

COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Record of a Day's Doings in Iowa's Metropolis.

The Republican Ticket and Other Political Matters.

Reclaimed From Shame—And General News.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET

For Representatives, H. O. SEIFFERT, E. I. LAYTON. For Member Board of Supervisors, J. R. MATLACK. For Treasurer, JOHN BENNETT. For Auditor, T. A. KIRKLAND. For Sheriff, THEODORE GUITTAR. For Superintendent of Schools, MISS INGLETTA SMITH. For Surveyor, SAMUEL DEBENTON. For Coroner, HENRY FAUL.

The above ticket was not a surprise to THE BEE.

John Bennett, as all know, is just the man needed in our Treasury department, although the present incumbent has done his duty well, as all parties who have transacted business with Mr. Thomas Bowman will bear testimony that Mr. Bowman has been a long and well tried officer, and without a county office of some kind would be obliged to go into the country and take up a farm, as he is homesteaded unless he is in company with the farmers of Pottawattamie. Mr. Bennett will be elected by 800 majority.

The selection of T. A. Kirkland to succeed Mr. Bennett was natural enough. Of long and tried experience as deputy auditor and Mr. Bennett, he could not be otherwise than fitted in every way to succeed him, and we are glad the convention in this selection went in for fitness instead of political friendship. There is no doubt that Mr. Kirkland will manipulate the office in the interest of the people of this county regardless of party. When J. M. Phillips says that Theodore Guittar is a young man worthy of the support and confidence of the people of this county, THE BEE is inclined to think so too. Mr. Phillips has known him from youth up, and if he was not fitted in every way for the position we have confidence enough in Mr. Phillips' integrity to believe that he would not declare otherwise. Our knowledge of Mr. Guittar is limited, still we believe him to be a young man in every way suited for the office. His experience as one of our constables for many years has had a tendency to make him vigilant and active, and if elected he will make a good sheriff. We understand that Mr. Guittar served as a member of Judge Reed's battery during the war and like a good soldier never proved recreant to any trust imposed in him. Mr. Chapman, candidate to succeed Eli Clayton, J. B. Matlack is comparatively a stranger to us and we understand he is a young farmer and a nephew to J. B. Corbally, who put him before the convention. He served four years in the Fifteenth Indiana battery, consequently has seen more real hard fighting than Chapman himself. The female who is to accompany them on the campaign, and whose cause before the convention was so ably and successfully championed by our esteemed Mayor, C. M. Harle, was Miss Inglettta Smith, of Omaha. She is a very highly educated young lady graduate from our high school, a teacher of undoubted capability, and in every sense qualified for the office, although we think it inconsistent to nominate women to an office that she must reach by votes, and at the same time the candidate is not qualified to assume the responsibility of an elector. We believe that the ballot-box is no place for women, either in person or name. There is no doubt that Miss Smith, if she keeps pretty close to John Bennett, will get there all right. THE BEE reporter traveled one week with Samuel Denton, the successful nominee for surveyor, and can vouch for his skill as a measure of the earth's surface, a gentleman of experience in the business both in and out of the office, a good soldier during the rebellion, always found at his post of duty and never went to sleep on picket. He deserves the cordial support of his party, which he will no doubt receive and be elected by a handsome majority. The office of coroner fell to Mr. Faul, who has held it for some time. The candidates for this office were not numerous, and Mr. Faul had no difficulty in securing the nomination. If elected, he will make an efficient officer.

