"I'M VERY HUNGRY,"

Complained President Garfield to a Physician Yesterday Morning,

"And Should Like to Have Some Fruit Before Eating Anything Else."

Therupon a Ripe, Fresh Peach Was Procured, Which He Ate Eagerly.

He is Again Placed in the Suspension Chair Without Serious Results.

At 5:30 P. M., However, He Was Quite Feverish and Pulse More Frequent.

Record at That Hour: Temperature 99.2, Pulse 112, Respiration 21.

National Associated Press.

LONG BRANCH, Sept. 14.—The official bulletin was delayed this morning because the president was sound and prolonged till after eight this morning, and the dressing and examination was delayed on that account. When the president awoke he made the largest speech yet recorded of him, and the physicians quote him as saying: "I'm very hungry and should like to have some fruit before eating anything else. I should like a ripe, fresh peach, and think I could greatly enjoy it, if the doctors do not object."

THE PHYSICIANS said they had no objection, and a fine large and luscious peach was selected and given to him. He took it in his fingers, broke it into two pieces and ate it with great relish. He remarked that it was just what he wanted, and left the other half aside. This is the first fruit in a natural way that the president has eaten since he was shot. The president

FELL ASLEEP last night at about 9 o'clock and dozed about an hour and a half, then his sleep became tranquil and deep, and lasted continuously to 1 o'clock this morning. He awoke and asked for a drink of water which was given him. To this was added, after short intervals, some porridge and a brandy and milk punch. Soon after taking these he fell into an easy sleep, which became profound and lasted without a single awakening until 8 o'clock. The doctor says the most profitable that he has had since July 2d.

THE RESULT THIS MORNING was that he awakened fully at once, like a child, with all the faculties alert. Appearances indicate the greatest gain made in any one night since he has been ill, and his appetite is, in point of fact, almost normal.

SECRETARY OF WAR LINCOLN arrived this morning and had an interview with the president. The secretary's visit was purely informal, and made at the request of the president. The latter made inquiries regarding personal matters, but no personal business was discussed, and the secretary remained only a few moments. He says the president looked and seemed better than expected. The president was changed to the invalid chair shortly after noon to-day, and when wheeled to the window remarked, "Like this. It does me good. I think it should have been done three weeks ago."

9 A. M. BULLETIN—OFFICIAL. ELBERON, September 14.—At the examination of the president at 8:30 this morning the temperature was 98.4, pulse 100, respiration 19. He passed the night comfortably, sleeping sufficiently. He is bright and cheerful this morning, and has taken fruits and his first meat for the day with a relish.

BLISS, HAMILTON. The president remained in the invalid chair one hour and thirty-five minutes and returned to his bed upon the solicitation of the surgeons and then under protest. Immediately upon being placed in bed he fell into a sound slumber. His pulse before removal and after retirement was 104, temperature 90.8, respiration 19.

SIX THIRTY P. M. BULLETIN—OFFICIAL. ELBERON, Sept. 14.—At the examination of the president at noon to-day his temperature was 98.8, pulse 102, respiration 20. At the evening dressing was 99.2, pulse 112, respiration 21. The president was placed on the invalid chair in a semi-recumbent position at about 12 m., and remained one hour and a half, sleeping part of the time. He was not fatigued by the transfer or change of position. His general condition this evening is as favorable as usual, notwithstanding a slight febrile rise.

D. W. BLISS, FRANK HAMILTON, MCGURGH TO LOWELL. LONG BRANCH, Sept. 14.—The following was sent to-night: Lowell, minister, London: There is an increase in the president's temperature, pulse and respiration, but it is so slight as not necessarily to indicate that the condition of the blood is producing any new complication. The trouble in the right lung is not increasing and is causing him less annoyance. He has taken adequate nourishment. His sleep has been natural and refreshing, so that if he has gained nothing he has probably lost nothing during the day.

(Signed) MCGURGH TO LOWELL. The high figures in this evening's bulletin caused considerable alarm, and the people concluded at once there was something more and some new complication had arisen in the case. Drs. Hamilton and Agnew are both present. Rumor had it that during the afternoon the president

HAD A DEPRESSION, superinduced by fatigue caused by his long sitting in the invalid chair, and that another operation had been performed. By the authority of the surgeons it is stated that there is no further complication; that they have no alarm that the president's condition for better is unchanged during the past twenty-eight hours; that

NO SURGICAL OPERATIONS are contemplated or needed; that Dr. Agnew's visit was accidental and personal, accompanied by his wife, who was to remain at the Branch for a brief period. Dr. Bliss said this evening:

"There is no cause for alarm at the high pulse, temperature and respiration. The president steadily improved all day, and will have a good night. The rise in pulse, temperature and respiration was caused by the fact that the daily febrile development was in progress when the examination was made."

