PROGRAMME: MUSIC. PRAYER. . Miss Van Orman THE COAL FAMINE.

A Lesson that Should be Heeded by All.

What May be Expected in the Future.

Omaha has this winter experienced, in common with the rest of Nebraska and adjoining states, the severest coal famine in its history. This was due to the facts that few dealers anticipated anything like such a long, in-tense winter, the scarcity of miners and the improvidence of consumers, rise in telegraph shares was due to a deciwhe, instead of laying in a supply during the slack time in the fall trade, for the coming cold, trusted in a element winter, such as has marked since the supply of Judge Blatchford, and the ruling of Judge Sedgwick in the suits for an injunction brought by the Cable companies against land line companies. After the second call there was a re-action of ‡ to 1½ per cent from the highest prices reached, but in late yesterday. The Rock Is- Merchants Exchange has been confined to the near past, and the cold spur of absolute need. Many mines were operated with only half force during the late fall and early winter. And in consideration of this stinted working force, and a hope which had almost ripened into belief that a mild winter would ensue, no provision was made on the part of the dealers to get out their contract coal before the cold weather set in. Consequently, when the people's local and domestic demands should have been supplied the dealers were busy mining coal to fill contracts with school districts, manufactories, cor-

Let not the lesson be lost. Spring approaches. Warm weather will decrease the coal consumption and give time for necessary improvements and acquiring facilities for the work of next winter. The history of the northwest would seem to indicate that the status of the weather alternates for a period of some years between mild and severe winters. Such being the case, it would appear to be good logic to suppose that after having experienced some ten warm or moderate seasons, the present one of almost uprecedented cold and continued snow is but the periodical in suguration of a succession of cold winters, in the natural order of things. This truth admitted, it would be but common wisdom acknowledged and exercised, for our dealers to develop their capacity to its fullest possibility, and, to redouble efforts to secure a sufficient supply to meet every emergency and demand of the coming winter's cold. And the railroad companies, in the meantime. should see to it that the people of the northwest shall never again suffer through fault of theirs. A Case of Direct Pressure. Last Sunday a fire broke out at Silver Cliff, Colo., which proved a most disastrous one. The water works, failed to respond to the needs of the city at a time when they could be illy spared. It is claimed that they had a fire under only one boiler, and the other furnace was in such poor condidition that a fire could not be built. For the continued, sympathetic, and nelpful words spoken and acts done during the recent sickness, death and burial of my beloved wife, Elizabeth Marston, I desire in this manner to return my heartfelt thanks to many friends, especially naming Mrs R. A Hotel Clerk and the Bad Men from Bitter Creek.

Yesterday two men, H. Hempstead and H. W. Richmond, from Denver, registered at the Emmet House, on Eleventh street. About 10 c'clock last night they came into the office, beastly drunk. The clerk told them that drunken men were not allowed in the house, and discovered to them the door. They couldn't see it, -had paid for lodging and were going to stay. Words ensued between the two and ire arose, and he hurled a tumbler at them. His aim was too high, but the men left the room. A policeman was telephoned for and came. The last seen of the wild men from the state of deep canyons and yellow dust, they were being marched up to the Hotel de Westerdahl.
