Chauncey M. Depew Selected as Permanent Chairman of the Convention.

New York, October 5.—The enormous crush of politicians made the corridors of the Fifth Avenue hotel impassable. The excitement was not great, except over the chances for admission, this being in unusual demand and impossible to get. So badly had the arrangements been made that the delegates had not got cars half an hour before the convention met. The state committee met in the parlors of the Fifth Avenue hotel at 9 a. m. There was a full attendance. Ex-Senator Platt presided. At that hour all hopes of any agreement between the two factions had been abandoned, although there was less feeling of hostility than at the meeting of the compromise committee. When it ended at 12:30 this morning the state committee had an entire stalwart majority of 19 to 6 and proceeded to make up the formal roll of the convention and of course held a secret session. Those put on the roll were understood to be almost or quite stalwarts. Rumor had it that these changes and make up of the roll would give the stalwarts a majority of the convention. This was denied by the outside stalwarts and is not believed by the half-breeds, who think that the election of the state committee will be fair in spite of the stalwart majority, and that the latter will do more harmoniously than was expected a few hours ago. At 10:30 a. m. the state committee was still in secret session. New York, October 5.—11 a. m.—Gen. Curtis, of St. Lawrence county, opened a protest against the admission of a certain delegation, but was overruled and the roll call proceeded. Senator Conkling's name was not called as one of the Oneida county delegates, but that of his alternate.

New York, October 5.—The committee has adjourned after agreeing to make ex-Congressman F. Hiscock temporary chairman with the probability that he would be made permanent chairman. This was agreed to by the whole 19 stalwarts, the half-breeds voting in the roll election.

New York, October 5.—The committee has adjourned after agreeing to make ex-Congressman F. Hiscock temporary chairman with the probability that he would be made permanent chairman. This was agreed to by the whole 19 stalwarts, the half-breeds voting in the roll election.

New York, October 5.—There were several verbal corrections made on the list, and one delegation asked that the members not named who were seated on the platform should sit with the delegates. Platt announced that all delegates must take their places on the floor. Speaker Sharpe then got the floor and said: "Pursuant to the action of the state central committee I nominate for the position of temporary chairman Hon. Frank Hiscock." [Applause.]

Mr. Hiscock got the floor and was interrupted by Mr. Pomeroy, who demanded the floor, which was given to Hiscock. He said: "I must, Mr. President, peremptorily decline the nomination."

Sharpe—Notwithstanding Hiscock declines the temporary chairmanship I must insist on my right to vote, for which I call. [Applause.]

Pomeroy—Understanding, as I do, that the nomination of Hiscock is against his wishes and against his consent, I nominate in his stead for temporary chairman, Hon. Warner Miller. [Prolonged applause.]

On motion of Bis, the rules of the state assembly were adopted as the rules of the state convention.

The roll was then called. Hiscock and Bis, both supposed to be close to the president, further voted for Miller. The vote then stood: Miller, 298; Hiscock, 190. On a call for a unanimous vote there were a few scattering noes. Mr. Miller then took the seat with cheers and began speaking.

MILLER'S SPEECH.

He said that he accepted the election as a testimonial of the regard of the party to Garfield. (Cheers.) Upon whose eulogy he entered, and was heartily applauded. With the first mention of President Arthur's name there was applause and he was eulogized as first and foremost in the sympathy and support of the party, as he had been for many years. We hide all old enmity of party and meet here to-day as members of the republican party of the United States. [Applause.] Its record can never be effaced and if any party has a claim on the confidence of the country it is our own; but if they fail to appreciate the issues of the hour they will go into the history of the country with their predecessors. That is for the party, largely by its action to-day, to determine. At present the great majority of the country is unwilling to accept of any other party in power. The questions of administrative reform, finance, and internal improvements are paramount. The party still has the confidence of the country throughout. The party has seen that the honesty and integrity of the country has been preserved. The present administration only comes to you in consonance with the views and work of the last fifteen years. We all know the result of the successful funding movement and other propositions adopted by the recent republican administrations, which have saved us $50,000,000 annually in interest, and now we want protection of home industry and home labor, which is practically brought about under the present laws. (Applause.) and no philosophy of free trade can overcome them. Laboring men are better paid, better housed and better clothed than the old democratic country. Of our commerce I can say that supremacy went from us with the war, but the time has come for rebuilding it and to see American ships in every part of the world. All the powers of the government now rise from the general government and not from the states. Civil service reform has passed out of the line of discussion and it is now only a question of how it shall be done. It is a fixed fact and repudiates the old democratic view of "to the victors belong the spoils." This is not a government of office seekers. Mr. Miller alluded to the manufacturing facilities of the country; to the cause of education and the future of the party, and, in conclusion, thanked the convention for the place given him.