LATTER DAY SAINTS

CLOSE OF THEIR ANNUAL CONFERENCE AT PARK'S MILLS. On account of a pressure of engagements THE BEE reporter has been deprived of the privilege of attending the Mormon conference until yesterday morning. We can say that the spot selected as the sanctuary is beautiful. Just enough sun is admitted through the trees to make it cheerful. We had the pleasure of listening to Elder C. Scott, of Indiana, a young man of more than ordinary ability. Mr. Scott took, as the subject of his discourse, as the interview of Niodemus with the saviour, and in a very concise way, explained what was meant by the expression "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." The speaker claimed that the saviour's answer, on this occasion was full and complete. A man must be born again not of the flesh but of water and of the spirit. Mr. Scott is a very pleasant speaker. His enunciation is perfect. Every word is guarded as it falls from his lips. His inflection and intonations are unusually perfect. From the beginning until the close he attracts and holds the attention of his hearers. He shows mental training, scholarly attainments and power not usually possessed by one so young, being, we are informed, but thirty years of age. This being the first Mormon meeting we ever attended, we took special pains to inquire into the church organization. Those who belong to this branch of the Mormon church claim to be descended from the original church, and to have always kept the faith, while the Brighamites, they say, have departed from the true faith. The church organized with Christ as the head. Next comes Joseph Smith, selected by revelation and sustained by the church as presiding officer. Aided in his work by two councilmen, Wm. W. Blair, of Utah, and David H. Smith, of Illinois. After these come the chosen twelve apostles. They are what are termed the traveling high council to all the world, and are elected by the church for life or during good behavior. Next come the seventy, who are also a traveling high council, and work concurrently with the twelve who are above them in office. These are also elected for life or during good behavior. Their work is principally missionary work. The next in office are the high priests and elders, whose duties are more of a local nature. But the work of all is to do good in the world and convert it to Christ. These people, as we have stated, claim to be the original church and have kept the faith, while the Brighamites have left it and gone off to worship in their lust the false God Polygamy. After the morning service several were received into the church through baptism, R. M. Elvin officiating. E. C. Briggs and Alexander H. Smith were announced speakers for the afternoon. Mr. Briggs is an earnest and effective speaker, and his manner convinces his hearers that his heart is in the cause. At the end of the afternoon service the conference adjourned to meet on the 6th of next April at Independence, Jackson county, Missouri, from which place they were driven in the year 1833. The secretary, Mr. R. M. Elvin, of Nebraska City, Neb., who, by the way, is a very pleasant gentleman, informed THE BEE reporter that their church membership is on the increase; 800 were added last year and their accessions this year will far exceed that number. He says the church was never in a more prosperous condition. All who unite with that branch come of their own volition, while the Brighamites are obliged to use foul or fair means as the case may be to ship in the ignorant and destitute of the old world.

THE COLONEL

AND HIS FAVORITE RETAINER IN GREAT MISERY.

There was quite a sensation created in the court room during the republican convention Friday when Mayor Vaughan entered. His eyes looked swollen, as if something had gone wrong. We understand that he was sitting up with the colonel over the night before the convention. Mr. Vaughan left him in his office not feeling very well when he left for home about 12 o'clock. Fearing something might have happened about daylight Friday morning Mr. Vaughan got up and went down to the colonel's office. Finding a light still burning he walked in, and such a scene. It reminds us of the tent scene in Richard III. The colonel awoke, and with cold drops of sweat standing on his forehead, sprang from his couch, shouting, "Give me another; bind up my wounds. Have mercy, Jesu; soft! I did bat—dream. O, coward-conscience, how dost thou afflict me! It is now dead midnight. Cold, fearful drops stand on my trembling flesh. What do I fear myself? There's none else by. Chapman loves Chapman. That is, I am I. Is there a murderer here? No—yes. I am. Then fly. What from myself? Vaughan—My Lord Chapman—My lord, 'tis I. Colonel—O Vaughan! I have dream'd a fearful dream; what thinkst thou? will our friends prove all true? Vaughan—No doubt, my lord. Chap.—O Vaughan! I fear! I fear! Vaughan—Nay, good my lord, be not afraid of shadows, colonel. By the Apostle Paul, the shadow to-night of that man Clayton has struck more terror to the soul of Chapman than can the substance of ten thousand men like Sapp and Evans. Armed in proof and led by shallow Baldwin, I say, Vaughan, at 2 o'clock come, go with me, and near the court house we'll play the eavesdropper, to see if any mean to shrink from me." Mr. Vaughan repaired, as per agreement, to the court house, and was surprised to find no Chapman there and nearly every delegate shrinking away like an empty beer keg in the noonday sun.

SAVED.

A YOUNG GIRL RESCUED FROM A LIFE OF SHAME.

