The Irishmen Hold an Indignation Meeting.

INDIGNANT IRISHMEN

THEY HOLD A ROUSING MEETING. The indignation meeting of the Irish citizens of this city, called on account of the arrest of Parnell and others across the water, was organized with Mayor Vaughan as president, J. P. Cassidy, J. A. Churchill, Marshall Farley and James Franey vice-presidents. Mayor Vaughan on taking the chair made a very eloquent and effective speech. He stated the object for which the meeting had been called. He accused Mr. Gladstone of imprisoning, without cause, Hon. Charles Stewart Parnell and others defenders of the cause of Ireland and Irish farmers. He alluded to the narrow coil in which the great patriot Parnell was at that moment incarcerated. He claimed that those agitators had committed no crime against the English government. He spoke of the beast of America regarding the rights of the press and the freedom of speech, and concluded with the following resolutions: "There can be no wonder that our people are aroused from the Atlantic to the Pacific over this inhuman and cowardly act of the English government. Let this meeting express its contempt for such unmerited oppression. A committee of five was appointed to draft appropriate resolutions. The committee was composed of the following leading citizens: Colonel John H. Keatly, J. W. Chapman, Judge J. R. Reid, M. G. Griffin and M. Keating. Those of the committee who were present retired. The following resolution from Hon. D. C. Bloomer was read: "Resolved, That in the name of the Council Bluffs, October 18—M. G. Griffin, Esq., being compelled to leave the city this morning, I very much regret that I shall be unable to attend the meeting called for this evening to sympathize with the oppressed people of Ireland. Very truly, D. C. BLOOMER. The following telegram was then read: Davenport, Iowa, October 18—I am with you heart and soul. Let us all pledge ourselves never to relax. Down with tyranny, forward the land league; remember Parnell. M. V. GANNON, President State League. This was followed by the reading of one from Hon. P. A. Collins, president of the land league of the United States, which contained the following words: Boston, October 18.—To M. G. Griffin: Mankind cries shame on a so-called liberal government in the nineteenth century whose only argument is the prison or a blow. Let us unite more closely. Liberty knows no failure. P. A. COLLINS, President U. S. Land League. Rev. J. G. Lemon was called for and addressed the meeting. He accused the English government of originally wrongfully getting possession of the lands in Ireland; that the people there were simply contending for what in law and justice belonged to them. In a very eloquent manner he spoke of the stand taken by the "American" Irishmen during our rebellion, and compared it with the piratical course pursued by English government. He said that where the cause of liberty was assailed America would resent it; wherever the liberties of the press or of speech was denied America would be found protesting loudly against the outrage. Mr. Lemon was interrupted frequently by the plaudits of the vast throng that packed the theater. John H. Keatly was called upon at the conclusion of Mr. Lemon's remarks, and the old American patriot and gallant soldier made the theater ring as in eloquent and chosen words he spoke of the wrongs that had been heaped upon the Irish race for the past 400 years. He believed that from behind the dark clouds that were at present shutting out the light of day from the lovers of liberty in Ireland he could discover a silver lining, and that the Emerald Isle had a bright and promising future before her. The following resolutions were then presented by the chairman of the committee appointed to draft them: Whereas, The painful intelligence has flashed across the ocean that Charles Stewart Parnell, the eloquent, unselfish and devoted leader of the Irish people, the brave and beloved champion of the rights and liberties of his native land, has been arbitrarily and unjustly arrested and consigned to a dungeon by an order of the British cabinet; and Whereas, The spirit, dignity and sanctity of representative government everywhere has been assailed, insulted and menaced in his person, as a member of the British parliament, for no other offense than that, in obedience to the aspirations of his country, he sought the restoration of the true ownership of her soil and that legislative independence which former treasury had bartered for British influence and gold; therefore, Resolved, By this mass meeting of American citizens, composed of people of every nationality, disregarding differences of creed and rank, that we most heartily and earnestly extend to him our sympathy in his present incarceration, as the representative of a great and noble cause, and to his brave associates in their heroic endeavor to make Ireland the free and prosperous home of millions who are attached to its soil as a birthplace, and who love its glorious traditions and history as a birthright. Resolved, That while we truly and honestly reciprocate every step taken by the British government and people to eradicate all feeling of hostility which has hitherto alienated the two great English-speaking peoples of the world, we also most emphatically deplore and condemn that power, exercised by whomsoever, which deprives the people of Ireland of those rights which God and nature intended and which are in all ages, and under