A temporary secretary was then chosen and Senator Wooden moved that the committee on credentials report.

After a short explanation by Sharpe in regard to the meeting held last night to secure a harmonious convention, a motion to have the chair report was adopted with half a dozen scattering noes.

General Husted moved the appointment of a committee on permanent organization.

After a resolution to take a recess to 3 p. m. had been made and withdrawn, the secretary announced the committee appointed by the chairman.

New York, October 5.—2:30 p. m.—The republican state convention at 2:10 p. m. took a recess until 7:30 p. m.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CONTESTED SEATS.

It was not until 8:55 o'clock that the convention was called to order. The delay being caused by the failure of the committee on contested seats to report before that time.

New York, October 5.—The committee has adjourned after agreeing to make ex-Congressman F. Hiscock temporary chairman with the probability that he would be made permanent chairman. This was agreed to by the whole 19 stalwarts, the half-breeds voting in the roll election.

STAR ROUTE CASES.

WASHINGTON, September 5.—The alleged star route conspirators, Gen. Brady, J. L. French, S. P. Brown and Capt. W. H. Turner, appeared before Judge Cox in the criminal court this morning. Judge Cox fixed bonds at $5,000 in the cases of Brady and French and $4,000 in the cases of Turner and Brown. The latter being merely clerks. Messrs. J. I. Olinstead, N. W. Fitzgerald, A. L. Roach and Lewis Clippance were accepted as bondsmen for Gen. Brady, Mills Dean for S. P. Brown, Messrs. B. H. Warner and W. H. Williams for J. L. French, Joseph Tabor and John J. Humphreys for Capt. Turner. Judge Cox informed the counsel for Brady & Co., that giving these bonds did not deprive them of any interest they had in the case. Counsel for the defendants claim the right to file any motion without notice to the government, but will not object to adequate motion for argument of the same. A motion to quash the indictments is expected in a day or two.

THE ADMINISTRATION.

Washington Special to Chicago Times. PRESIDENT ARTHUR'S POLICY. Secretary Kirkwood returned to-day, and is the only member of the cabinet now in the city. He does not know yet whether Mr. Arthur will need him in his cabinet, and like most other people here, does not expect to know until about the time the senate meets. If then. Like all his colleagues in Garfield's cabinet, except MacVey, he will probably consent to stay without any great amount of urging. The gossip of the day indicates a growing impression that Arthur will administer the government on a policy purely his own, and to that end will call about him a cabinet composed of men more in sympathy with his views than those who are at present at the head of the several departments. But CHANGES ARE NOT LOOKED FOR in the near future. Having gone to New York, as is supposed, to harmonize, so far as possible, the warring elements of the party there, it is expected that he will take care not to antagonize those he is now anxious to mollify by making any wholesale change. It seems to be understood that Grant will not give up his private interests for any place in the cabinet, and as he has been spoken of chiefly as the probable successor of Mr. Blaine, it is not unlikely that the latter gentleman will remain as long as he wishes. How long he may find it pleasant to do so, of course, is problematical. A western member of congress who has recently spent some days in New York says that state and city will bring all the pressure possible to bear to place a New Yorker at the head of the treasury; and this, he added, will be stoutly resisted by the entire west. There is a strong sentiment here in favor of the retention of James in the postoffice. The prosecutors of the star route cases insist that their great reliance is in him and if a change is made it will greatly endanger their chances of success. He is being quite warmly backed by the press of the east and by many politicians of influence, but it is quite probable that the result of Wednesday's convention in New York will have more to do with the settlement of his case than all other influences combined. If the stalwarts are roughly handled, as it now seems probable they may be, it is not improbable that the victors, some of whom are now in high federal position in New York, may be made to

THE INDIANS.