The following is an authorized statement of the actual condition of the patient this evening:

"The president's condition to-night is unchanged; perhaps a little better than last night, but certainly is no worse. He is improving steadily, but of course slowly. The specific reason for the rise of pulse and temperature is the febrile rise, which occurs every twenty-four hours since he was shot, and it is liable to come any hour, day or night, and was fully advanced, when the examination was made this evening. Many times during the illness they have been much higher. The fluctuation is temporary."

Dr. Boynton in an interview this evening, agreed perfectly with the surgeons regarding the rise to-night. He said:

"The president's pulse, temperature and respiration have been as high as named in this evening's bulletin at least once a day ever since the president was shot. The febrile rise to-day was much less than it has often been. There are no indications of any new complaint, and to-night the president is comfortable."

"Is his condition as favorable as last night?" "Yes, I think it is; fully."

"Has he gained since yesterday?" "Well, no. But I think the case is being stationary."

"Are there any unfavorable complications?" "No, I think there are none at present."

"Has he suffered any relapse or any fatigue from being put into the invalid chair?" "No, he is comfortable and I think he will have a good night."

Despite the president being here the season is about closed. The Ocean Hotel Mansion house and the Howland Hotel closed to-day, and the United States, Clarendon, Florence and Jauch's hotels will close to-morrow. The West End has nearly 800 people, and the Atlantic 200 guests, and they will remain open until the president's departure.

AMONG THE MANY HUMORS circulated late this afternoon is one to the effect that Dr. Agnew has brought with him a new operation, which, it is said, will be inserted to the president's right lung for the purpose of drawing from it the pus alleged to be gathered there. The attending surgeons have already denied the presence of pus, and Dr. Boynton admitted that he does not believe there is either a pus cavity or abscess in either lung; but he still believes in a small pus on the lungs.

THE ATTENDING SURGEONS have also asserted that such lung trouble as has existed has passed the crisis and is now disappearing. The president does not cough often, sometimes not often than once in three hours, and then not violently. The doctors say he no longer any trouble in ejecting the phlegm by expectoration.

AT MIDNIGHT everything was quiet at the cottage and the president was asleep, having the prospect of a good night before him.

UsARRANTABLE MURDER. National Associated Press. PIERRE CITY, Mo., September 14.—Charles T. Harris, a respectable young business man of this place was last night mistaken for a horse thief by H. W. Hubbard, who struck him on the side of the head with the butt end of a gun with such a force as to kill him. Harris and a friend were simply walking up and down the road near Hubbard's house, but the latter thought they intended to steal his mules. Before striking he demanded to know who they were and what their business was, but got no satisfactory answer.

INDICATIONS. National Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—For the upper lakes: Partly cloudy weather, local rains, winds shifting to colder, northerly, higher barometer. For the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys: Fair weather, except local rains in southern portion of the former district, colder northerly winds, higher barometer.

MATERIALLY UNCHANGED. National Associated Press. CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—There is practically no change in the railroad war. The demand for Buffalo tickets over the Pennsylvania is very large. The Pennsylvania sold a great many rebate tickets to New York this morning, and the strife between it and the Vanderbilt lines, it is thought, will receive a fresh impetus from a cut which it is anticipated the Michigan Central will make to New York.

At present there is no indication of a lull in the passenger war, and continued cutting of rates is probable.

Comes to the Surface. National Associated Press. NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., September 14.—It will be remembered that a short time ago a man named Crimmon, from Toronto, Ont., committed suicide at the falls, leaving behind him a letter filled with crazy accusations of all kinds against the priests and relatives. His body has since come to the surface, and is visible in the water below the falls on the Canadian side of the river. It is caught in an eddy, and an eye-witness describes it as whirling round and round in the water—now up, now down—presenting a horrible sight, the legs and arms swinging about and bobbing here and there. It is asserted that the remains could be easily secured from the Canadian shore, but that the Clifton authorities refuse to have anything to do in the matter, inasmuch as they would probably have to go to the expense of burying the body if they took it out. Meanwhile the miserable corpse is the centre of attraction for hundreds of people and is for the time being one of the celebrities of Niagara Falls.

