

PAUL THE PADDLER. His Last Experience in the Lecture Field.

Boyton's Brother in a British Dugout

It was the general desire of the citizens of Omaha that Capt. Boyton might be induced to lecture in Omaha while here, and THE BEE reporter asked him on Sunday evening if there was any prospect of his gratifying their wishes.

"No," was the reply, "I have quit the lecture field entirely after an experience I had once down on the Mississippi."

Very naturally the captain was asked what his experience there was, and he told it, the facts being good enough to go with Mark Twain's adventures in the same line.

He was making a trip down the Father of Waters, and left Memphis, one day, intending to make an all night run. As he passed Helena, Ark., the populace turned out on masses to greet him, and surrounded him in the water with a fleet of small boats, every mother's son of them having a flask or bottle of beer which they pressed on him, and were so enthusiastic that they finally compelled him to land.

He had made a long pull, and, being tired, thought he might as well stop over night.

The mayor of the town came to him and wanted him to lecture at night, but the captain refused on the plea that he never lectured.

"Oh, well, fix all that. You just leave the matter to us, and we will get an audience at the opera house and you can talk to them."

The navigator went to bed and was soon asleep, forgetting all about the lecture which he had no thoughts of giving. At 8 o'clock the mayor woke him, shaking his arm, and said: "Come, captain, the house is full. We've got it all arranged."

"I can't lecture," said Boyton; "I've no clothes." He had only his white flannel undershirt, the lower garment coming about to his knees.

"I've fixed that, too," said the mayor. "I'll give you my coat to wear, and I have sent the doctor to borrow a pair of pants." After much persuasion the captain followed him to the opera house, which was jammed full. The doctor, however, did not come, and the audience howled for the curtain to go up.

"I can't lecture," said the mayor, in great perplexity. "What has become of him? Stay, I have it. We'll fix you out. So saying, the official got a tall desk, which he set in the center of the stage. He then procured a large curtain, which he wrapped about the desk, so as to conceal the lecturer's lower extremities, and having done the borrowed coat, Paul took his place behind the desk and the curtain went up.

Warming up in the course of his lecture, from the hearty enthusiasm with which it was received, he began the story of the fight with a shark in the straits of Messina, when he had three ribs broken. Coming to the crisis of the event he forgot himself, and as he went to make an emphatic gesture he strode out boldly from the shelter of the desk.

He saw a look of great astonishment on the faces of the audience, which gradually deepened into a broad grin, and then went off into a perfect roar of laughter. Glimping down he realized the situation, and with one grand bolt shot off the stage and ended his lecture abruptly.

"That was my last lecture," said the captain, "and satisfied me with the stage."

He has delivered no other lecture on this trip, and it was only after the utmost urging upon the part of his friends here that he consented to stop over and give the citizens of Omaha a talk at the Academy last night.

As is known to many, he is a brother of the Boyton who is imprisoned in Ireland, and in whose behalf as a citizen of the United States Mr. Blaine declined to interfere. It is the desire of many to hear something of his brother during the lecture, and the captain will no doubt gratify the wish.

FASTER TIME.

The Chicago Roads Making Changes in Their Schedules.

The new Chicago and Denver, or more properly, Omaha and Denver fast express train is causing the railroads between this city and Chicago to make changes in their running time which will work equally to the advantage of local as through travel.

The first road to announce the changes in the new time schedule is the Chicago & Rock Island. The train which will connect with the Denver express will leave Chicago at 9:15 p. m., and arrive here at 7:00 p. m., Chicago time, which will make the time of its arrival by Omaha time, 6:27 p. m. The morning train east will not leave the transfer depot until 8:42 a. m., Omaha time, which will allow a connection with the Denver express, and will arrive in Chicago by the time of that city, 7:25 a. m., the following day.

Both the C. & Q. and Northwestern roads will probably follow this change in time. The advantage to Omaha passengers will be faster time to Chicago and also convenience in the time of leaving this city in the morning, as it will be no longer necessary to catch the 6 o'clock transfer train.

Off for a Trip.

