

COUNCIL BLUFFS.

A Batch of Interesting News From That Busy City.

Extensive Building Improvements Under Way.

Musical and Dramatic Matters Next Winter.

Personal Mentions of Many Friends of The Bee.

Every day marks a decided improvement in this city. Dwelling houses and business blocks are going up continually on every hand. The old rookeries are fast disappearing to give place to better and more costly structures. To-day we see an old wooden one-story frame; to-morrow, men engaged in its removal to make room for one more imposing. The old wooden shanties that have stood for years on the corner of Broadway and Scott street will soon give place to a mammoth brick block. Horace Everett, who owns the building, began Saturday to tear down and remove the same. The building on the corner will be moved as it is on to a vacant lot. The others will be torn down. Colonel Daily informs us that a brick block will be erected on the lot during the coming year, and it no doubt will be the most costly one ever erected in Council Bluffs.

SMART BUT NOT TRUE.

When any of the folks over the way get of anything real sharp we always hasten to place it before the public. Last Saturday two men met, one asked the other what paper he took. He replied, "The Bee; What paper do you take?" "Well, I take them both. I take The Nonpareil for the children; it is a harmless thing; they can play with it and it won't go off. But this Bee I take for the benefit of myself and wife." The Nonpareil man thought he would get mad at first, but he showed his hat back and got off a pretty good one. He stepped up to the double-barreled reader and began: "You say you take the Nonpareil for your children, do you?" "Yes sir," replied the man. "And The Bee for their mother and father?" "That's what I said." "Well, my friend," replied the Nonpareil man, "all I can say if you keep that kind of newspaper business up in your family, your children will be better educated than their parents."

A DRAMATIC CLUB.

All the young and old too interested in starting a dramatic club in Council Bluffs for mental improvement and pleasure the coming winter are requested to meet this evening at Justice Frayne's office.

WANTED TO SEE HIM.

An old farmer came into the city the other day, and meeting another, wanted to know who this fellow, Ed. Nonpareil, that so much talk was going on about. "I don't know," replied the man; "I am a stranger here. Is anything up?" "Nuthin' particular; only that I'd like to see a man who was dogone mean nuf to git a office away from a widder."

DECK HUNTING UNDER DIFFICULTIES. Major A. A. Rhodes, of Boston, Mass., who has been spending a few days with the family of Mrs. Harrington, on Avenue E, left yesterday for his home. Last week Mr. R., in company with C. D. Lucecock, photographer, Upper Broadway, started on a little hunting excursion, this being a weakness the major possesses. Not having a pair of hunter's boots, Mr. L. borrowed for his Boston friend a pair. They were not an exceedingly good fit, but answered very well in the mud, as Mr. R. could turn completely around without hauling them out. The Nimrod went some considerable distance before they sighted anything but chipmunks and a bullfrog until—lo! and behold! a duck skimmed the air across their path, and went sailing down onto the bottom lands in that vicinity. Mr. R., very much excited, wiped off his chin whiskers and said he would have that duck if he sunk in the mire to his neck. "Just leave room enough for me to swing my arms and that lady or gentleman duck is mine." Off he started down to the bottom, over the stubble, with gun cocked and held above his head. He no sooner struck the bottom than one of his rubber boots, the right one, took a plunge into the mire, carrying his leg the entire length. Mr. R. screamed for help, but no help came. His friend Lucecock did not hear him. To the greatest exertion he managed to get his leg out, but the force required gave him a tremendous whirl, and he fell, sinking his left arm and part of his shoulder out of sight. He was a queer looking specimen when his friend came to his rescue about sunset, and after considerable time he braced him up and dragged him, looking more like a lamppost in early spring than a fine looking young man from "Boston." The two hunters then went to work extricating the boots. After a while they succeeded. Then they went into a barn yard, purchased a shabby looking pair of chickens that looked like a dunghill bantam sick with the "pink-eyes," and started for home. Before Rhodes left for home he stated to an intimate female friend that he would rather tackle a pot of baked beans from the summit of the Bunker Hill monument than to go duck hunting out west in mud time.

A USE FOR MUD.

If you doubt that there is a beauty after all in the mud on our streets, take up a small box full, carry it to your home, plant as many different flower seeds as you like therein, give it water and sunshine, and then watch developments.

"THE SORCERER."

The Bee, in its yesterday morning's issue, stated that Professor Seager was preparing the opera "Sorcerer." We understand that the opera is being prepared exclusively by the Philharmonic society of Council Bluffs, under the musical direction of Prof. Parr, of Omaha. The society here has been engaged for the past four months in hearing the opera, which they will produce on Thursday and Friday evenings, November 10th and 11th. Mr. Seager has been employed by the society as stage manager, and will be paid by the society. Mr. Seager has nothing whatever to do with the production of the opera or the financial management of the same. The society certainly deserving the approbation and encouragement of our people. Its object is to bring out the musical talent in the city, and the only passport to its membership, with all the benefits attending the society, is a love and ear for music. The society at the present is composed of all our musical young gentlemen and ladies. All proceeds, after the expenses are paid, go into the general fund, to be used in purchasing new musical works and compositions. "The Sorcerer" is one of Gilbert & Sullivan's best, requiring seventy different characters to produce it, the greatest number that have ever appeared in an opera at one time. Still a few of those fine Salt Lake potatoes at B. F. Lankton's, corner of Fifth street and Fifth avenue.
