—The manager of the Academy of Music in Omaha has not yet given up the idea of Bernhardt's visiting Omaha. She will rent the Academy and sell tickets at $3 apiece, which will pay expenses and buy railroad tickets, anyway.

On account of the weather Trinity Guild sociable has been postponed until Wednesday.

SUCCESSFUL SCHURZ.

All Things Working Well Together for the Roving Red Man.

The True Story of the March of the Poncas.

The severe criticism, on the part of a portion of the press of the United States, of Secretary Schurz' management of the Indian Bureau of the Interior Department has come largely from persons but little competent to judge of such matters, and is in a good degree refuted by the testimony of those who have had a life-time of experience on the frontier and among the Nation's wards.

As most of the readers of THE BEE know, Mr. W. H. H. Llewellyn's business has been such that for the past two years he has had occasion to visit all of the Indian agencies in Dakota, where the great bulk of the Indians are located, and also most of the agencies in Wyoming and Montana, each of which has a considerable portion of the Indian population. In addition to his recent trips Mr. Llewellyn has had a large experience with the various Indian tribes, and is thoroughly conversant with their past, as well as their present, condition and habits. He is thus competent to compare the present condition of the Indian with what he knew it to be years ago, and to judge of the advancement they have made since then in morals and civilization generally, especially in the case of the Nez Percés, Flatheads, Pen d'Oreilles, Blackfeet, Pegans, Crows and other upper Missouri river Indians.

In conversation with our reporter, a few days after his return from the west, he said, in speaking of the secretary, and the adverse criticism his course had met, that the opposition grew largely out of the removal of the Poncas, whose troubles have become a national question and the most prominent one of the kind now before the people of the United States.

"What do you know about the removal of the Poncas?" asked our reporter.

"The removal of that tribe," said Mr. Llewellyn, "was no doubt originally a proposition of their own, and the desire on their part for a change of location was due to the hostile and unfriendly attitude assumed toward them by the adjoining Sioux tribes."

"It is the general understanding, is it not, that the Poncas were ejected by force from their reservation?"

"I have read sensational reports of their removal which would lead one unacquainted with the facts to suppose that they were. The truth is, as is well known to hundreds of people in Nebraska, that they departed from their reservation in high old glee, and their fine wagon train, as they crossed the plains of Nebraska, resembled a first-class emigrant outfit, provisioned and equipped for a long journey."

In the spring of '77 I saw at Beatrice, Neb., one division of the Poncas on their way to the Indian territory and their stout canvas covered wagons excellent horses and equipments generally, were far superior to that of hundreds of white settlers who come into this and adjoining states, so that all reports about their cruel removal are pure "taffy."

"I have been in the camp of the Poncas when they were in constant dread of incursions from the hostile Sioux, and their condition was indescribable; of all the hubbub and confusion you ever heard, that was the worst. They kept sentinels out all the time, and were in fear of their lives and property constantly. Of course as to the legal technicalities of their case I know nothing."

"In what respect is the condition of the Indians now better than formerly?"

"In nearly every particular. Their moral and social progress has been especially gratifying to those who watch with interest their case. Reports from the missions and industrial schools established among the various tribes clearly indicate the wisdom of the course which has been adopted in regard to them. Among the most beneficial reforms inaugurated by Secretary Schurz, is that of having disciplined Indian police, who now do effective service at all the Indian agencies."

The transportation of Indian supplies by the Indians themselves has been one of the grandest innovations made and resulted in great benefit to all concerned. At large agencies, like Spotted Tail and Red Cloud, the Indians haul all of their own supplies from the steamboat landings on the river. They have thereby become accustomed to the proper handling of wagons and harness, and industrious and expert teamsters When they first started out they couldn't comprehend the lock or brake, and would start the heavy wagon down hill unlocked, going with such speed that they could not check until they were perhaps over the top of another hill. A little care and attention remedied this, however.

"Well, you think prospects are brighter for the Red Man's future?"

"It is my opinion that the much vexed Indian question is rapidly approaching a solution, which will be satisfactory to everybody. Senator Saunders bill to grant lands in severalty and the proposition to abolish the tribal relations and extend the right of citizenship to the Indians are all of genuine merit and will gradually bring about a condition of affairs that will give justice to the Indians, gratification to the intelligent portion of our people and redound to the credit of the administration from which so desirable a reform has come."

The above association held its monthly meeting last evening in Union Block, President Bell in the chair.

