A DESERTED VILLAGE.

Albany Assumes a Meek and Humble Garb on the Sabbath Morn.

Hotels and Public Resorts Deserted by the Politicians.

The Adjournment Plan of Settlement Daily Gaining Strength.

Garfield's Victory at Chicago Rankles in Grant's Breast.

And He Embraces Every Opportunity to Show His spleen.

National Associated Press.

THE END IS NEAR. ALBANY, June 12.—There are many who believe the present week will make the election of Rogers and Dewey, or, if not, final adjournment of the legislature will, perhaps, be effected. While all the republicans assert they are prepared and determined to remain till December, yet the most casual observer can note a growing belief that the issue had best be left with people for final settlement. Already the public press have commenced publishing an adjournment and marked papers of such advice are received daily and freely distributed.

There is no excitement at the hotels to-day, nearly all the politicians having gone home.

A Talk with Grant.

National Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Gen. Grant, accompanied by his wife, Col. Fred. Grant and Miss Sharpe, arrived at this city early yesterday morning and are stopping at the Palmer house. It was the general's intention to proceed to Galena Monday, but owing to the poor health of Mrs. Grant he will remain here until Wednesday, when he goes directly to New York. In health the general is as well as he has been for some time, looking well satisfied with the result of his trip to Mexico. "I accomplished my purpose," he said in conversation, "having obtained all that I went for without any great difficulty, despite the attempts of certain newspapers and persons here to create an opposition through talk of annexation, &c., that was caused, I think, by people interested in other roads who did not want to see a company operating in Mexico that they did not control or have an interest in. The articles that were published by the papers here were copied into those of Mexico, and at first caused a little opposition, but I went before congress and in a short speech told them what I wanted, and they gave my charter at once. One was never issued before in so short a time. The road will be in all about 700 miles long, running from the City of Mexico through Pueblo to the Pacific coast, while another runs down to the gulf. It will be a great benefit to Mexico in developing the resources of the country, and to the United States, because in exchange for commodities Mexico will take such productions as we best can spare without depriving us of any precious metal. The charter provides for the completion of the road in ten years, but in all probability it will be finished in three years. Four surveying parties are already at work. I shall very likely return their next winter."

BROTHERLY LOVE.

National Associated Press.

"General, the situation of affairs at Albany is of great importance just now. Have you any objections to giving your opinion on it?" "If you want to know what I think of the matter in which Mr. Conkling has been treated by the president and his colleagues in the senate, I will tell you without any hesitation. I think it is most outrageous, and if you want to know where I stand in the present contest I will tell you that I am with Conkling and Platt. Mr. Conkling is my friend; he has been a warm supporter of mine, but for all that I do not owe him near so much to-day as Garfield. It is true that Mr. Conkling did not support Garfield in the Chicago convention, but he saved him in November. Without New York state Mr. Garfield could not have been elected, and without Mr. Conkling New York state would not have gone republican. Whenever the cause could be traced to Conkling and his personal efforts. When I say that Garfield owes more to Conkling than I do, I do not mean to underestimate the obligations that I owe to him, but I was elected once without the state of New York, and when it did go for me I would have been elected without it. When Mr. Conkling went to Warren and commenced his vigorous campaign for the republican party, Garfield matters looked very serious. Defeat was almost certain; it was then, and then only, that the republicans took heart and from that time on the battle turned. Mr. Conkling went into the campaign because he was a republican and because he desired the success of his party. Defeat was almost certain because of any trade he had made

Secretary Window in Chicago.

National Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Secretary Window visited the board of trade yesterday afternoon, and addressed that body. His remarks were mainly on transportation. He was in favor of a system which would permit competition, and that system was connection with the great lakes and rivers. He had noticed that the competitive influence of the Erie canal was felt by the railroads. He called attention to the importation of the $100,000,000 in gold, and the digging out of the earth of from $20,000,000 to $100,000,000 more during last year. He believes that this condition would continue for a long time. He saw no indication of a change and there would be none so long as the people paid their debts and were not extravagant. Secretary Window alluded to the successful refunding measures of the government. He said that within sixty days the 34 per cent loan was taken, with the privilege of redeeming them to-morrow or 50 or with Garfield. It was in accord with the resolutions which he offered in the national convention pledging the support of every delegate to the candidates nominated, whoever they might be. That was done because several had declared that if I was nominated they would bolt."

"How about the Mentor treaty of which we have heard so much, general?"

"There wasn't a word of truth in the sensational reports that were published concerning what occurred during our visit. We were in the state representing, and in compliance with Garfield's often repeated request, I determined to call at Mentor, as it could be done without putting us too much out of the way. Conkling said that he would go with me. We arrived at Garfield's home and found a crowd of people there, probably one hundred and fifty in all. We went into the house and set down, talked with Garfield and others present, but not a word was said by either Conkling or myself to Garfield in the way of a treaty or bargain, nor was any understanding of any kind whatever arrived at. All that we said while with Garfield was in a general way, and could be heard by those around."

BE CAUTIONS.

A circular issued by the treasury department yesterday directs all custom officers and steamboat inspectors to be very rigid and careful in looking after excursion and regular steamers to see that they are not over-crowded.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Judge Lawrence, first comptroller of the treasury, has just rendered a decision of very general importance. In 1871, Nathan Allsop paid $2.50 per acre for lands said to be within the limits of the government grant to the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, at Augusta, Kansas, and afterwards discovered that the land was not within the limit he secured from the commissioner of the land office, a conditional promise of refunding $1.50 per acre. It transpired, however, that Allsop had sold the land before the claim for refunding was made, although he says that he did not sell his interest in any money due him from the government. The comptroller was asked to decide whether the excess payment should be paid to the original locator of the land or the party to whom he had sold it. The statute of June 16, 1870, expressly provides that such excess shall be paid to the original purchaser of the land from the government, his heirs or assigns. Judge Lawrence decided that when such specification of persons are made, all others are excluded by inference and that when the sale has been made before a refund is made to the original purchaser, the excess is to be paid to the person holding the title, the claim for a refunding not being assessable as one separate and distinct from the land. The excess in the case will be paid to the parties holding the land sold by Allsop. There are 200 cases pending in western courts on this decision.

THE AGRICULTURAL BUREAU.

DR. GEO. B. LORING, who assumes duties as the new commissioner of agriculture on the first of July, has plans for an extension of the department, which he endeavored to make it one of the most important under the government. These plans include no particular revision of the force of employees, but an extension of its scope. The new buildings to be erected will be pushed rapidly to completion and no time is lost in developing the features which are to raise this bureau above its present level. Dr. Loring hopes to make the agricultural department a universal authority, aiding farmers, and he bases his hopes upon the successful cooperation of the farmers, agricultural experimental stations. The report that Dr. Loring's ambition is to secure for the agricultural commissioner a place in the cabinet is discredited by his friends, who think they know him well enough to attribute his zeal to purely scientific motives.

POSTMASTERS.

The president has commissioned postmasters as follows: John B. Nickolls, at Denton, Texas; Elliot B. Rogers, at Red Oak, Iowa.

THEM EARLS.

Judge Advocate General Swaine expects to begin at once the revision of the voluminous evidence submitted with the verdict of the court martial in the case of Cadet Whittaker.

He expects to make arrangements to race before long.

TURTLE NOTABLES.

CINCINNATI, June 12.—The rumor that Maud S had been thrown out of training and would not trot this season, is denied by George Stone, her manager. She is exercised daily and is in fine form. Vanderbilt, her owner, has refused to allow her to be entered for the special purse offered for St. Julien, Sorrel Dan and Maud S, though she will appear alone.

FOREIGN NEWS.

MORE MEETINGS have been proclaimed in South Meath, Ireland.

