

THE PLUMED KNIGHT

Will in All Probability Retire to Private Life and Practice His Profession.

It is Believed That Governor Cornell Will Step Into Conkling's Senatorial Slippers.

The Stalwarts Will Fail to Effect a Coalition With the Democrats.

The Boom Promised to Conkling by Vice-President Arthur Didn't Pan Out.

WILL NOT RETURN. Albany, May 28-10 p. m.—The belief is generally expressed by those who know Conkling, that he will not return from New York unless he succeeds in securing democratic votes sufficient to re-elect him.

Half-breeds are circulating a story that Tammany is in a worse mood than Conkling's return, as they attribute the removal of Kelley from the comptroller'ship to him.

There are important rumors current regarding the contest of Conkling for a reversion of the Legislature from Friday until Monday, in order that he might have the field of battle and proceed to New York on Monday, and that while it has been usual for the Legislature to adjourn from Friday to Monday, the "small fry," who denominated themselves "half-breeds," are so numerous that in view of the present crisis affairs it would be better to continue in session yesterday and adjourn until Monday, with a view of forcing the "double" members to return here and not give them a chance of consultation with their district adjutants.

Those men who are pledged to either side of the contest, upon the first announcement of this programme, decidedly inclined to support it. It now appears, however, that Conkling, who yesterday morning was reading the dispatches sent to him during the night from New York and Washington, viewed this proposition and urged his friends to support it, and that he will till Monday. His object in doing this, it is stated, was for the purpose of insuring a cessation of hostilities until he had an opportunity to return to New York and confer with a prominent representative of the administration.

STALWARTS CONTENDING. Albany, N. Y., May 28-10 p. m.—The deadlock in the Senate, which today a list was published of the standing of every member of the assembly. Robertson says correct, but that he expects to get three or four more votes of the "small fry." The list gives the stalwarts 40, half breeds 58, and the fence 8. If Robertson is correct then he can depend on 61 votes. Robertson is not so sure that the stalwarts can effect a coalition with the democrats. He thinks the stalwarts could not deliver the necessary number of votes to carry out the deal. It requires eighty-one votes in joint assembly to elect, and Robertson says it would be impossible to get more than seven republicans in any possible deal under the circumstances to vote mixed tickets, and says the democrats will vote solid for the stalwarts, and even if the caucus instructed them to vote for the republicans they would bolt the instruction.

CONKLING'S RETURN IMPRACTICABLE. He pronounces any scheme to secure Conkling's return by the aid of democratic votes as impracticable, and thinks the democrats in caucus Monday night will present with confidence a coalition with the stalwarts, and vote solid for them in joint convention, and after demonstrating the impossibility of electing them, will vote solid for the stalwarts for a final adjournment.

ROBERTSON CONTENDS THAT THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT CORNELL WILL BE NOMINATED AND ELECTED; THAT THE STALWARTS ARE FALLING AWAY FROM HIM, AND THAT HE WILL BE ABLE TO JOIN WITH THE HALF BREEDS AND ELECT CORNELL AS A COMPROMISE CANDIDATE. He expects the contest will end this week.

HORRIBLE OUTRAGE. Buffalo, May 29-10 p. m.—Complaint was made today to the district attorney of what appears to be the most brutal outrages ever committed, and which has attracted the pleasant town of Elma into a high state of excitement. It appears that Mrs. Hacker, the wife of a respectable citizen, was sitting on the porch of her residence on Tuesday evening, when a man suddenly appeared, seized her by the neck, and dragged her to a handkerchief, and dragged her to a tree, saying as he went, "I have got you now, I have waited for two years for this chance. He tied her to a tree and then proceeded to kick and beat her in a most brutal manner. The woman screamed and her cries were heard by her husband and son, who were on their way home, and reached her just in time, probably, to save her life. Her assailant fled, leaving his club behind him. When unknown to the woman, she was restored to her senses, and as soon as she was restored she said that her assailant was a man named J. W. Watson, manager of a saloon, and that she frequently quarrelled about a boundary line. She went before a justice at Springfield and had him arrested, she followed away while in the police office.

A Base Swindle. Chicago, May 28-1 a. m.—An interesting expose of the scheme to raise for two years for this cause was made by the Cleveland news was made public Saturday. The scheme whereby the pool boxes were to be operated was conducted by a man named J. W. Watson, manager of a saloon, and that she frequently quarrelled about a boundary line. She went before a justice at Springfield and had him arrested, she followed away while in the police office.

A TWINKLER'S TRICK.

Clever Performance by one of the Chief "Stars" in Brady's Constellation.

A Ranch of Half a Million Acres Raked in by Dorsey in New Mexico.

An Army of Bullwhackers Loathe the Tract for the Arkansas Traveler.

