OFFICE OF THE GEAND MASTER, BOSTON, Sept. 20, A. D. 1881, A. O. 763, To all Knig ats Templar within the United State of Amaging A development that was as hideous as it was startling was made by three hunters on Friday last while they were en route from Aspen to this city. of America: James A. Garfield, president of the United States, is dead. Struck by the assassin's hand on the 2d day of July The manipulations of the cartridge and trigger had proven a profitable occupation to them in the last few last, he languished until September 19th inst., when death relieved him days, and the remains of several deer from his sufferings. Architect of his fortunes, he was elevated to the and elk lay around their cabin door. It was about time for them to dispose chief place in the republic by the suffrages of his fellow citizens, of their game, and with two burros and a horse heavily freighted with the suffrages of his fellow churchal It was at the same the public approval and the reward of a lite of labor in the served the they proceeded with ordinary progress They proceeded with ordinary progress all day Thursday and then went into country well, and the whole country camp. The small hours of morn wit-nessed them on their journey again, and they pursued the banks of Frying Pan river for some distance. As they were going along at a slow jog, suddenly one of them recoiled in terror south of the former town last evening. They understood that a number of passengers were injured, but the wires are down between Ft. Dodge and the town of the town wires are down between Ft. Dodge and the wreck and so particulars cannot be got here. The storm also blowed ov-er freight cars at Iowa Falls and Ack-ley obstructing the track at the latter very rocks upon which they stood, at the unexpected panorama of the crime. Slowly they approached the body that was being swung carelessly by the winds that came through the trees. On the back was a piece of bark that had been stripped from the clothes. He was some distance from the ground and it was with great diffithe ground and it was with great diffi-culty that they could reach his feet with their hands. In the pockets of the coat was found a package of pa-pers, among which was an old discharge from Company G, Twenty-first Illinois regiment, and which identified him as T. W. Waters. Around the place the brush and grass had been trampled down, and the had been trampled down, and the