Members present: Boyden, Maine, Redfield, Kenyon, Potter and Points.

Interesting papers were read by Messrs. Boyden and Kenyon, and the organization of a National Stenographic association was discussed.

A committee, consisting of President Bell, Secretary Boyden and Messrs. Maine, Shropshire and Redfield, was appointed to enter into correspondence with other stenographers of the country, on the subject, for the purpose of obtaining their views.

The association then adjourned.

Harrison Ahead.

The case of W. H. Harrison, the shirt man, against W. B. Saly, for possession of his Newfoundland dog, Turk, came before Justice Powell this morning for a hearing on the writ of replevin. Saly went before Powell Saturday and wanted to pay the costs and dismiss the case but E. D. McLaughlin Esq.; Harrison's attorney objected, saying that his client wanted a verdict and judgment for possession. This morning the defendant did not appear and the case went by default in favor of the plaintiff.

Harrison is now in legal possession of the dog and the case that started in so ludicrously and with so little prospect of settlement in the absence of another Solomon, is settled.

A Special Train

Left Omaha for Lincoln at 2 p. m. Tuesday, with Messrs. Kimball and Vining, of the U. P., on board.

These gentlemen should have arrived here Sunday night, but were detained by an accident en route, which tumbled them down an embankment in Ohio, and wrecked the train they were in.

On account of the weather Trinity Guild sociable has been postponed until Wednesday.

Julia Rive-King.

After twenty-four hours of hard work, the manager of the Academy of Music succeeded about 1 o'clock this morning in inducing Mr. King to favor our citizens with one of his grand concerts on the 28th inst., three weeks from last evening. This will be the greatest musical attraction of the season. Julia Rive-King needs no introduction to the Omaha public, as her reputation is world-wide. The company is an expensive one, composed entirely of artists, and as it is seldom that Omaha is able to secure an attraction of so exalted a character, we sincerely hope our musical people will evince a proper appreciation of the enterprise of our manager in securing this attraction.

The Galley Slave.

This remarkable piece of dramatic work will be presented at the Academy of Music Friday and Saturday evenings. It has made its author, Bartley Campbell, famous and being strong and well sustained throughout, romantic in interest, and containing several scenes of wonderful power and intensity has proved an exceptional success. The Baltimore Sun says:

"'The Galley Slave,' a five act drama, was received with marked favor by a large and intensely-delighted audience at Ford's theatre. Messrs. W. H. Powers, W. H. Cooper and Miss Ida Lewis were each welcomed most cordially and earnestly applauded for excellent acting. Miss Ida Vancortland, who amazed the auditors by electric power. The fourth act won applause such as is rarely heard from a Baltimore audience. The play in itself affords grand opportunities, and is fully equal to the "Two Orphans" in vivid contrasts, bursts of power and heart-reaching incidents."

STORM NOTES.

Getting Streets, Railroads and Telegraph Lines in Shape.

The Worst Storm Since 1856.

The weather cleared up unexpectedly last night and the snow and slush was yesterday frozen hard enough to bear teams, in many places. It did not thaw a great deal during the forenoon and as the force employed by the city to go to work at the gutters and others hired by private parties got to work early, we have heard of no particular trouble from water. Among others who suffered Sunday or Monday were Gatz & Freeman about $1,200; Hospe, $200 to $300; Willis Yates, about $50; A. Polack, $200. Of ccurse there were numbers of others damaged more or less by being flooded, but we have not learned their names. The flood that damaged Yates' and Hospe's stocks was not caused by a defective roof as stated, but from the snow being piled up until it ran over flushing. Many tin roofs were damaged by too free a use of pick and shovel in cleaning them off.

The street railway is in a bad fix, and looks as if cars would not get to running for a week unless a sudden thaw should come to the relief of the force now employed on it. The ice is packed down solid between the rails and in places the track is submerged. In the meantime the busses and carriages are reaping a good harvest.

Telegraphic communication with the east is still interrupted, but trains on all the roads east and west are making schedule time. The Union Pacific Transfer hotel was crowded all day yesterday with belated passengers, for the street cars over there were abandoned like ours, and those who wanted to get up town had to walk. An avalanche of snow from the roof of the hotel smashed in one of the iron sheds adjoining the house.

Yesterday was a great day for shoe men and the sales cleared out the stock of several. They are the only men who reaped a practical, immediate benefit from the storm. The physicians may make something out of it yet, and the undertakers.

HEARD FROM.

