

E. ROSEWATER, EDITOR

The New York assembly has passed a bill forbidding the consolidation of telegraph companies.

The temperance issue is not a political question. It must be settled by society outside of party ranks.

The improper use of pork is causing a number of deaths in the east. A constitutional amendment prohibiting the raising of hogs and their conversion into hams and "long sides" will be the next thing in order.

The De Pauw plant glass works of New Albany, Indiana, and Louisville, Kentucky, are about to remove to Pittsburgh, on account of the high price of fuel. The De Pauw works should remove to Omaha with coal at $14 a ton.

The New York Tribune thinks that Leland Stanford's plan for railroad expansion is full, satisfactory and convincing. It doesn't take much to convince a journal whose establishment is mortgaged for $750,000 to a railroad magnate. It will now be in order for the New York Tribune, Chicago Inter Ocean and Omaha Republican to be convinced.

It looks as if the Western Union are not to have a complete monopoly of the telegraph business. The project of a through line from Chicago to Boston, which was agitated a few weeks ago by some Chicago merchants, is taking form rapidly, and eight hundred miles will be built during the present year. In several of the states through which the line will pass the legislature has prohibited the consolidation or pooling of rival lines.

Omaha Howes has introduced a bill in the house prohibiting the acceptance and use of free press or railroad roads by members of the legislature and all state and county officials. This is a move in the right direction, and the bill ought to become a law notwithstanding the fact that Omeh Howes is the last man that wanted to have it passed. This checky impostor has doubtless introduced this bill to tamboorize congressmen into the belief that he is an anti-monopoly man, whereas from the day he set foot into the legislature, six years ago until now he has never ceased to be anything else but a railroad caper. Only last week, when the question of taxing railroads was before the house and means committee, of which Howes was a member, Omeh Howes and a fellow by the name of Lingo, who is a partner in business with C. P. Detwiler, were the most prominent opponents to the bills that provide for the repeal of the railway exemption act. When Omeh Howes was master of the state grange he always carried annuals from the railroad in his pocket and he made demands for them in every position he held in the legislature. When business had to do with Omaha and Ogden and how could he pay for them? Did he make good the amount in some other way? Did he pay for them when he boastfully telegraphed to Sidney Dillon that he had defeated the pro rate resolutions in the legislature, four years ago?

The abolition of railroad passes for public officials is demanded in the interest of the people. One-third of all the passenger travel in this state is on dead-head passes, and the two-thirds from whom fees are collected pay for those who have free tickets. By all means let the legislature pass the anti-dead-head bill.

REGULATION AND PROHIBITION. There are four distinct propositions before the Nebraska legislature looking towards the restriction of the liquor traffic. Mr. Jackson, of Douglas, attempts to limit the operations of his proposed reform within the boundaries of towns and cities, but especially within the boundaries of the city of Omaha. By this law, county officers may, at their option, impose such license fees upon dealers in liquors as are now authorized by county commissioners, but in cities of the first class, which means Omaha, no license to sell liquor shall be granted for a sum less than one thousand dollars.

Now we admit at the outset the evils of intemperance and the need of reasonable restrictions upon the sale of intoxicating beverages. We also concede that cities, towns and villages afford a better field for the generation of vice and crime by intemperance than the country. We know that Omaha abounds in low dens where the vilest, wretched and most depraved creatures congregate and the keepers of these dens of infamy are permitted to deal in liquors without restraint. This deplorable state of affairs is, however, not due to the leniency of the present laws but rather to their non-enforcement. The present laws make the keeping of disorderly houses where gambling or prostitution is carried on in connection with the liquor trade a criminal offense both against the city ordinance and against the state law. But the men and women in Omaha who are loudest in demanding prohibition lack the courage to enter complaint against the violators of the law, and the ordinance, and laws remain a dead letter. What we need, if anything, in the shape of legislation, is a clause in our city charter that will absolutely prohibit the liquor license holder who keeps a disorderly house and will prohibit the re-issuance of such license. This license should be suspended by the mayor upon the complaint of any police officer, and the suspension should be made permanent upon conviction in the police court.

LOOK OUT FOR HIM. To the Editor of the Bee: A "wonderful" fellow named R. J. Edwards, D. J. Edwards, and J. Edwards, a "dealer" in playing confidence games and getting money from the presence of his law. When last heard from he was in Carroll, Iowa. He is about 5 feet 8 inches in height, dark hair and mustache, age about 25, wears a plug hat, and carries a small case of instruments by a strap over his shoulder. For any further particulars, address one of his victims, C. B. WILLIAMS, 1001 Broadway, New York.

The Boston Herald urges E. B. Washburn for secretary of the treasury, on the ground that he is able, experienced, honest and sound.

BOBBER WAIFS.

Small Pox in Dakota and Coal Fever in Nebraska.

The Storm in the Ranches.

Considerable anxiety exists in the northern part of the state on account of the small pox that is raging in southeastern Dakota. A strict quarantine is kept in northeastern Nebraska, and there is not much danger of the disease spreading. Some arms are very common even in Washington and Burlington counties.