Yesterday an Omaha backed up to police headquarters, and the driver assisted to alight a fine matronly looking woman, who has climbed the hill of life no doubt. She was richly attired, and as she ascended the stone steps her pent up grief gave vent, and the tears that rolled down her care-worn cheeks told what a tooth of fire had entered the poor woman's heart. She sobbed bitterly as she made known the secret of her coming to the chief of police. Not long since she said her daughter, a bright-eyed and prepossessing girl left her home in Joliet, Ill., and for a long time they could find no trace of her, all correspondence being dropped soon after leaving home. They feared the worst that could befall a young girl had happened. At last, after long and weary months of search and enquiry, she heard she was in a house in this city. The poor woman entirely broke down as she drew her bosom a picture of the fallen but still loved girl. The chief and others of the departments recognized the likeness at once. Chief Field told the woman as she had been traveling for some time that she better go between the street with him and take dinner. Their dinner, Chief Field put the case in the hands of active marshal Morse who believed he knew where the girl was stopping. Together they went to Lou Scott's, on Pierce street, above the Ogden hotel. The mother entered, and on seeing her daughter, cried as if her heart would break. They were soon in each other's embrace. The mother, brookingly, between her sobs: "My daughter! My daughter!" "Oh! my dear mother, or why did I leave you and in this way bring disgrace upon you and father." "Will you go back with me my daughter. Oh, do before you have become hardened." "Will you take me back?—Will father forgive me?" sobbed the girl. "All shall be forgiven." "Then I will return," and mother and daughter left the house in company with officer Morse, and last evening they took the train for home. The young man who has thus been redeemed, was only a stranger to this city a short time ago. Recently she was converted into the ways of the bad, and went to Lou Scott's, on Pierce street, where her mother met her yesterday. At this ladies she went by the name of Ella. She has made herself conspicuous on the streets every evening driving a grey horse and wearing a huge white feather in her hat. She is a rather pretty, prepossessing girl.

THE BLUFFS IN BRIEF.

On Saturday the city of Council Bluffs, on the relation of Hon. C. R. Scott, brought suit in the district court against Mayor Vaughan to recover the sum of $250, with interest, which, it is claimed, was appropriated by the city council and placed at the disposal of the mayor to entertain guests during the Fremont's tournament. Mr. Scott deposes that they may annoy him and his family with dead bodies, but they can't have his money to treat their friends.

At a regular meeting of Abe Lincoln Post No. 29, G. A. R., held September 9, 1881, the following was adopted unanimously: Resolved, That the heartfelt thanks of this post is hereby tendered to Thos. Lytle, proprietor of the Lytle house, Shandaleah, for the kind and generous manner in which our comrade James C. Matwev was received and cared for by him, and ask as a favor that all veterans will call on him when they are at Shandaleah. C. H. HARRISON, P. C. EDWIN J. ABBOTT, Adjutant.

The following gentlemen were selected as the central committee to plan and carry forward the work of the campaign: John W. Baird, Kane township; Edman, Boomer, A. Levenberg; Bultrap, W. A. Conroy; Crescent, A. R. Prentice; Center; Geo. Nash; Groves, Thomas Connor; Garner, G. R. Williams; Hardin, B. R. Chamber; Hazel Dell, J. P. Boulton sr.; Jamet, William Maxwell; Knox, J. C. Adams; Key Creek, M. M. Fay; Layton, M. B. Friabe; Lewis, A. Rogers; Macedonia, B. F. Clayton; Minden, P. Ehlers; Neola, Riley Clark; Norwalk, E. B. Ashley; York, J. E. E. Ralston; York, H. W. Ford; Silver Creek, H. S. Gregory; Valley, Wm. Converse; Washington, J. Turner, Wright, R. D. Hopkins; York, W. L. Harpes; Lincoln, H. B. Jack; Waveland, H. Barnes.

THE BEE reporter was not invited to the Clayton supper, but we can taste it now. When a whole ton of clay gets up an oyster supper it can't help being a success, as his canvass will be.

THE BEE reporter came upon a house in the lower part of the city, where a few evenings since, as reported in these columns, a daring robbery was committed on Low street, a few nights since. Mr. Elson says they entered the house through the pantry window, they then passed through a room in which his girl was sleeping, and from there made their way into his room and took, as reported, his gold watch and chain and five dollars in cash. None of the members of the family were awakened.

We understand that the democrats will run Jimmie O'Neal for sheriff. M. Keating for supervisor and Perry Reel for the legislature.

