The case of the city vs. Loville & Quinn, proprietors of "The Mint," has been continued for thirty days.

In police court yesterday morning, three drunks paid a fine of $1 and costs each.

Cheapest warm caps, at Frederick's.

The coasters on the Farnham street hill ride from Eighteenth to Thirteenth street, a long slide.

Don't omit to look up third page for Cruckshank's description of home goods they are offering.

James G. Clark, the author of "The Old Mountain Tree" and other ballads, is expected in the city next week.

Warm cap worn, cap, Frederick's.

"Bill" McGill, the well known and artistic sign painter, will "set 'em up." A bouncing girl, Mother and child doing well.

Engine Co. No. 3 will hold their regular monthly meeting at Firemen's hall December 5th. A full attendance is expected. Jerome G. Penzel, secretary.

William Gentleman, the Sixteenth street grocer, is to be married Tuesday next, to Miss Nellie Dohle, sister of Mrs. Medomber, of this city.

The sleet which began at daylight yesterday was followed by a light fall of snow, and the prospects are good for excellent sleighing.

Major Chase has appointed the "old reliable" police judge, Anderson, pro tem judge during Hawes' absence. With Anderson on the bench looks old times.

Down go the prices, Caps, Frederick's.

Januscheck will probably play at the Academy Saturday night, as he was engaged for three nights at Council Bluffs, and the manager has consented to let her go for one night.

Mr. H. T. Clarke, of Bellevue, made another formal tender of the $129,400, the price of the court house bonds, to the county commissioners Tuesday, but they declined to accept the cash or certificates of deposit, and to deliver the bonds.

Whenever a car load of paper arrives at the Omaha freight office they at once telephone the Bee, because it is, they say, always presumable that it belongs there, as it gets more than four times the amount of print paper that either of the other dailies receive. Thus we take it as a pretty good indication of the circulation of the two editions of our daily and our man-moth weekly when compared with its journalistic world-beat rivals.

The ceremony of ordination of deacons took place at St. Mark's church, Sunday morning, the candidates being Rev. George Green, of Nebraska City, and Mr. Percy Barnes, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Rev. Mr. Green returns to Nebraska City to take charge of the colored mission there and at Palmyra and adjoining points. Mr. Barnes left to-day for Fargo, D. T., to take charge of the parish there.

A little girl visited the office of the county clerk Tuesday who bore the marks of most horrible treatment. It is said, and on good authority, that her father is accustomed to getting drunk and pulling her around by the ears and those most delicate appendages of the head were nearly pulled out by the roots. We understand that this is a crime which will send a man to the state penitentiary and it will be plead before the grand jury of the coming term of district court for action. Ruth is a mild name for the fiend who would thus abuse his own flesh and blood.

A private masquerade party, the first of this season's series, came off at Standard Hall Tuesday, and was attended by about twenty-five couples. A great variety of costumes were worn, quite a number of which were noticeable for their elegance. Hoffman furnished the music, and the merry dancers departed for their homes at a late hour, having had their cup of pleasure filled "ever to the brim." Morris, J. Ed. Smith and Mr. Scribner, the gentlemanly proprietors and managers of this delightful series, deserve credit for the success of the parties.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS.

The Outlook as Viewed by the Board of Trade Officials.

A Great Future for Omaha.

The annual meeting of the Omaha board of trade took place Tuesday evening at their rooms in Union Block, President Boyd in the chair.

Roll call showed the following representation: John Evans, Max Meyer, C. F. Goodman, Whitney, Clark & Co., John A. Horbach, Sheely Bros., C. S. Goodrich & Co., J. K. E. Boyd, D. S. Barriger, Geo. W. Moran, Mr. Thomas Gibson, Little & Williams, A. Cruckshank & Co., James Schurz, T. J. McShane, P. Winchell, Bailey & Olsen, Faller R. McDonald, E. McCaffrey Bros., J. F. Hammon, John Erck, and T. W. T. Richards; honorary member, L. M. Bennett.

President Boyd, whose term of office expired with this meeting, then delivered his annual address, in which he said that, while in Omaha a Board of Trade could not be made a successful business mart, yet this body had rendered valuable service to the city and state in many ways. He alluded to the growth of the city during the past year and proposed an increased expenditure of money in permanent improvements through 1881. He considered it almost a certainty that a large amount of public works, the greatest needs, would be built on the ground where the Grand Central stood. The arrangements for such a hotel would have been made long before this had not been for vexatious law suits, it is believed.

It was probable that water would be flowing through the pipes of the water works company by July 1st. He called attention to the fact that an elevator of at least 1,000,000 bushels capacity was to be erected in the present time and reviewed the construction of the park, packing houses, the organization of manufacturing companies, and the opportunity for new ones, the wholesale trade of Omaha, and increasing proportion of the retail trade.

The need of water management of public affairs was discussed, and the deficiency and failure in public improvements already undertaken was deplored.

Mr. C. F. Goodman, chairman of the executive committee, submitted a brief report of the financial operations of the board for the past year. The assessments per capita were but fifty cents a month. The material aid and assistance rendered by this body in the erection of new buildings and improvement of grounds for the state fair was over its most important work.