all circumstances, the common heritage of all mankind. Resolved, That in our opinion, freedom and tranquility will never be the good fortune of Ireland, and of the Irish people at home, until the humble tiller of the soil is secure for all time to come, against the alien and absentee landlord, and the principles of our own declaration of independence are recognized by the British government in an Irish parliament to legislate for Irish interests, and we hereby extend our sympathy to the struggling people, in the hope that the cloud and gloom which overhang that beautiful and fertile island may soon break away in a "sunburst" of liberty and prosperity. The resolutions were adopted amid cheers, after which Col. D. B. Dalrymple was called for. No man in Council Bluffs has given the subject of Ireland's wrongs more study than he. He reviewed the history of Ireland. He believed that all imprisonments that have been made, that all blood that has been shed for the cause of Irish independence and freedom, was necessary. That no freedom worth having, had ever been obtained in any other way in the history of the world. He claimed that the present was the third period in the history of that liberty loving people; that patriots had been compelled to bend the knee to English dungeons. He alluded to the year 1798, when Theodore Theobald, Wolfe Tone, O'Connor and others rose up in behalf of Irish liberty, as the first period; to 1848, when Meagher, John Mitchell, John O'Mahoney and others lifted their voices in the same cause, as the second period, and he spoke of the present patriots, Parnell, Dillon and Davitt, in glowing terms, eliciting the applause of the assemblage. He had no regret to offer for the arrest of Parnell and others. In time it would prove a great benefit to the cause for which all Irishmen are contending. Dr. Cook was the next speaker, and in a very touching and feeling manner responded. He quoted some of the patriotic utterances of Robert Emmet, and briefly portrayed the sad scenes of that noble martyr's arrest, trial and execution. Brief remarks were made by Marshal Turley and others, after which M. G. Griffin on behalf of the Council Bluffs land league offered a resolution of thanks to the citizens for the large attendance, and to the speakers for their earnest and eloquent manner which had addressed the meeting. This resolution was adopted, when the meeting on motion adjourned. JOINED IN WEDLOCK. Quite a gay party assembled at the residence of Mrs. Cassidy, widow of the late S. H. Cassidy, on Washington avenue, about 9 o'clock last Tuesday evening, the occasion being the marriage of Mrs. Cassidy to John C. Filts, a carpenter and builder of this city who has himself before been married. So the affair did not have the same effect upon their minds as it does upon those who are about to put their foot in for the first time. The house was brilliantly illuminated throughout. The party present was small but quite select, including Miss Emma Morgan, Miss Lizzie Smith, Miss Lizzie Pain, M. A. Flora, Grace and Anna Cassidy, Mr. Lotswatay, Mr. Brown, Mr. Hollis, Mr. Secker and others. Rev. F. T. Webb, of the Episcopal church officiated, and although the services were quite at length, they were very interesting. After Mrs. Cassidy had become Mrs. Filts, and congratulations went around, supper was announced and the party retired to an adjoining room, where everything to please the palate was spread before them, consisting of cold lamb, cold chicken, hot coffee, oyster stew, ice cream, cakes of all kinds and descriptions. After full justice had been done to the repast, the company again returned to the spacious parlor and enjoyed in music, singing, &c., until the small hours of the night when all retired wishing the happy groom and bride a comfortable journey through life. INDEED IT SHOULDN'T. John Dohany should see to it that the window curtains are drawn and kept so or the north side of his opera house. A short time since while a performance was going on at the theater two of Council Bluffs young ladies in attempting to climb up to the window to look in fell back into a coal box and came very near injuring them seriously. No such temptation should be permitted to remain. COST OF THE BUILDING. We hear from our school board. They meet occasionally. We don't hear much said lately about the position of superintendent and shall not for some time, as we understand the board elected Prof. Farnum for the long term. Report of the completion of the Bloomer school building was made, showing amount of contract, $26,890; paid on same, $24,135.69; balance still due the contractors, $2,754.31. A bill for other things and extras was also reported, amounting to $2,319.23; balance on old contract, "other things" and extras, amount to $5,073.57, making the total cost of the building $31,963.57. To this must be added the $2,000 town clock and the $800 bell, making the cost $34,763.57, and this includes the expense of cutting the granite in the corner stone, but not $1,324.48 for the architect. On motion of M. P. Brewer, Chas. S. Leferts, of the Nonpareil, was elected secretary pro tem. of the school board. BLUFFS IN BRIEF. The new Bloomer school building cost in round numbers, say $36,763.57. John Green was elected by the school board president pro tem. Thirty-six thousand seven hundred and sixty-three dollars and fifty-seven cents is a good large sum of money, but we have got a really good school building in its