The French ministers will hasten a general election if asked to do so by the chamber of deputies.

The impression prevails that immense quantities of fire arms are concealed in various parts of Ireland.

The London papers comment very strongly on the Liverpool outrages. The Times advocates stern remedies.

The feeling in Dublin is that the attempt to blow up the town hall in Liverpool was not connected with the Fenians.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that Turkey has resolved to address a general election if asked to do so by the French protectorate over Tunis.

The Irish government are warmly pressed to suppress the land league by an order in council. The law officers maintain that the league is illegal, but that the government wish to exercise caution.

Sarah Bernhardt began an engagement at the Gaiety Theatre Saturday, and received a tremendous reception. The prince and princess of Wales and a brilliant audience were present.

It is believed to be certain that very important cabinet changes are to be made in the German cabinet soon. Prince Hatzfeld, now minister at Constantinople, is to be replaced, Hatzfeld is to be made minister of foreign affairs.

At a monster meeting of the telegraph clerks of both sexes, held Saturday in London, a resolution was passed to strike unless the postmaster-general accedes to their demands recently made. Immediate steps will be taken to stop all work.

SECOND RATE ROYALTY.

VIENNA, June 12.—The example set by Roumania in assuming the title, rank and dignity of royalty, will now appear certain, he soon followed by Servia. It is believed that the proclamation of Servia as a kingdom, and of Prince Milan as king of Servia, will take place at the latest in August or September next, after the return of Prince Milan from his summer stay in one of the baths of western Germany.

Wheat Crop in Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 12.—Secretary Fisher of the state department of agriculture has issued a monthly report showing that over half the fall wheat in the northern portion of the state has been plowed up and the remainder will yield but 55 per cent of the average crop. In the central counties of the state 44 per cent of the crop has been plowed under and the remainder will yield but 45 per cent of the average crop. In the southern grain division the crop is much damaged, not over 16 per cent being plowed under. The wheat harvest will be much later than usual. Complaints of injury by chinch bug, army worm and bad weather prepares the public for even more discouraging reports.

A Bride's Strange Freak.

DETROIT, Ill., June 9.—A decided sensation was occasioned here last night at 12 o'clock by the unaccountable conduct of a bride, the wife of a young doctor, to whom she was united in marriage at Owensboro, Ky., on Tuesday morning last. The pair left Owensboro, and arrived at Evansville, Ind., that evening, and stopped at the St. George hotel. They reached here last evening and occupied room 32, on the third floor of the St. Nicholas hotel. They were modest in their demeanor, and attracted no particular attention. During the early part of the evening the young doctor spent a few minutes in the office, making inquiries about relations residing in the western part of the county. He retired soon after 10 o'clock, and between 11 and 12 those in the neighborhood of the hotel were startled on hearing the wild screams of a female who seemed to be in great fright, and determined to do bodily injury to herself. The woman was the bride, who deliberately jumped out of one of the east windows of the room, but instead of striking the brick pavement below, fell almost lengthwise upon the balcony twelve feet beneath the window, from which she emerged almost only in her night-clothes. An officer rushed upon the balcony, but when he arrived the woman, who had climbed over the railing, was about to drop off, but he caught her, and finally dropped her into the arms of two men beneath the balcony. She seemed strangely frightened about something, and on referring to her husband, cried out: "Kill him; take him away, take him away." She was borne to her room, but she became so violent that her mortified husband had to leave and stay away all night. She has a strong aversion to her husband, though she pronounces him one of the kindest of men and the best man in Kentucky. The loony bride became rational this forenoon, and left for Niantic in company with her husband and relations. She was not seriously injured by the fall. The episode is the talk of the town.

It is learned that the lady in explaining her conduct said she had crept quietly from her bed, leaving her husband asleep, and threw herself from the window with the intention of killing herself. The reason she gave for the act was her aversion to married life, of which she had had only two days' experience. She said her husband was very respectable, but she was determined not to live with him. Her strange conduct is attributed to insanity by Dr. Chenoweth, who examined her.

