Paterson sells coal. County court Monday. Peter is running the Omaha Ferry.

The attendance at Christian college is about 210 students. The United States court closed up its business yesterday and adjourned.

Among other places visited was the pier house and farm, located about two miles from Denver. It has been increased in size by the addition of a building not connected with the former house.

After remaining in this city until Tuesday night, the commissioners took the Kansas division, U. P., for home, coming by way of Lawrence and Leavenworth instead of taking in Kansas City.

Views of both the Denver and Leavenworth buildings were brought before the board, who in the trip of inspection picked up many valuable ideas and useful hints to guide them in carrying out the wishes of the people of Douglas county.

UP WITH IT.

Preparations for Pushing the Work on the New Court House.

The County Commissioners Looking Up a Model.

The board of county commissioners, Messrs. Drael, Corliss and Knight, arrived yesterday on the K. C. & N. St. Joe train from the south.

They left Omaha on Friday last for the Union Pacific, and went direct to Denver, arriving at that city late Saturday night. A new court house is just being begun at that place, the contract of which has been let at $185,000.

The contract does not contemplate the finishing of the entire building much of which is not at present needed and will remain rough plastered until such time as it is to be occupied.

OMAHA SHOT COMPANY.

Articles of Incorporation Filed in the Office of the County Clerk.

Articles of incorporation have just been filed in the office of the county clerk by the "Omaha Shot Company," whose organization and purchase of grounds in Wilcox's addition, for the shot tower were given our readers some weeks ago.

The company will have its business headquarters in Omaha, will erect and maintain works for the manufacture of all kinds of shot and will make, buy, sell and deal in shot and materials thereof.

The authorized capital stock is $25,000 in shares of $100 each. Fifteen shares may be subscribed for and issued for purchasing the grounds and erecting and establishing the works and putting them in complete operation.

The corporation may commence business when the amount of stock is subscribed and 25 per cent. paid in, when the stockholders may meet and choose a board of three directors and perfect the organization. The stock is transferable.

The corporation begins its existence Nov. 1st, 1880, and terminates Nov. 1st, 1900. The highest amount of indebtedness is $10,000, which may be increased to an amount exceeding two-thirds of the capital.

The affairs of the company will be managed by a board of three directors, a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Provision is made for amending these articles of incorporation, for an annual meeting of the stockholders for election of officers, etc.

The only names which appear on the articles are: G. W. Hall, of the U. P. headquarters, and Mr. C. H. B. Carter, of Des Moines, Iowa.

The Lincoln Officials Delighted With Omaha Hospitality.

Which They Promise to Repay in Kind.

The visitors who came up from Lincoln Thursday to see the "Fire King," tested returned home in high spirits at the cordial reception they met with at the hands of the Omaha officials and citizens, and unanimously agree that they could not have asked or expected more kindness or consideration than was so freely extended by their neighbors.

The "Fire King" returned from Lincoln Thursday to see the "Fire King," tested returned home in high spirits at the cordial reception they met with at the hands of the Omaha officials and citizens, and unanimously agree that they could not have asked or expected more kindness or consideration than was so freely extended by their neighbors.

The Lincoln officials were most cordial in their reception of the Omaha officials and citizens, and unanimously agree that they could not have asked or expected more kindness or consideration than was so freely extended by their neighbors.

It may be pleasant to know what they had to say of their trip to this city, and we therefore reproduce a portion of the Journal's report of what they saw at the metropolis of Nebraska. The Journal says: "After their arrival they visited the engine houses of that city, under the guidance of Chief Engineer John Galligan, who exhibited to the party their system of hitching up and running out on the top of the alarm, and also fully and patiently set forth to them the particular and peculiar merits of the new 'Aires,' with which he was enthusiastically impressed.

After describing the test which was reported yesterday, and which evidently did not impress the party very favorably, the Journal proceeds: "The party were pleasantly entertained at the office of Mayor Chase, after which the Union Pacific railroad shops were visited and the old standard Amoskeag engine 'Durant' was examined, but no test made. Its mechanism and modern improvements were very ably explained by Mr. Reed, who for over eight years has acted as its engineer."

"Mr. S. K. Jackson, superintendent of the car department of the U. P. repair shops, then took charge of the party and conducted them through the extensive and magnificently appointed shops of the company, a sight that is worth a considerable expenditure of time and money to see. One thousand mechanics in all departments construct or rebuild a locomotive or car from its frame to the last finishing touches of polished walnut, brass or silver plate, each department complete in itself, and supplied with the most powerful, as well as the most delicate, machinery and instruments known to the craft."

