FOUR KNIVES IN A PACK

Playing Old Sledge With the Fourth Judicial District.

Judge Post in the Role of a Political Canada Bill.

With Nance, Carns and Reese as Partners in the Confidence Game, Damaging Disclosures Which Tear the Mask of Duplicity From the Hideous Face of Selfish Ambition.

An Eye-Opener for the Legislature.

And a Timely Warning to the People of York, Hamilton, Seward, Butler, Polk, Saunders and Dodge Counties.

Editorial Correspondence of THE BEE.

LINCOLN, Neb., January 10.—It was in the fall of 1878, soon after the adoption of the new constitution that provided for the increase of our judiciary from three to five districts, that I first heard the name of the man who has, since then, figured very prominently in Nebraska politics. His name was bandied up in a discussion about candidates for the judgeship of the Fourth judicial district.

"What sort of a man is this Mr. Post?" I asked Judge Laska, for whose opinion on public men I have great respect.

"He is a young man I very much respect and admire," said Judge Laska. "He has a natural bent for the bench, and I think would make a very good judge in the due course of time. Among the many young lawyers that practice before me, I know of none whom I could recommend so highly."

With such flattering recommendations from the chief justice of the State, Nebraska, I regarded it very safe to endorse Mr. Post's candidacy, and on a few weeks later he was triumphantly nominated over his competitors. The BEE expressed its gratification in an article that was very eloquent, and assured the people of the State that they could not elect a better man to the bench. My personal relations with Mr. Post from that time to this have been very friendly. There came a time, however, when I was sadly undeceived as to this man's character. In the early part of October, 1878, we were both supposed to belong to the same faction. The people of York county, whom Judge Post represented on the floor of that convention, are, for the most part, sturdy farmers, and as intensely opposed to the domination of the city and its monopolies as I am. In any of my succeeding county convention their representatives had worked and voted against the U. P. candidates. The delegation of which Judge Post was then leader were as earnest and sincere anti-monopolists as any in the convention, but they implicitly faith in Judge Post's political fidelity led them astray and made them play the disreputable role of stool pigeons for the U. P. managers.

When the convention met the monopoly faction rallied around E. K. Valentine as their candidate for the judgeship, and Judge Post, who had been tried and proved true, and picked up a man who had no more vitality in him than an Indian in front of a tobacco shop, and only mounted the rostrum to be a figurehead for the city and its monopolies.

All the time while playing the part assigned him by the conspirators who put up this infamous job—Mr. Post was a put-up job by the U. P. strikers, who had devised this scheme to defeat Judge Crouse by withdrawing from his support the delegates from York county.

In vain were all appeals to Judge Post to drop his name, who had no earthly show—and fall in with the body of anti-monopoly delegates, to the support of Crouse. Mr. Post stubbornly refused to yield, insisting that the mountain must come to Mohammed—that the one hundred and twenty-five delegates must leave their names on the list, and vote for the man who had been tried and proved true, and pick up a man who had no more vitality in him than an Indian in front of a tobacco shop, and only mounted the rostrum to be a figurehead for the city and its monopolies.

Undoubtedly the best shirt in the United States is manufactured at the Omaha Shirt Factory. The superiority of the quality and workmanship, combined with their great improvements, that is reinforced fronts, reinforced backs and reinforced sleeves, makes them the most durable and best fitting garment of the kind, ever manufactured at the moderate price of $1.50. Every shirt of our make is guaranteed first-class and will refund the money if found otherwise.

We make a specialty of all wool, Shaker, and Canton flannel, also chemis underwear, made up with a view to comfort, warmth and durability. To invalids and weak-lined persons we offer special inducements in the manner these goods are made for their protection.

Special Dispatch to THE BEE.

PARIS, January 11.—11 a. m.—The friends of M. Gambetta are jubilant at the evidence the elections furnish of his continued popularity throughout the country. The elections are for the body of municipal officers who constituted part of the senatorial college, and the complexion of yesterday's result will help determine that of the next senate. It is believed that the irreconcilables and conservatives elected are so few as to be scarcely worth considering.

AGAINST COERCION.

Special Dispatch to THE BEE.

LONDON, January 11.—11 a. m.—In the house of commons last night Messrs. Churchill, Bradlaugh, Plunkett and others continued the debate on the address in reply to the queen's speech until adjournment.
