity. The fair prisoner is but 17, and is said to be connected with some of the highest families in the Quaker City, and to be married to a wealthy gentleman. She has an independent income of $7000 a year, with a prospect of a near increase to $20,000. It is alleged that she is enamored of a handsome young Spaniard, and that her infatuation has led her to attempt elopement.

The Corn, Potato and Tobacco Crop Special Dispatch to the Bee.

WASHINGTON, November 18, 10 p. m.—The department of agriculture issued today the following bulletin relative to the crop of corn, potatoes and tobacco:

Reports of the corn crop show no increase over that of last year, but rather a slight decline for the whole country. The Atlantic states all show an increase, particularly the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Virginia. The crop of potatoes suffered from dearth in the spring and too much rain during the summer, except the state of Texas, which almost doubles her product. In the states north of the Ohio river, the crop of Michigan increased their yield, while Indiana and Illinois decreased. West of the Mississippi Iowa alone has an increased yield. On the Pacific slope, California shows an increase.

The area planted in potatoes was in 1879, but in the total crop there is quite a decline. The yield of corn is reported this year to be on an average of ninety-one bushels, against ninety-eight in 1879, and sixty-nine in 1878. The crop of tobacco in 1878 was not prosperous, but in 1879 it was very favorable. The average yield per acre as reported November 1st is 740 pounds against 735 last year.