Three Prisoners Escape. National Associated Press. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., September 14.—A telegram from Ozark says that three prisoners made their escape from the jail by means of a stove-pipe hole. FIRE! FIRE!

A Terrible and Most Disastrous Conflagration at Kansas City.

More Than One-Half of the Kansas City Fair Association's Property Destroyed.

The Fire Originates in the Main Hall, Which is Consumed in Twenty Minutes.

National Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15.—The third day of the great fair which has been in progress here during this week has been marked by a great disaster, resulting in the destruction by fire of more than one-half of the entire property of the Kansas City Fair Association. Had not the hour of the fire been that of the great races of the day, thus attracting the thousands of people from the main building to the amphitheatre, there must have been a fearful loss of life. As it was, no one was killed outright, but

MANY WERE SERIOUSLY INJURED by the great rush made to escape the flames which advanced upon the amphitheatre in less than ten minutes after the main hall was fired. The day had been lovely. Thousands of people had come to pay their annual visit to the fair. The wind was blowing a stiff breeze from the northwest. The 2:30 race had been called and nearly completed at 3:40 p. m., when a shout of

"FIRE! FIRE!" ran through the assembled thousands. In an instant the flames, which started at the northwest corner of the main hall in a pile of straw, leaped up the sides of the building and ran over the roof, driving everybody from the hall, including keepers, exhibitors and visitors; all being compelled to

RUSH FOR THEIR LIVES. The fire having started in the exact path of the wind, consumed the main hall with its contents, estimated at a value of $30,000, in the incredible short time of twenty minutes. The fire spread rapidly to newspaper rows consuming the buildings of the Journal, Times, Mail and Commercial Indicator and the secretary's and trustees' offices. At the same time

IT LEAPED ACROSS THE STREET, a distance of more than one hundred feet and fired the amphitheatre, and in which at the time the main hall caught were seated at least 12,000 people. The instant the alarm was given the immovable stationary engines, which furnish motive power upon the grounds, set up their infernal screams and whistles. Clouds of smoke rolled over the amphitheatre and a grand stampede,

AMID THE WILDEST CONFUSION instantly began. Men rushed like mad for grog, women and children screamed and fainted, or became so terrified as to become totally helpless; some were carried out, and some leaped to the ground, but all escaped. In the grand rush many sustained serious injuries, but none with loss of life. The chief loss falls on the fair association, which property

COST THEM $60,000, and more than one-third of this is a total loss. The insurance amounts to $7,000. The exhibitors in the main hall, who had everything destroyed by the fire, are as follows: Bullene, Moores & Emery, dry goods, loss $10,000; insurance, $2,500. D. J. Coon, marbles, loss $2,000; no insurance. Kansas City Stencil Works, loss $600; no insurance. Keevil & Waples, furniture, loss $1,500; insurance, $700. Indian Agency Reform. National Associated Press. WASHINGTON, September 14.—Secretary Kirkwood is fully resolved to reform the Indian agency service of the interior department. Recent developments regarding the irregularities of Agent Tiffany, of the Don Carlos agency and the deplorable lack of executive ability shown by Agent Eastman, of the Navajo agency, by other agents, will be treated by the secretary in a practical way. Not only will cases of maladministration be punished, but it will be the effort of the secretary to replace incapable and inefficient agents with men having the tact and executive ability to a proper and successful administration of agency affairs.

Accident at Chicago. National Associated Press. CHICAGO, September 14.—A most remarkable accident happened here last night. In response to a fire alarm the hose cart of Empire Co. No. 1 dashed down Adams going east. Capt. John W. Campion was driving. Beside him sat the regular runman, Patrick Murphy. On the tail-board stood Pipeman Burke and Barkett. As the horse leaped down the viaduct the men were horror-stricken at seeing the bridge open. Campion jumped, as did also the two pipemen, but Murphy grasped the reins and remained at his post. As it was impossible to stop the horses the cart and driver plunged into the river, eighteen feet below. Murphy struck feet foremost and was held for a moment by soft mud at the bottom of the river, but soon rose to the surface and was pulled out. The horses swam a block down the stream and were also rescued. Later the hose cart was taken out uninjured. The accident cannot be explained, as the moon was shining brightly and the danger signal on the bridge stared the driver in the face long before he reached the end of the viaduct.
