A Signal Victory.
The value of electricity as a remedial agent has gained a signal victory over prejudice. "Thomas' Electric Oil" stands foremost in this class of compounds. Testimonials from all parts tell of the wonderful cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, neuralgia, and sores, etc., effected by its agency.
It pays to trade at Kurtz's.

The Iowa roads with the exception of the Sioux City, which will charge full rates both ways, make similar offers.

Another Boom for the Fair.
The Salt Lake Tribune says: "There will be an excursion from Utah to the Nebraska State Fair, and half rates will pay the passage. Doubtless the tickets will be good long enough for any one to transact business or pay a visit in the East, and it is a sure thing that many will go. We presume articles for exhibition will be transported free, and since the articles which Utah will send to the Atlanta Cotton Exposition are to be exhibited at the Nebraska Fair, it will be a good time to send also a selection of the more perishable articles to Omaha, just to show what Utah can do."

FORTY CATTLE KILLED, And Several Persons Injured in a Collision.

The passenger train on the Rock Island railroad which arrived in Council Bluffs Wednesday was about seven hours late. The cause of the delay was an accident which occurred early yesterday morning near Altoona, Iowa. The train was bowling along at a lively rate, when suddenly it met an obstruction in the form of a caboose and several cars filled with cattle. The cars and caboose had become detached from the remainder of a freight train and had commenced running backwards down quite a heavy grade in the track. The passenger train was moving westward and the freight cars eastward. The force of the collision was terrific, the caboose being run right up onto the engine. There were three men and a boy in the caboose at the time, and they were thrown violently some distance out of the car, it being smashed all into small pieces. One of the men was badly injured about the head and the boy's leg broken. The others escaped with a severe shaking up. No passengers were injured, although the train left the track and was pretty badly demoralized. The caboose and two cattle cars were completely wrecked. Forty cattle in the cars were killed outright. The little boy had a most miraculous escape from death. He was thrown from the caboose down under the engine, but happened to light in such a position that he only suffered the breaking of his leg. A special train was made up at Des Moines, and the passengers transferred to it. A temporary track was laid around the wreck and the train proceeded on its way.

E. W. Hopkins, Esq., of the Baltimore & Norfolk Steamship Co., Boston, Mass., says: I have used St. Jacobs Oil in my family for a year, and in cases of neuralgia, rheumatism, sprains, bruises and the like, I can find nothing to equal it. My wife was troubled with neuralgia in her shoulders and limbs for more than a year, and after two applications of the Oil found a sudden relief.

A CAUTIOUS MAN.

He Can be Insulted But Will Never Pay a Fine.

A man with a tremor in his voice and limited confidence in the steadiness of his legs, entered Judge Beneke's court yesterday and sidling on to the little pedestal where the court usually sits said:

"Say judge, what do you charge a man for lickin' a feller?"

"That depends on circumstances," said the court. "Was the man who was hit a cripple?"

"No, judge, he was bigger'n me; almost as big a man as you. This man he called me a liar, an' I wanted him to go outside the city limits and fight it out. He wouldn't go, so I called around to see what the fine would be in case I licked him. You see, judge, I'm a poor man with a wife and two children, so I hope you'll make it as light as you kin."

The judge told the cautious individual that the usual fine imposed in simple assaults was $3 and costs.

"Think I'll lick him," said the man. "What if he licks you?" suggested a bystander.

This seemed to be a phase of the case he had not considered. After studying awhile he said:

"Guess it wouldn't pay after all because I've a family to support. Tellyou what I'll do, judge," said he again turning to the court; "I'll just wait until that fellow licks me an' then you bet I'll have 'im landed up before you."

"Good idea," said the judge, while the fellow sidled out of the court with the look of a man who had gained some valuable information.

In addition to the flavor, beverages ought to be judged by the effect they have upon the system. While some Beers make drowsy, "Conrad's Budweiser" exhilarates and strengthens the system against climatic influences.

Old Phil's Death.
After much suffering Phil, McCafferty, better known as Old Phil, died yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital. He had been in the institution for one year and eight months and during that time had undergone intense sufferings. He had been sick about two years. He was at the time in the far west and worth some money but all of it was spent on physicians before he came here. For six months past he was actually unable to move in bed. He was suffering from an affection of the heart and a post mortem disclosed that three of the ribs had been absorbed during the illness.

WM. ROBERTS

Smothered to Death Under a Falling Embankment.

A telephone message received last yesterday at Coroner Jacob's office conveyed the information that a young man named Wm. Roberts had been killed some time previously at Fitter's brick yard, in the north-western part of the city. Roberts was employed there as a teamster, and while engaged in loading his wagon, the embankment under which he stood caved in. He was covered under the avalanche of earth, which buried him so deeply that notwithstanding the desperate efforts to reach him he was dead before he could be gotten out. He was carried from under the embankment by his fellow workmen, and word at once sent to the coroner, who immediately started to the spot to hold an inquest. Roberts was well known in the city and had many friends. He will be buried from Jacob's undertaking room Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, the funeral being postponed to enable his sick sister to see the remains.

HOI FOR COOL MINNESOTA.
The Last Excursion to the Great Summer Resorts—$12.00 for the Round Trip.

Another excursion, the last of the season to this famous summer resort of cool Minnesota, has been arranged to leave Council Bluffs on September 5th, at 7:45 p. m., by the great Sioux City route. The rate will be the lowest ever given over this line, the round trip being only $12.00. Just think of it. It is cheaper to travel than to stay at home. The tickets are good for fifteen days. This will give an excellent opportunity for everybody to visit the greatest fair in the northwest, at Minneapolis, which lasts all week, commencing September 5th. The rates at this fair will be well worth traveling twice the distance to see. No such opportunity for genuine enjoyment will be offered again this season, and all who take advantage of the exceedingly low rates will be sure to get their money's worth fourfold. HE SAYS HE'S EVEN,

But Settled His Board Bill All the Same.

A young fellow of town who puts on more style than the average agent of a fourth-class circus, and has much more confidence in his personal charms, was boarding recently at one of the first class hotels of the city. He only boarded there a short time until his overbearing manners and extreme rudeness at the table disgusted every other guest in the house. The matter was finally reported to the proprietor who suggested to the youth that it would probably be advisable for him to seek other quarters. This was in last April and the fellow left the house and an unpaid board bill. Several notes were sent with a request to settle up but they were treated with cool disdain until yesterday when a suit was threatened if an immediate settlement did not follow. In reply to this the young man inclosed the amount of the bill with a note which read as follows:

"I have the satisfaction of knowing at least that I have made you earn this and am even."

The extreme felicity of the wording together with the high moral tone of the note show how elevated is this youngster's standard. It would be a very pleasant duty to show this intemperate parody up to the contempt of the community, as he pretends to be a society man.

Is it Possible?
That a remedy made of such common, simple plants as hops, buchu, man-drake, dandelion, etc., make so many and such marvelous and wonderful cures as Hop Bitters? It must be, for when old and young, rich and poor, pastor and doctor, lawyer and editor, all testify to being cured by them, we must believe and doubt no longer.