The coal fever is as contagious at present as any disease. A stock company for prospecting has been organized at Decatur with a subscribed capital of $5,000 which shall be increased to $50,000 whenever they determine to sink a shaft. They are leasing ground on the river bank at Decatur and many other enterprising men of the place are interesting themselves in the venture.

A large line for coal established by Deatur and Omaha is a very pleasant picture which we indulge the hope may be realized. Decatur is located on the river bank, and has no railroad at present, but it is expected the Maple river branch of the C. & N. W. will be built through Omaha across the Missouri river at Decatur, and from there running two branches one west and the other south to Omaha; they will enter into active competition for the Nebraska trade independent of the present pool.

Full particulars of the Griffin tragedy, that so excited the people of Decatur, have not yet been published. They are as follows: Dr. Griffin, of Decatur, who recently committed suicide by shooting himself, was a married man, a barber by trade, and had been living in the place for many years. Some two years ago, while on the influence of liquor he stabbed a man and when he had done so he promised his bond that he would never again get drunk. They told him that if he got drunk before trial they would withdraw from his bond and return him over to the authorities. He did not drink any more then, and reportedly told his friends that if he ever got drunk again he would shoot himself. His trial passed, also more than a year of prosperous trade, and his old habit began creeping back upon him. A saloon stood close to his shop, and he said he could not keep from it while it was always under his nose. Some day he got into the saloon and took a reckless spree, and was just recovering from the same, when on Friday evening he had a quarrel with his partner. Going home to his family he got his revolver, and fired a shot which he took his wife upon his knee. He held his life was a failure and he would not die than his drunkard. He sold very minutely everything in connection with his financial matters, then deliberately placed the muzzle of the pistol against his head and fired. He lingered in unconsciousness until next morning and died.

A bovine monstrosity was shown to the people of Omaha at that place. It was the double horn of a calf with a single horn in the center over two inches long. The mother of the unborn calf died, and was opened to ascertain the cause of her death. Mr. Lang told me that the head of the calf were like mules feet, but he does not have them on exhibition. One head is evidently that of a male, and the other that of a female. Each head is provided with a well-formed nose, has a tongue and two eyes, but only one ear can be seen. The two heads are so grown together that the inner horns appear, and the horn from being appropriated for two horns of progressive growth was produced in the center of the double horn. The outer horns did not make an appearance through the skin, but probably would had the creature lived.

The storm now raging is reported very small in itself, but is being multiplied by many thousands of the republicans or any other political party proponent under such a role I am an anti-monopoly man, and I vote and vote against monopolies without asking the would-be lords whether we may do without asking them for a charter. I do not believe this "chartering" principle is in accordance with American independence, or state, county or individual rights. Every one has the right to oppose evil without getting a charter to do so. It is our duty as good citizens to teach the people and show them where they are trampled down and by whom, and the one has the right to get up a charter and you pay me ten cents for the privilege.

It is not here because it is outspoken against monopolies and yet I have heard of a word against this riding monopoly of compelling charters and clauses in order for a charter, and other acts tending to rob the producing classes. It looks to me like monopoly and a charter in order for a charter, and other acts tending to rob the producing classes. It looks to me like monopoly and a charter in order for a charter, and other acts tending to rob the producing classes.

Grant is getting bald-headed. He snatched him! Ex-Minister Washburn is talked of for mayor of Chicago. Mr. Bizzard edits an Ohio paper. Mount Baker is reported as being again. Sworn off of New Year's day.

Mr. Garfield is the first active Knight Templar who has ever been elected to the presidency. Sitting Bull has been composing a pretty piece for the piano. Secretary Sharp expects to bring into the public in a few days.

Those readers who agonize over the pronunciation of Bjornstjerne Bjornson's name may simplify the matter by calling it John Johnson.

Edman Hackett, who was stolen from his home, near Cedar Rapids, sixteen years ago, has been found and restored to his parents. He had a rawberry mark on his shoulder.

The New Haven Register is informed that the widow of John Bjornstjerne Bjornson, at least, not while his present wife lives.

It is about to build a big hotel at Bloomington. He ought to call it the "House of David" and what a joy old Boniface the corporation president-elect, of Michigan, has secured Zech Oberlander's old seat in the senate chamber, having telegraphed to it. Platt, of New York, and Joe Hawley tried in vain to get

POLITICAL NOTES.

NOTICE.

The lower house of the Tennessee legislature has insisted Stewart, a Democrat, and unanimously agreed upon John W. P. Ferguson as their candidate for United States Senator. They seem to assume that Mr. Blaine will be a member of the next cabinet.

Senator Sharon has put in an appearance in the senate. He was introduced by his brother senators the other day, and unanimously agreed upon to be introduced before the doorkeeper would admit him to the floor of the senate.

Mr. Kittling, a pale, petite young lawyer, has been sworn in as clerk of the Nevada legislature, and Judge Hawley made her swear to support the constitution and laws, not to bear arms against her country, and advised her that she was ineligible if she had taken part in a duel.

Mr. Wm. Lowery, foreman Suffolk manufacturing company, 602 Washington street, Boston, this spoke of the way it works: "One of our men had been suffering for some time in the side and back for some time. He used a number of remedies without effect, and at last was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He entirely cured him. I can highly recommend it, as by its use several others of our employes have been cured."
