He awoke only at long intervals. The appearance of the gland this morning before the dressings were removed was satisfactory and the size was noticeably less. The general appearance of the president this morning is bright and cheerful and his facial expression improved.

All the surgeons were present at the morning examination. After the bulletin was issued the gland and wound were dressed, and the presihad a sponge bath of alcohol and water. There was a liberal discharge of pus from the gland, and the general appearance is satisfactory. The wound remains about the same. The president's skin is cool and moist and of a good color.

In addition to the usual nourishment the president was given a piece of broiled steak. He swallowed only the juice and seemed to enjoy it. The callers at the White House this morning were few. Only two or three members of the cabinet have been there. Dr. Agnew returns to Philadelphia to-day. Dr. Hamilton will remain here until Saturday.

ANOTHER OFFICIAL BULLETIN. EXECUTIVE MANSION, 8 p. m.-The president has passed a better day than for some time. He has taken food with increased relish, and the usual afternoon rise of temperature did not occur. At the evening dressing the fluid used to wash out the parotid abscess found its way into the mouth, which it did not do this morning, showing that an opening to the mouth has spontaneously occurred. The abscess is discharging freely, and the swelling continues to diminish. There is some increase of a discharge of pus from the wound. Pulse 109, temperature 98.8, respiration 18.

JEALOUSY'S FATAL JAWS. Bloody Encounter Between Two Men in Chicago

CHICAGO, August 31.—A desperate and fatal fight 'took place early this morning in the hall of a tenement house at No. 375 Wabash avenue, occupied by James B. Duncan and named Thomas H. Lowry. The latter had just reached home and was pre-paring to take a bath before retiring. Stepping into the hall to reach the bath room he met Duncan. The immediate cause of the quarrel is not known, but a pistol shot aroused the inmates of the house, who found Lowry breathing his last. Duncan was found locked up in his room covered with blood. There has been bad feeling for a long time between the two on account of Lowry's alleged intimacy with Duncan's wife.