Sargent Bros., Druggists, Delta, O., write that they are having great success with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and that they never sold anything that gave such universal satisfaction.

KEENE-OH!

The Fleetfooted Foxhall Wins the "Grand Prix de Paris" on Long Champs.

A Victory as Glorious as That of Iroquois on Epsom Downs.

An Immense Multitude Witnessed the Defeat of the French Thoroughbreds.

National Associated Press.

THE GREAT RACE.

PARIS, June 12.—The greatest excitement prevailed here this morning over the race for the "grand prix de Paris." Soon after noon the avenues leading to the race course along the Champs, the outskirts of the Bois de Boulogne, were crowded. The throng on the course was simply tremendous, and exceeded anything ever witnessed at Long Champs notwithstanding the weather was threatening and warm. Among the throng were many foreigners including Americans who had come in large numbers from various parts of Europe for the purpose of witnessing the race, their interest being centered on Foxhall, on whom they had wagered large sums.

When the signal was given to clear the course and bring the horses to a start the excitement was intense. The horses got away in good shape. Foxhall leading and maintaining the lead to the end. M. Haras De Chamant's colt, Triester, second, and Count F. De Lagrange's Albin third.

SUMMARY.—Grand Prix De Paris 150,000 francs in specie for two-year-olds of every description and country. Second horse to receive 10,000 franc and the third 5,000 francs out of the stake; course about one mile and seven furlongs. Mr. James R. Keene's B. C. Foxhall by King Alfonso, out of Jammetta (Forlihan); M. Haras D. Chamant's C. H. C. Triester, by Heimit of the Thrift (Archer); Count F. De Lagrange's B. C. Albin, by Counselor of the Abbess (Gouter).

THE EXCITEMENT IN NEW YORK.

National Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The interest in this city in the "Grand Prix" race was something unprecedented and special arrangements were made by the newspapers that intended publishing extra editions, and sporting men to get a report at the earliest moment. The first announcement Mr. Keene received of the great victory of his colt, Foxhall, was by the agent of the National Associated Press. Mr. Keene expressed his pleasure and was congratulated by his friends. He seemed to care most for the fact that he had succeeded in demonstrating that American bred horses were superior to foreign bred.

Trades Talking.

National Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 12.—A mass meeting of the printers was held to-day. About 2,000 persons were present. The principal object of the meeting was to induce all men working at the trade to join the union so that they might be in position in the fall to obtain an increase of wages.

At the mass meeting of brewers who are on a strike, held to-day, it was resolved to hold out until the losses accrued to the demands. The parade of brewers who are on a strike will take place to-morrow morning.

Fact and Fiction.

A Maine man twelve years ago left his wife and child at dinner and sauntered away. Ten years later he sat one day in a hut under the comfortable shadow of Table mountain, Cal., a tired, unlucky, spiritless miner, eating his brunette bacon and baked beans. His wife and daughter, the latter nearly out of her teens, walked in. Raising his eyes from the pipe, he merely remarked, "Ye've got here at last, hey ye!" and again attacked his brunette bacon and his baked beans. Two years elapsed, the wife disappeared from that home, and the other day she was found fourth in a walking mile, credited with 398 miles, while the daughter, forsaken by a lover, tried to drown herself. The girl is now in an Oakland lunatic asylum, the mother is training for another match, and the miner, sitting under the comfortable shadow of Table Mountain, munching his brunette bacon and his baked beans. Yet they say that fiction is not stranger than fact.

St. Louis Republican.

It is something unusual indeed that the Republican consents to editorially forward the interests of advertisers of what are known as patent medicines, as it does not frequently fall out that we can have positive knowledge of their merits. However we take pleasure in saying of St. Jacobs Oil from individual experiment, that it is a most excellent remedial agent, and as such we can heartily recommend it.