We thought the oldest inhabitant had gone away forever with the storm but he turns up in Council Bluffs and talks thus in The Nonparell:

The storm of Saturday and Sunday last has probably never before been equalled in this part of Iowa, or at least nothing of its peculiar nature is remembered by "ye old inhabitant." The only approach to it was the storms of 1857-8, when the weather was extremely cold and the snow almost continuous for a week or more at a time, and the weather never moderated sufficiently to melt one snow before another came. In April, 1858, as we are reminded by Col. Cochran and others, the snow lay on the ground in Council Bluffs to a depth of nearly fifteen inches. On or about the 27th of April of that spring a terrible rainstorm put in an appearance, and a mighty flood was the result. The rain washed the snow from the hillsides to the bottoms, and the streets and lower portion of the city were completely and effectually inundated. That spring the first visitation of youthful grasshoppers was made to this part of the west. The 'hoppers were thicker than flies around the bunghole of a sugar barrel, and it is said there were "twenty-five youthful 'hoppers to every blade of grass in the country, or to every blade expected." The great flood of April had a disastrous effect on the 'hoppers, as they were completely drowned out and washed away. In this way the storm proved a providential visitation, but it yet remains to be seen what the benefit of the present snow and water will prove to be. Certain it is, that the matter looks serious enough, and a flood of great magnitude will certainly visit us sooner or later. If the snow and sleet, now on the ground, freeze up, the flood will come when it melts, and if it goes away as fast within the coming few days as it did yesterday, we will have an overflow at once.

Board of Education.

The board of education held its regular monthly meeting Monday, at which there were present Messrs. Bloom, Bamford, Connoyer, Gibson, McKoon, McConnell, Woodworth and President Marsh.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The report of the treasurer showed a balance in the general fund of $11,064.27, and $10,453.63 in the sinking fund.

The principals of the South school made charges of inebriation and improper behavior against the janitor of said school, and the matter was referred to the members of the board representing the First ward.

The report of the committee on claims was received, and various claims amounting to the sum of $5,553.32 were ordered paid.

The bill of Max Meyer & Bros., amounting to $12, was ordered paid, and one-half the amount was deducted from the janitor's pay of the east school for unauthorized action in the premises.

The special committee on Insurance reported insurance placed in the following agencies, with amounts: McCoon, $35,000; Murphy & Lovett, $25,000; Coutant, $20,000; Howell & Taylor, $16,500; Rosdon, $17,500. The committee were authorized to insure to the amount of $8500 with agents having no insurance on school property.

The president and secretary were authorized to draw a warrant of $2,505 to pay the semi-annual interest on bonds and exchange.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Connoyer calling upon the superintendent to report at the next regular meeting as to work performed by the assistant principal.

The following resolution, offered by Mr. Bloom, was referred to the committee on teachers and text books in connection with the superintendent, with directions to report at the next regular meeting:

Resolved, That all persons acting as teachers in the schools of the city of Omaha who have been subjected to an examination at the hands of the board of examiners of the said city schools, and who have failed to obtain and who are still unprovided with the proper certificate of qualifications from the said board of education, as prescribed by law, be and they are hereby notified to discontinue their labors as such, and that the committee on teachers and text-books be and they are hereby directed to replace said persons so acting as teachers as aforesaid with others sufficiently qualified for the purpose.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Conoyer that if any teacher absent herself from the school without the permission of the superintendent of the board, she shall be suspended and shall not be reinstated without authority of the board; which applies to leaving the building before the close of school.

Messrs. Connoyer and Marsh spoke upon the necessity of such a resolution and showed that teachers were out sleighriding in school hours.

The resolution was adopted.

The board adjourned.

Saratoga Precinct.

Prof. Ware has resumed his duties after a week's illness.

Arrangements are nearly completed for the exhibition next Friday night, February 11th. Through the courtesy of General King, of Fort Omaha, the orchestra of the Ninth Infantry band will furnish the music.

Prof. Messier offers three medals for excellence to the participants.

The second issue of the Lyceum paper, "The Saratoga News," will be the attraction of Literary society to-morrow night.

D. J. Smith, the market gardener, on Sherman avenue, was the recipient of a very pleasant surprise by a large sleighing party from Council Bluffs and Crescent City Friday evening last. The party came prepared for a masquerade which was hugely enjoyed by all. The morning light still found the party enjoying their festivities. A sumptous lunch was by no means the least of the many attractions of the programme. CUCKOO.
