sheriff of Lincoln county, went to that place taking with him John Peoe and Kit McKinney. Arriving in town they went to the house of Pete Maxwell, where Pat advanced and entered leaving his companions at the door, and in a low tone of voice asked if Billy the Kid were on his premises. He was told that he was not, but was not far off. The conversation had not lasted two minutes when a man in his stocking feet, hervily armed and with people will observe the day set apart a stealthy step, pushed the open door noiselessly aside and entered. Maxwell took in the situation at a glance, The telegram refers to the refusal of and whispered in scarcely audible oberts to join in the project of a natione, "say that's him." Pat knew what that meant, but had not time to prepare himself for action until the eutlaw approached the bed on which Maxwell was reclining, and near which sat Garrett. Seeing a third party in the room, he asked, "Who are you?" The second time the question was asked, and as he came nearer with a pointed revolver in his hand, aimed at a man he little thought was Garrett. The latter, who had taken advantage of the dim, uncertain light to get his weapon ready for use, brought it to bear on the Kid, shooting him through the heart the first pull of the trigger.

He died in two minutes without uttering a word. The Optic to-night editorially says of the affair: Billy the Kid was the terror not only of Lincoln county but of the whole territory; a young des-perado who has long been noted as a bold thief, a cold-blooded murderer, having, perhaps, killed more men than any person of his age in the world, has at last received his just dues. All mankind rejoices, and the newspapers will now have something else to talk about. It is now in order for Pat Garrett to be well rewarded for his services in ridding the territory of this desperado. He is in very moderate circumstances, but has spent many dollars in his pursuit of the Kid. Already we understand a subscription paper is circulating for that purpose. It should be signed by all, and other counties who alike breathe join in and make a substantial show-receiving an ovation of congratula-tions from the citizens. He will prob was only 20 years and 10 months old, good looking, and hailed from New York. His career commenced four years ago at Camp Apache, where he shot and killed James J. Young, a government blacksmith. The celebrated Lincoln county war in 1878 gave him full sway. In June of that year he and four companions killed Sheriff Brady and Deputy Sheriff Hindman, at Lincoln, riddling them with bullets from behind. In July or the same year he and five others killed Morris Bernstein, clerk, Roberts, and James watch liam P. Morten and Frank Baker, prisoners, and shot them down in cold blood. One of his own men, John McCloskey, remonstrating; he shot and killed him. Last year he shot and killed James Grant and John Garrish at Fort Sumner. He was captured last December by Sheriff larrett, at Stinking Springs, traied in April, and SENTENCED TO BE HANGED on May 13. He escaped on April 27, killing his guards. He openly boasted that he had killed twenty-one men, which is so, as their names can be given. For three long years this boy has kept a large and populous section in a state of terror, and our citizens-are now overjoyed that he has at last met his fate. The territory will pay Sheriff Garrett a reward of $500, and thers, Ten more are expected to the cicizens of the territory will enstart to-morrow. These men justify deavor to raise him $2,500 more.

The Railread War.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The western trunk railroads are selling tickets at the reduced rates of yesterday; $6 to Cincinnati, $10 to Chicago, and tested the virtue of the oil, made him a present of a bottle, and, to Frank's wonder and delight the first application afforded sensible relief; before much lower rates than the regular offices, and in some of them tickets to Big Demand for Laborers.

New York, July 20.- Large as the mmigration is the demand for labor at Castle Garden exceeds the supply. The superintendent of the labor bureau says that within the past 24 hours he had orders for a thousand men at nine dollars a week which he was unable to fill. Orders had come from railroads in all parts of the country, as well as New York state; from mill owners, iron manufacturers and farmers.

Sunstrokes. J. H. Scott, a civil engineer in the employ of the Union Pacific railway company, was overcome by the heat while engaged in his surveying work in the neighborhood of Sheeley's packing house yesterday. He was at once taken in hand by his companions and carried to a shade and plenty of ice applied to his head and body. Dr. Chadwick was sent for and soon arrived and with his assistance the young man was soon in a comfortable condition and out of danger. Mr. Scott was assistant to Inglis who received the fatal sunstroke a short time ago and attended him faithfully during his illness. The day before Ingliswas overcome by the heat Scott was similarly affected, but only to a slight extent, and then Inglis attended him. One of Steele, Johnson & Co.'s. teamsters was overcome by the heat while driving near the U. P. depot yesterday. He toppled over from his wagon and fell to the ground. He easier because the Kid is dead should was picked up by bystanders and ing of their appreciation of Pat Gar-
