The first three days of the legislature will decide the future political fate of its members. Every monopoly tool will thereafter be labelled, "Dead Duck."

Ir Church Howe gains the speakership he will doubtless act on his last legislative declaration that no legislation on the transportation question is de manded by the people of Nebracks.

The Maryland courts have decided adversely to the Pollman company in their suit against the Baltimore & Ohio company, in which the Puliman company sought to restrain the railroad from operating a line of sleepers on its road. The average cost of a Pallman coach is $10,000, its average life is ten years, and its average net earnings $1,000 a month. From this statement it will be seen that Mr. Pullman our afford to corry his suit to the United States supreme court without bankrupting the company.

THE ou rageous scene at the meet ing of the council Monday evening adds another to the series of disgraces which Omsha has suffered at the hands of certain members of the common council. The Bee cannot agree with one of its morning contemporeries in attributing any blame to the president of the city council. James E. Boyd, since his election, has presided over that body with an imparti dity and dignity which is werthy of all praise. No man, who had the elightest regard for his own honor. could have failed to recent the gross a: d public insult which was thrown in his face. Forbearance causes to be s virtue and resistance a duty. Ore proposition of Mr. Clarke was illegal thing is certain, the public sentiment and that the board had no right to will uphold Mr. Boyd in resenting aspersions cast on the highest judicial body in the state, on the council of which he is an honored member, and on his own reputation.

It will be the duty of the city council to see that the amplest reparati n is made to it as a body, and to one of our best known, most widely respected and public spirited citizens. We do not believe that the offending member knew what he was saying it the t me, and we feel confident that no one regrets the occurrence more than I imself. He should be made to understand, however, that he not or ly injures himself by such an exhibition of unreasonable temper, but adds in keeping up the steach in municipal meetings which our people hoped had been thoroughly destroyed by the ousting of the Holly crew.

THE TRANSVAAL RESELLION. The revolt of the Dutch Boers in the Transvaal ought to claim the full sympathy of the American people. Bince 1814 this people have five times emigrated from their homes into the wilderness in order to escape British rule, and rach time, when they had amassed sufficient wealth to make their erritory an object of greed, there was no likelihood that either Great Britain has seized upon their Mr. Clark or the Omaha possessions. Here is a case where aid can be justly and properly offered by the United States. A sister republic, struggling for freedom, announces that it prefers death to thralldom. Surely a public remonstrance and an appeal to English justice is the least that our country can do under the circumetances.
