Fay Templeton Arrived.

This charming little prima donns and the troupe under her name who are to open the grand new opera house this evening and also play to-morrow evening, arrived in Omaha last night from Kansas City. The K. C., St. Joe & C. B. train was much behind time, and as a consequence the party were very tired and somewhat dis gusted with the unpleasant weather. They were comfortably domiciled, however, at the Metropolitan and patronized the restaurants for allate supper. When asked what her opinion of Omaha was one of the fair members of the party gave her shoulders an expressive little French shrug and claimed she liked it as far as she had seen, except—of course—the mud. To morrow they will inspect the new temple to Thespus and possibly hold an afternoon rehearsal.

"Intimidation."

The barber pole in front of the shop of Ferdinand Schroeder, on the corner of Eleventh and Farnham streets, was torn from its place Friday night, carried about a half block and thrown into the mud. Schroeder is the man who has been arrested several times on charge of violating the Sunday law. He charges certain members of his craft with this latter attempt at "in-timidation," and talks considerable of a "conspiracy." There may be one.

A special train started from this city westward this morning, which carried one passenger, Mr. Davis, of Boston, one of the directors of the Union Pacific railroad. The train was sent out with instructions to not fall below forty miles an hour. Mr. Davis arrived by a special train from the east about eleven o'clock. His destination is Butte, Montana, where his brother is critically ill.

The Origin and Source of Authority of the Temperance Committee.

The Pulpit Joins the Press in Discussing the Question.

The attempt to enforce the Sunday laws, which has been a topic of interest for some weeks past, is beginning to display the usual signs of weakness. Yesterday a second barber kept his shop open for business, and from the back doors of various saloons about the city the latch-string hung out quite conspicuously. It was only necessary to pause on the sidewalk near a liquor shop to hear the noise day was by God commanded, nor that within which was a dead "giveway." Cigar stores too disregard the authority assumed by the committee and in a few Sabbaths more the old routine of bors. Were the Master of Chr a iai s Sunday life and "lawlessness" will be on earth to-day he would be foremost A BEE reporter was last evening furnished with a few facts in regard to the origin and strength of this latest move which, as secret history, shows up rather poorly as far as public endorsement is concerned. In an interview with a gentleman who knows whereof he speaks, the reporter inquired, "Under the auspices of what temperance organization does Colonel Smith prosecute his work for Sunday observance?"

"The temperance committee of five, under whose alleged authority and sanction Col. Smith is prosecuting his war for the enforcement of the Sunday laws, was never appointed by any officer or individual of any temperance society or organization in the city. county or state, or any national organization.

"Well, what is the source of his authority?"

"The facts in regard to the origin and authority of the committee are these: On the evening of July 1st at a meeting of the Tenth street mission, a resolution was offered (If I am not mistaken, by Col. Smith), asking the officers of all temperance organizations in the city to meet at the office of meeting being to appoint a committee to raise the necessary funds for htigation and took after the prosecution of the liquor suits which were then standing in the courts. Pursuant to this notice a meeting was held in the place mentioned, though I will say, not to do Mr. McCague any mjustice, that the loan of the office was obtained as a personal favor and that he was not even present at the meeting.' "Was this meeting large or enthu-diastic?" "There were in all present eight persons, Colonel Smith, Charles Potter, J. W. Rogers, H. G. Stripe, Roswell Smith, and a gentleman whose name I cannot now recall, and two Of the latter one came with ladies. her brother, whom she was visiting, and the other came with her because the brother and sister were stopping at their house. "Was there any encouragement from the temperance people?" "So far as the appointment and sanction of this committee, or its having been requested by the different temperance organizations in Omaha to act as a committee for the purpose of securing by the use of honorable means the enforcement of the state and municipal laws regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in this city, it is an utter absurdity, without the shadow of a foundation As to the statement in Col. Smith's circular concerning the request of the friends of temperance (outside of temperance organizations) that they proeed as quoted, it would appear the pressure brought to bear in that quarter was not very heavy, inasmuch as they sent only eight representatives, two of whom were in reality disinterested parties, to the meeting which appointed the committee."

"Then the committee is acting to a large extent on its own responsibil-

"The plain fact of the matter is that this meeting and the appointment of this committee was all 'cut and dried' by Col. Smith long beforehand, and that he made himself the chairman of the committee before the meeting was called. It would seem that he committee is self-constituted and that the temperance organizations have kept out of the fight, making no exertion nor connecting themselves in any way with the committee in this matter. As a matter of fact the question of Sunday observance never was alluded to in the meeting of July 2d." the Cheyenne division. The presence

A MINISTER'S VIEWS, The attention of the clergy, as well as of the press, has been drawn to the contest, and yesterday morning Rev. W. E. Copeland, of the Unitarian church, delivered a discourse on the subject, his text being, "Let no man, therefore, judge you in respect of the Sabbath." Golossians II, 16.

Mr. Copeland thought it but fitting that the pulpit should take some notice of what the press and private individuals are discussing, and "especially fitting that the Unitarian pulpit should express its views on a pol-icy inaugurated by the orthodox clergy and from which we entirely dissent, having no wish to be dragged back a hundred years to custums pe-culiar to our Puritan fathers, which are both anti-Christian and opposed to the spirit of the age in which we live." Alluding to the gloomy, unhappy and unprogressive age in which man, from birth to death, was dictated to be the church, he characterized the attempt to enforce a statute, "which were held in both the Presbyterian should never have been enacted," and and Methodist churches. At the forwhich has always "justly remained a dead letter" as "a piece of arrogant presumption," "an outrage on the rights of our citizens," "utterly unchristian," and betraying the old dog-

Sometime yesterday a very "tired" individrave, and soon went into a fit of ual, giving the name of Charles Att man, was gathered in on Farnam street and searched after the usual custom. After the officer who investigated Attman's personal effects had left the down stair's region there were sounds of a scuffle, and then one of the prisoners called for Deputy-Marin the performance, and the officers shal McClure. Returning, the officer left the woman with the impression was handed one of the ugliest looking that she was tired out.