B. F. Clayton made a very fine speech on accepting the nomination as chairman, a little radical for a conservative, perhaps, yet, better than we have ever heard from him before. He said there was so much good timber in the republican forest that the workers would have no difficulty in building a craft that would sink the democratic party in this county without too much damage to the ship. Mr. Clayton, president, with dignity, and executed the business entrusted to him with unusual promptness and dispatch. On call of their president G. H. Holmes, our five boys met Saturday evening at Bluff City hall.

The Council Bluffs iron shot manufacturing company are to erect a new building in this city a spacious and substantial brick building near the C, B. & Q. depot. This process of manufacturing not being the "drop plan" will dispense with the erection of a tower.

A Farmer's Protective Association was organized in this city last Friday. The following officers for the ensuing year were chosen: President, Jesse Wright, of Crescent; vice-president, T. Kerney, of Great Grove; secretary, D. B. Clark, of Council Bluffs; treasurer, S. G. Underwood.

The individual who borrowed a chair from the office of Porter & Palmer will confer a favor on that firm by returning the same immediately.

Jacob Killim and wife, of Greenview, Maand county, Illinois, are in the city visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Bonham.

A. N. Pich called at THE BEE office yesterday. Mr. Pich is one of the fruit growers of Lewis township also takes hand at farming. He says that his corn crop is as good if not better than last season, and that his vineyard will yield about the same quantity.

Rather a select party was given at the residence of Mr. L. C. Baldwin, corner Sixth street and Willow avenue. The affair was gotten up in honor of his daughter, Miss Mattie Baldwin, and Miss Boyle, sister of Mrs. Baldwin. There was music and refreshments in abundance and dancing was engaged in until a seasonable hour when the company retired.

Doctor McCune says that everything looks favorable for getting the state fair here next year. The committee and after arriving at Des Moines they were met by a number of directors have no voice in the matter. It will develop on a new board to determine where to hold the fair. The doctor thinks however, the popularity of our track will bring it here without a doubt, so the farmers may commence to save up their best varieties of seed for next spring's planting.

Saturday night a man rushed out of the den kept by Stella Long and, approaching officer Barhyte, stated his pants while he was asleep. He wanted a warrant for her arrest forthwith. Not being over and above sympathetic with his officer Barhyte told him he had better delay the arrest until next morning, but he would go with him to chief Fields and see what he had to say. They went to Fields and woke him up. The chief told him he had better wait until morning and not make any more disturbance, as the girl would no doubt be found there in the morning. "Well, old boss," said the man, "who is running this arresting business? I want you to understand I'll have that girl out of there to-night." Chief Field, after being annoyed by the man ordered Barhyte to take him away and if he did not shut up his mouth to lock him up until morning. This closed the follow up and he concluded to wait till morning for his game.

A glimpse of the cup got crazy drunk Saturday, and went dancing down the street to Dr. McCune's residence and declared he would introduce himself to the family. He howled around the door-yard until his conduct became disgusting, when an officer was sent for and he was introduced to Judge Burke to the tune of about $5 and costs.

Two others lodged at the "hotel" Saturday night.

The tax resolutions passed by our county board of supervisors will appear in THE BEE to-morrow morning.

There was preaching at the Mormon chapel in this city last evening. J. M. Harvey, of Magnolia, Iowa, is a Mormon, but takes THE BEE.

One striking feature out at the Mormon camp meeting was the absence of all drunkenness or disorderly behavior yesterday.

Chapman has commenced shedding his hair. Good.

Hold up over there, colonel. We are no "dorg." We don't shed hair like you do.

The driving park is going to increase the stock with something besides water. The following gentlemen were selected at the meeting Saturday evening to solicit subscriptions: Col. W. E. Sappa, Col. D. B. Bailey, Capt. Thomas Swobe, Peter Bechtel, Reuben Bryant and Dr. McCrea.

Five hundred and sixty head of cattle, belonging to Pratt & Ferris, and 480 head belonging to Whitcomb & Miller, were received at the Union stock yards Saturday.

Hon. M. Phillips, in his speech on the Wilson resolution, said that he did not believe in trying representatives up in a package when we sent them to Des Moines. We should select men in whom we can place confidence and let them go unfettered; and he wanted it understood that if they ever selected him to represent them in the legislature he would go there a free man, both mentally and physically, or not at all.

Jay Cole, son of R. S. Cole, has gone to Jacksonville, Ill., to attend school. If the school houses of this city cannot educate our young men we had better close them.
