This road is a rival to the U. P. branch running northwest from Granger, and it is asserted is backed by the C., B. & Q. road. It is incorporated at $4,200,000 Its line of route will be from some point on the Central Pacific at or near Corinne, through the grain and cattle producing valleys of northern Utah, into Wyoming, most probably down into Wyoming, most probably down the valley of Bear river. Some high times are expected during the construction between it and the Union Pacific, as both lines pass through some of the most difficult defiles and ravines in the country, where the room is not abundant for one line, much less for two.

The three consolidated roads, the Utah Central, Southern and Southern Extension, have organized, with Sidney Dillon as president and John Sharp as vice president and general manager. lately incorporated under the name of the Salt Lake & Western, will be of Dillon, Ames, Clark and Dodd-ridge, whilst its resident directors are Le Grande Young, the U. P. attorney in this city, A. Doremus, railroad surveyor, and W. W. Peter, manager of the Utah & Nevada. This new road starts from Lehi, an agricultural settlement on the Utah Central, about twenty-five miles south of this place, and will run westward into California, connecting in Nevada with the a knot and hide away in a corner of his road of the same name, lately incorporated in that state. Meanwhile the U. P. is crowding its northern branch, that runs from Wyoming to

But, oh the dust! No rain, every thing, except moistened by artificial irrigation, is drying up and our broad avenues are a sea of pulverized granite and sandstone, which the least wind disturbs and sends rolling heavenward, penetrating every nook and crevice, and making outdoor life the antipode of enjoyment. A dust storm in Salt Lake City is a terror to strangers unaccustomed to its peculiarities. It rolls up from the west or south like the hot simoon. It is heralded by a suffocating breeze, then follow the clouds of heavy dust, accumulating as they tear at hurricane speed through the streats and seventhe family.

"Father of the Girl"—Your best plan is to start to go to bed the next time George calls, the same as usual. Let your boots drop so he will be sure to hear them. Then cook yourself up in an arm chair with a pitcher of lemonade, and wait. The best view of the comet is to be about 2 a. m. At that hour walk quietly out on the front porch. George will try to hustle the girl off his knee. You don't want to let on that you notice this at all, but just say that you have long noticed their affection for each other, and while Marry has always been the family pet you know that some time she must leave the old home-stead, and sever the ties that bind her to a mother's love and a father's watchful care. Such is the case in Utah just now, the husbandman is overwhelmed with his ripening crop, the trader is busy in his store, and the artizan finds all that his hands can do. Railroad matters alone continue to attract general attention; of them, for want of other items, I must write.

In the district court, Douglas County. To Samuel C. Davis, Caroline Davis, Elizabeth B. Tomilisson and the heirs or devises of Henry T. Tomilisson, deceased whose real names are unknown, non-resident defendants. You are hereby notified that John T. Davis, plaintiff and present owner of the land hereinafter described, did on the 17th day of June, A. D. 1880, the said Henry T. Tomilinson, and Elizabeth B., his wife, executed and delivered to the said Samuel C. Davis a deed of lands situated in said county in which a portion of the lands intended to be conveyed was by a clerical error erroneously described as the north 1 instead of the west 1 of the west 1 of the southwest 1 of sec. No. 1, in township No. 14 north of range No. 11 east according to the true intent of the parties thereto, which deed is duly recorded in the office of the elected of the county of Douglas in book M of deeds at page 182.

The object and prayer of said petition is that said error be corrected and that said deed be construed as conveying the west 1 of the southwest quarter of said section No. one, and that the title thereto be adjudged to be in said plaintiff or in those lawfully claiming under him the same as if said error had not been made and that you and each of you be forever excluded from any interest in said land on account of said error and for such other to further relief as may be just and right in the premises. And your are and each of you is hereby notified to appear and answer said petition on or before the ist day of August, A. D., 1881.