stead. E. A. Consignery, of Avoca, was in Council Bluffs yesterday. Eli Clayton was lingering in the city still yesterday. He thinks Morgan will make a representative that the democracy need not be ashamed of. He takes his defeat philosophically, and says that a little more activity in the republican camp would have elected him by a handsome majority in spite of the opposition. The Nonpareil is desirous of taking a rest. It can do so THE BEE won't disturb it, but will continue to give all the news. Morgan says that if the Nonpareil takes a rest THE GLOBE will do the same, and then what will the people do. Mrs. Whipple and her daughter, Mrs. Kilburn, of Creston, who have been visiting with the family of J. M. Rogers, returned home last Tuesday evening. J. C. Adams, of the "Avochau Deltau," was in Council Bluffs yesterday leaning up against the Nonpareil building catching the inspirations for his next issue. The barrel business in Council Bluffs is brisk. Our upper Broadway cooper, Joseph Ross, can find employment for several additional first-class coopers. Standing "by the way side" the other afternoon we observed a mule hitched to a telegraph pole in front of Justice Abbott's office. It was raining. He was stuck fast in the mud, a picture of despair. Both ears were hanging by the side, "sheddin' the water that fell gently upon his head." Soon John Smith arose and began his address to John Hummer and the other jurymen in the Glanders' case. He had got to one of his eloquent passages, when we noticed the mule struggling with all his might. He lifted with difficulty his right ear, while the other was left dangling and shedding water as before. Having reached it as near the speaker as he could, he listened for a while, and then bringing it down again "by the way side," exclaimed, "Oh, give us a rest!" The celebrated glandered horse case was given to the jury Tuesday, soon after John Lindt had made his closing remarks. After remaining out nearly all night, they came into court and returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, Mr. Feuerhaken. George A. Holmes appeared for the defendant. We understand that Judge Reed granted Mrs. Metcalf an injunction restraining Mr. Crary from pounding old boilers under her chamber window. Colonel John H. Keatly appeared for Mrs. Metcalf. Hon. D. C. Bloomer, Captain L. Kirscht, Ben. Newman and about twenty others of the Odd Fellows of this city have gone to Des Moines, where they and the lodge are holding a meeting, commencing yesterday. Twelve hundred and twenty head of cattle were received at the Union stock yards in Council Bluffs last Tuesday, and 1,040 head yesterday. The C. B. & Q. had more freight on hand yesterday than they had cars to carry it in. There is an immense amount of freight going and coming over our railroads at this time of the year. One lone and solitary drunk occupied the calaboose yesterday until he furnished bail for his appearance yesterday afternoon. This he heaped, however, leaving his sureties to settle his bill. Sadie Roberts, quite a respectable looking "Alley girl," appeared in court yesterday and complained to Chief Field that her sold man who works in the Northwestern yard, had huggled close to her heart until he had taken it off with all her earthly possessions including the brace handle to her water bucket. She wanted him brought up to the captain's office immediately, and compelled to disgorge. The officers are on the look-out. The cases against young Reardon commenced in Justice Frayne's court yesterday afternoon. Palpitation of the Heart. J. M. Night, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "When I first commenced using your Burdock Blood Bitters I was troubled with fluttering and palpitation of the heart. I felt weak and wretched with numbness of the limbs. Since using your Bitters I am not troubled and the numbing sensation is all gone." Price, $1; trial size, 10 cents. Gen. Grant's Lion Hunt. Detroit Free Press. It has just leaked out that while Gen. Grant was traveling in Asia he expressed a desire to get a shot at a lion. Not wishing to expose him to danger, the natives secured a stuffed lion, set it up in a jungle, and then took the illustrious traveler out for a hunt. When the beast was sighted the General gave it a favorable position, began to blaze away at the animal with no perceptible effect. After firing about twenty shots he began to get mad, and taking off his coat, he settled down for a regular siege. Fearing his wrath when he discovered the sell, the attendants endeavored to kill the beast, telling him that it bore a charmed life, and that he could not possibly injure it. He told them to go to thunder; that he was after blood, and was going to have it. After a vain fusillade of an hour he rose to his feet, quashing his teeth with rage, threw his suspenders off his shoulders, rolled up his sleeves, and grabbed his rifle by the barrel so he could use it as a club. The attendants again begged him to desist, but he politely, though forcibly, informed them that he would have that cuss or leave his honored remains strewn promiscuously by all through that jungle; and with a wild cry of "I'll fight it out on this lion if it takes all summer!" he rushed upon the beast, and with one well-directed blow laid it over on its side. Then he chased the native attendants for six miles, but being better acquainted with the country, they got away from him in safety. ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.