There's Notting Small About Him. But His Honesty.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A review of the events of the week in financial circles were of considerable importance. The market was marked by a general advance, the ruling rates for call loans ranging from 2 to 4 per cent. Foreign exchanges were irregular throughout the week, but Douglas was so persistent in his attempts to get her that she decided to return east. She had entered the stage for that purpose, when Douglas took up and shot her, and the murderer was indicted, tried and convicted and sentenced and executed two weeks after his crime.

A Printer Shoots His Wife. New York, May 28-10 p. m.—A double murder, resulting in the death of the wife of the printer, took place yesterday afternoon. Edwin M. Dorozy, thirty-one years of age, a compositor on the New York Sun, shot his wife, Julia, entering the left breast just below the heart, inflicting a fatal wound. The large English revolver, which he used, struck a flat-iron near by and cut it in two.

Serious Boiler Explosion. CHICAGO, May 28-10 p. m.—A serious boiler explosion, which killed the fireman, Chas. Houlihan, and fatally injured the engineer, Charles C. Crow, occurred at the engine, at the yards, exploded, instantly killing the fireman, Chas. Houlihan, and fatally injuring the engineer, Charles C. Crow, occurred at the engine, at the yards, exploded, instantly killing the fireman, Chas. Houlihan, and fatally injuring the engineer, Charles C. Crow.

New Hog Disease. DETROIT, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

Battling With Ice. NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that the season of marine disasters through collisions with ice floes in the north Atlantic has already commenced. The large steamer, the American, which has just had a narrow escape from total destruction through a collision with an ice floe forty miles southeast of Gulf Island, off Cape St. John. Her lower work was stove in and the forward compartment filled with water. Had she struck abreast of the forward compartment all hands must have gone down almost instantly.

The Cornell Crew. NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—The Cornell crew sailed this afternoon on the steamer English. Commodore Mearns is accompanied by a contingent given by the British consul at that port, attended under sufficient notice that the crew were what they represent themselves to be, a college crew of amateurs. They have full confidence that they will be entered in the Henley regatta.

The Lost Jeannette. WASHINGTON, May 28-10 p. m.—Commodore Schenck, commanding the Jeannette, has instructions from the secretary of the navy to remain in the Arctic region no longer than September 23rd, and to direct his search for the coast of Greenland, Iceland and the coast of Norway.

The Weather. WASHINGTON, May 29-10 p. m.—Indications for the week are for a heavy rain, with strong winds, and slight changes in temperature.

Fatal Quarrel. TOLLETT, Ind., May 30-1 a. m.—E. W. Hall, a saloonkeeper, and E. Gibson, renewed an old quarrel which resulted in the death of Gibson, who is an ex-police man, gave himself up.

A Dead Investor. SARATOGA, N. Y., May 30-1 a. m.—A man named J. W. Watson, manager of a saloon, and that she frequently quarrelled about a boundary line. She went before a justice at Springfield and had him arrested, she followed away while in the police office.

A Heavy Blaze. ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 30-1 a. m.—The Collier White Lead works burned Saturday night, caused by an explosion in the boiler room. Loss, near a million dollars.

A Hard Fight. CHICAGO, May 30-1 a. m.—A hard fought fight between Edward Seward, a heavy weight of Cleveland, and Alfred Matthews, of Canada, alleged to have been arranged by a government official, was prevented last night by the police and all the participants arrested.

FOREIGN EVENTS.

The Excitement in Ireland Never at as High a Pitch as at Present.

The Military Ordered Out in Anticipation of a General Uprising.

Fresh Outrages in St. Petersburg, and the Czar's Life is in Jeopardy.

THE COERCION ACT. LONDON, May 28-10 p. m.—Official advices show that there never was such excitement in Ireland as at present, and the enforcement of the coercion act and evictions. Incendiary fires are numerous, and the destruction of property is increasing. A grand general uprising of the peasantry is believed to be imminent. Extraordinary orders have been given to military authorities in anticipation of a general uprising.

AN UNEXPECTED OBSTACLE. PARIS, May 28-10 p. m.—The French column of 400 in Tunis has met with an unexpected obstacle in its progress by reason of the scarcity of the men and horses, and they are now returning from Djedida to a point near Barde.

EMANCIPATING THE SERFS. VIENNA, May 28-10 p. m.—According to reports circulated it would seem by the revolutionary party in Austria, the government is about to abandon dynamite and for the present to resort to means injurious only to the person aimed at. In the first place, the government is about to inform that the czar, upon enacting the serfs, ordered land to be given them gratis, and this is only one of the many concessions of the official world and well-to-do classes generally, that they are made to pay for what is legitimately their own.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

CHICAGO, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

DETROIT, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

GENERAL NEWS.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

PERSONALS.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

REGISTRATION LIST.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

REGISTERED LIST.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10 p. m.—A special to The News says that a disease which has been named hog cholera, and which is fatal to the swine at the state agricultural school at Lansing. Fourteen of the most valuable blooded-porkers have died and still there are many others in the pens. Professor Johnson says it is not hog cholera, but equally fatal and much resembles it.

NEW YORK, May 28-10