Another Searching Party.

About 5 o'clocka. m. Saturday a party of young men from the U. P. headquarters started down the river to Plattsmouth in the endeavor if possible to discover some trace of the missing De Losks. The party consisted of E. L. Winslow, M. Neville, F. Winning, Geo. W. Lyndon, Charles F. Slack. They started off in two boats, each of which was in charge of a boatman. The intention was to carefully search each bank of the river as far as Plattamouth, and if no trace was found of De Loska to return by train with the boats in the evening. They were unsuccessful.