"The party expressed themselves as under the deepest obligations to his honor, Mayor Chase, the chief engineer, Galligan, and Superintendent Jackson, for their untiring and entirely successful efforts to entertain, instruct and amuse them during their sojourn in that city, and as a token of their appreciation of the alacrity and cheerfulness with which the gallant firm turned out to assist in the trial exhibition, they 'chipped in' the necessary funds with which to send the headquarters on Sixteenth street, a keg of Milwaukee beer and a box of fine cigars to refresh and regale the boys after their extra afternoon's labor was over."

Excelsior. Our Forthcoming Annual Illustrated Review.

Splendid Engravings, Excellent Typography and Reliable Statistics.

Arrangements have been completed for bringing out the forthcoming Annual Illustrated Review of THE OMAHA BEE, which will be distributed to our subscribers on New Year's Day.

One of the most important features will be the sketches of the prominent private residences in the city, which last year were crowded out by other buildings. The statistical work, which is the most laborious part of this undertaking will be more complete in detail and more thorough if anything, than in any previous Review.

In order that no omissions shall occur in this branch, we would urge upon our citizens who have made any building improvements during the year to furnish us the desired information, either at this office or through the postoffice as early as possible. We want the name of the owner of the improvement or structure, description of the improvement or building, location and cost of same.

In view of the fact that the outline for such an undertaking is very large, amounting to nearly $1,500, we have to secure a reasonable amount of advertising patronage from our merchants and manufacturers. Mr. J. H. Pierce has been employed as solicitor for advertisements in the illustrated annual review. He will call upon you in person and furnish them further particulars concerning the style of the work, rates of advertising, etc. The edition will contain 15,000 copies, and will therefore be a most valuable medium for advertising.

COURT'S AND CRIME.

Important Decision in the United States Court.

A Granger Gets Away With $1200 for an Omaha Firm.

This city's court now in session in this city completed its more important business for the week last night and adjourned until Thursday of next week.

The case of John L. Redick vs. the First National bank, was decided in favor of the plaintiff, Thursday afternoon, the jury after being out about twenty-four hours returning a verdict of $8,013.32.

The jury in their verdict against the city of Omaha also returned their verdict, finding $750 for the plaintiff. Redick & Redick were counsel for the plaintiff; Manderson and Cowin for the city.

Three prisoners from Jefferson county were brought before U. S. Commissioner Watson B. Smith Thursday. Samuel J. Pratt was charged with having sold liquor without paying tax. John Graves of selling whisky, without paying tax. The third was arrested under a misapprehension. On examination Pratt was held to bail, while Graves was discharged from custody.

The district court which adjourned some weeks ago to enable the judge to attend the sessions in other counties, will reconvene on Monday at 10. Just how much business there will be to transact is uncertain.

The December term of the county court of Douglas county will convene on Monday morning next, Judge W. O. Bartholomew presiding. This will give us three courts in session during the greater part of the coming week.

News reached the city Thursday of the arrest of a Washington county criminal for whom a warrant had been sworn out in this city, and diligent but unsuccessful search made. The facts were that on Tuesday afternoon Mr. John Ryan, living in Washington county, missed $175.00 from his house, and upon investigating the matter, he found that John McCarty, his hired man, had also disappeared, and the conclusion was that he had taken the money. Mr. Ryan's son got on the track of the man and traced him to Omaha, but was unable to discover his whereabouts in the city. He was found near Blair Thursday, and upon being arrested the first thing he said was "you want much money, and where he had placed the money, he will probably all be recovered. He will not escape prosecution, however, as the charge against him is grand larceny."

An Omaha firm is reported to have been swindled out of a $1200 bill of goods by a party who gave the following racket in 'The Lincoln Journal': Fox & Son, dealers in general merchandise, at Shelby, Polk county, are 'sick' uns. Last Monday one of the members of the firm visited Lincoln and after paying up old bills proceeded to order new goods from several of our dealers. He had with him a letter from the bankers of Osceola, stating that he was good and in every way worthy of the confidence of our business men. This letter insured him the confidence of our business men, and his credit was almost unlimited.

The first bill of goods he bought was a car load of furniture, amounting to $700, from James Bros. He then skinned Hurbit, the clothier, to the tune of $800. Raymond Bros. were talked into a half car load of groceries, amounting to about $700. L. McConnell contributed dry goods to the value of about $300. Hargroves and Co., fruit worth $50. The goods were shipped, received and stored away in the storeroom of Fox & Son in unbroken packages, and in a few days our victimized business man received notice that the firm of Fox & Son had assigned their stock of goods, valued at some $10,000, to the Osceola banker.

Mr. Hurbit, who arrived from Shelby last Wednesday, declares it the most barefaced swindle he ever heard of, and he proposes to file an affidavit to the bottom if it "busts him wide open."
