CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

Twenty Persons Who Will Answer Various Charges

Before the District Court, Beginning To-day.

An Outline of Each Person's Alleged Offense,

Sixteen men, two boys and two women appeared in the district court Saturday under guard of the sheriff assistant to enter a formal plea to various charges that were preferred Terms of the Contract to Build against them.

The criminal docket will be taker up premptly at 9:30 o'clock this morning, and it is Judge Savage's desire to dispose of all the cases with as little delay as possible.

All the prisoners pleaded not guilty o the charges preferred against them. The first case marked for trial on Monday is that of Charles W. Tracey and Rose York, who are charged with robbery. Rose York is a young lady who lives in a disreputable part of Twelfth street. One night she enticed Peter Peterson to her room. She had scarcely closed the door when a man identified as Charles W. Tracey bolted in and threatened to wallow in Peterson's gore unless that gentleman forked over his valuables. Peterson was not a man to stand on ceremony under such circumstances, so he gave up his money. Afterward Rose York and Tracey were arrested and the latter identified by Peterson.

The cases which follow will be tried n the order named. Matthew McNamara is charged with selling liquor without a license.

A similar charge is preferred against Henry Hornberger. Neither gentleman was present in ourt to plead.

John McDonald is charged with robbing Owen Connelly. It is said he held that gentleman up to the extent of $45. Martin Lewis is charged with burplarizing Samuel Burn's house.

Michael Wallens is charged with larceny as bailee. This charge is preferred by Lewis Schneider, who alleges that he gave Wallens $1,000 to keep for him and that now Wallens refuses to return the money. P. H. Garrigan is charged with em-bezzlement by Sidney Smith, local agent for the Wheeler & Wilson sew-

Frank Bunkee is a mere boy. P. H. Garrigan is also charged with forging a $29 dollar order.

H. G. Clark & Co. charge a former clerk named Rudolph Gayer with embezzling $125 while in their employ. Sam Klein pleaded not guilty to the charge of shooting young George Frank. It will be remembered that Dodge street school, and that it was charged that while they were coming down the steps one evening after school had been dismissed, Klein suddenly turned around and shot Frank The boy was first thought to be dangerously hurt, but has since recovered. Klein is an undersized youth, about fourteen years old and

A charge of murder in the first degree stands against Chas. A. Nystrom. It is he who is charged with killing John Peterson, alias John Willman. The row occurred in a blacksmith shop in the northern part of the city, and Peterson was so brutally kicked that he died soon afterward.

Geo. Morris and James Welsh are charged with robbery. They are supposed to be confidence operators. One of them snatched $160 feom David This he threw to the other, who ran, but both were finally arrested. Hatton, who is a we-lthy stock raiser, was on his way to Germany, where he was about to pay a visit. Frank Martin, charged with lar-ceny as bailee, is the fellow Jim Stephenson says tried to make away with his $80 horse.

An Omaha Crank George H. Bethard, the crank who attempted to shoot Guiteau Friday is well known in Omaha. He came here about one year ago and on his arrival was a sight to see. His clothes composed entirely of rags, were held together by patches of mud. He went to sleep in a mud puddle in the street the first pight he arrived here and was arrested and taken to jail. After his release he was taken in hand by a temperance society and supplied with a suit of clothes. After lecturing for some time, he opened a pension office, at which he made some money. He got entangled in a love scrape with a young lady in Council Bluffs, and the refusal of her parents to their marriage caused him to leave Omaha. He located in the southern part of the state, and it is said made considerable money. He was an erratic person and suffered requently from aberration of the mind. He has, it is said, spent sevaral years of his life in an inebriate asylum.

the Court House.

The substance of the contract entered into between John F. Coots, of court house, and the county commissioners is that in consideration of $198,616 to be paid to Coots he agrees according to the plans, deand specifications agreed The building is to be completed for the amount named, notwithstanding that some of the necessary labor may not be mentioned in the schedule, the entire court house to be ready for occupancy by or before December 31, 1883. The commissioners insert the following pro-"If the electors of the county of Douglas at the general election should fail next fifty thousand dollars towards the construction of said building, according to the terms of a proposition submitted to said electors by said county of Douglas by its board at a session held Oct. 4, 1881, then this agreement, and contract is void, but if the said pro-position is carried then this contract is binding and of full force and ef-

Whittle and McGranchan The meetings to be conducted in this city by these evangelists will commence to-morrow morning at the Presbyterian church, at 9 o'clock, especially for Christian workers. There will be a meeting also at 4 o'clock, the usual time for the Y. M. C. A. gospel service, to which the young men of the city are especially invited. The evening service commences at 7:30 promptly.

The second day the swelling subsided, and a family row, which occurred recently after the use of two bottles of the Boyd's packing house. Oil, all pain had left and I was able to go to work.

A LIVE SUBJECT.

That of Proper Ventilation in the Schools.

At the teachers' meeting held at the East school Saturday the question of ventilation and general physical culture of the pupils was discussed. Prof. Lane made the following remarks: Physical health and bodily comfort must not be overlooked in efforts Rickemoud A made to bring our schools up to a high degree of intellectual culture. Fresh air is of vital importance to health. School hygiene is a subject of great importance. Plans and methods have been devised to secure good Skes C Salver M W ventilation; it is of equal importance Salyer M W that the teacher understand how to Wieman T obtain the proper light and ventila- Walker G W tion without exposing the pupils to the cold. Bad ventilation Finch Hatton at the union depot, is sure to bring on headaches. This he threw to the other, who ran, My experience and observations confirm the opinion that this can be best done by a thorough knowledge of the rules of hygiene and of chemical laws. The teachers should be fully acquainted with these and should apply them to the immediate wants and conditions of each room.

A number of questions bearing on this subject were then given, which the teachers will look up during the week and be questioned upon at next meeting.

Whittle and McGranahan Getting to Work.

Their Meeting at the Prosbyterian Church Last Night

Considering the disagreeable weather the attendance at the Presbyterian church last night was large. Very few women, however, were present. The well-known revivalists, Messrs, Whittle and McGranahan, conducted the services. The subject for the evening is that people are so wrapped up in their infidelity that you cannot get at them. People don't believe in Detroit, the contractor for the new the existence of a God, but nature shows a maker and the Bible proves Ged to have been that maker. If you are a moral being you are responsible to God, and your conscience tells you to construct a building in all respects this. We have got to meet God. The great sin on this earth is Godlessness God has given man a will which al lows him to say no even to him. It will be an awful meeting with him it it comes beyond the grave. There is nothing that can occur after death which can change man's destiny. As an immortal being, is it wise t ignore him? Man has no business in the air. It is for birds only. They alone should navigate it. God sent the gale which caused the death of Donaldson and Griswold, because they were in the wrong place. The preparation to meet God consists of three things: The paying of by an affirmative vote as provided by the penalty, repentance, and a law, to authorize the said county of willing God. The first and third are assured, and it would be well for all if the second, which depends on the people individually, was also sure.

Meetings will be held during this