CHICAGO, October 5.—A special this morning from Tucson says: The movement of the troops and the alleged battles of yesterday and the day before are anomalies in military tactics. Our forces had the Indians in the hills, on smooth plains and in the rugged Graham mountains, but up to this morning the result was sixteen citizens and soldiers killed and seven missing, with, so far as is known, not a single hostile brought down, although soldiers are all around. The Indians have steadily pursued their march south without any detention save that of a few days by the way of a murder some poor traveler or station keeper, and skinned with the soldiers for the so-called battles amount to nothing more than skirmishes. As long as such brilliant efforts on the part of the army continue the idea of a general outbreak of the Apaches is fearful to contemplate. It is hoped that the change in commanders will result in a change of tactics, and if there is fighting done it will be well done. Col. Mackenzie has the confidence of the people and the reputation of being a good fighter. Col. Mackenzie put Col. Biddle under arrest to-day and it looks as though there were grounds for charges. Advice from San Carlos state that there is only one issue of Indian supplies on hand and if more do not arrive on time trouble will follow. The Indians are uneasy and restless. Nadeoka claims that the white men have been stealing and robbing his cattle, and is much dissatisfied. The agency Indians are counted daily. Col. Carr will follow with two hundred men and will cross the Gila river five miles below San Carlos to-night, so as to get between the Indians and the sub-jugon. District Attorney Corkhill says that the assassin will not be arraigned before to-morrow or next day.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WASHINGTON, October 5.—Captain Howgate returned to the city yesterday. He is to appear before Commissioner Bundy soon to answer to a charge of defalcation of the sum of $50,000.

Blair Politics.

BLAIR, October 4.—The political excitement in this county culminated to-day in the convention. There was what is known as the "Hilton" candidates and the candidates of the other element of the republican party here, known as "soreheads." The latter nominated a full ticket, not retaining a single man with the exception of the coroner. The following are the candidates: Chris. Rathman, for treasurer; W. D. Gross, sheriff; Thos. Lippincott, clerk; Henry Hill, surveyor; W. V. Miller, county superintendent; H. O. Morse, commissioner. The delegates to the state convention were instructed for Hon. Samuel Maxwell.

National Farmers' Alliance.

CHICAGO, October 5.—The second national convention of the Farmers' Alliance was called to order this morning in Hershey hall by W. J. Fowler, of New York, the president. Preliminary remarks were made touching upon the object of the alliance, such as fighting railroad and barbed wire monopolies and crushing the spoils system in politics. Secretary J. W. Wilson made a report, showing that there were 1,000 alliances organized, with a membership of 24,500. The constitution was amended

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS. CHEAPER TELEGRAPH FACILITIES. LONDON, October 5.—The associated chambers of congress have passed resolutions requesting the government to negotiate with foreign countries and with the colonies for cheaper telegraphic communication. The resolution is thought to have been inspired by the cable company, who would not be unwilling to sell their lines to the government, who would then conduct them as it does land lines as an adjunct to the postal service.

ENGLAND'S INDIFFERENCE. ROME, October 5.—The opinion of this city has published a remarkable article concerning the interest of Italy in Egypt and her relations with other powers. It deplores England's indifference towards Italy, and says that Italian co-operation with England in Egypt might easily counteract the effects of French rivalry there.

NORTH AMERICAN BEE KEEPERS. NATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 5.—The twelfth annual convention of the North American Bee Keepers' society met this morning, Mr. Allen, of Kentucky, presiding. Reports from all parts of the country indicate that the honey yield this year is of excellent quality, meeting with ready sales. The average yield of surplus honey is seventy-five pounds per hive. The president's address advocated legislation to prevent the adulteration of honey.

MEXICO. NATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS. CITY OF MEXICO, October 5.—The body of Gen. Mariano Arista, ex-president of this republic, arrived at Vera Cruz from Portugal. A congressional committee left this city for Vera Cruz to act as an escort in conveying the body to this city where it will lie in state for two days at the college of mines, and will then be buried with military honors.