General Agent Davenport, of the C. B. & Q. and Kansas City roads, left yesterday for the West on an extended trip through Montana, Idaho and Utah. He is accompanied by Mark Morton, the traveling agent of the C. B. & Q. Mr. Davenport will combine business with pleasure and will be absent about a month. His recent promotion to the General Agency of the C. B. & Q. and K. C., and St. Jo & C. B. roads at this point demonstrated the faithfulness with which his arduous duties have been performed, and his present vacation is one richly deserved. During Mr. Davenport's absence the local agent, L. M. Kintz, will assume the general agent's duties. And while the subject is in mind, have the much traveling citizens of Omaha and Nebraska ever stopped to think that here, at this western terminus of the great eastern roads, are located four of the best railroad men in the country? It would be a difficult task indeed to find elsewhere or any where four such capable, judicious, and withal accommodating and genial gentlemen as are Davenport of the C. B. & Q. and K. C., St. Jo & C. B., Clark of the Northwestern; Stephens of the Rock Island; and Gault of the "Cannon Ball," or Washburn line. They are "4 of a kind" who can't be beaten.

GREAT QUESTIONS

Discussed and Answered at the Christian Church Sunday Night.

The announcement that the pastor of the Christian church would answer the following questions at his church Sunday night, drew a large and deeply interested audience, the house being filled to its utmost capacity. By the request of many who listened to the sermon, the following extract is published:

The questions were: 1. What is a change of heart? 2. How can the sinner come to Christ? 3. What is the difference between the baptism of the Holy Spirit and the Gift of the Holy Spirit?

Only the first two questions were answered, the last being laid over until Sunday night.

The speaker said: "Inasmuch as the questions related to man's salvation, they could only be answered out of God's word."

The first step in answer to the first question is to determine what is meant by the heart in the Bible. This can be done by grouping together the scriptures referring to the heart of man.

From these we learn that the heart embraces: 1. The understanding—Matt. 13:15. 2. The Reasoning Powers—Mark 2:6-8. 3. The Emotional Nature—John 10:6-22, and Acts 2:26. 4. The Will—Acts 7:51. 5. The Affections—Matt. 6:20-21. 6. The Memory—Luke 1:66. 7. The Imagination—Luke 1:51 and 2:10.

To purify the heart is to purify the understanding, reason, emotion, will, affection, memory and imagination of man. This change is brought about by God himself. But God does not bring his power to bear upon the heart of man direct, but has ordained the gospel unto salvation.

Here Rom. 1, 16, was introduced, and it was shown that the gospel was designed to enlighten the mind, subdue the will, win the affections, produce joy and happiness, store the memory with useful knowledge, and purify the imagination of man.

The second question, "How to come to Christ," was then taken up, and occupied the evening. It was shown by reference to John 6:44, that no man can come to Christ except the father draw him, and it was proven by the 45 verse that God draws men to Christ by His word, by what men hear and learn of the father. Reference was also made to John 12:32, to show that God drew men to Him, and to Christ by the death of His son, on the cross.

The death of Jesus being understood and believed, with the love of the sinner, and this is a very important step towards coming to Christ. But it was claimed that the sinner might hear this pathetic story of Christ's suffering and believe it and love Christ and yet not be in Christ, or in possession of his covenant blessings.

To support this position reference was made to Acts 11, 37, 38. It was taught that the persons asking the question "What must we do?" having heard the Gospel, believed it, and were in love with Jesus, but had not yet attained to the blessings of the Gospel, and when they cried to the Apostles of Christ for the instructions as to their duty, the answer was: "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and you shall receive the Holy Ghost." From all this the conclusion was reached that to come to Christ, the sinner must: 1. Hear the Gospel. 2. Believe in Him. 3. Repent of his sins. 4. Be baptized—relying entirely upon the death, the blood of Jesus Christ, for pardon.

Rom. 6:1, 4, was read, as corroborating the above view.

During the services Mr. McGranahan came in with his aids and sang "Ye Must Be Born Again," to the great delight of the audience.

At the close of the services one young man presented himself for membership in the church and will be immersed next Wednesday night.

The teaching of Mr. Whittle was spoken of in terms of highest commendation.

Bricklayer's Benefit Ball.

The benefit ball given by the Bricklayer's Association last night in Central Hall was a very enjoyable and successful occasion. About seventy-five couples were present, which represented only about half the number of tickets sold. The Irving orchestra furnished the music. Supper was served at eleven o'clock, after which the prize walking contest took place. Mrs. Samuel Walker was declared the best lady waltzer competing. The prize was a very handsome toilet set in a velvet case. Charles Willis received the prize—a gold pin—for selling the greatest number of tickets.

Miraculous Diet.

"Your Spring Blossom is a success. I certainly think its effects are wonderful; all the dyspeptic symptoms I complained of have vanished; my wife is also enthusiastic in praise of it; she was disfigured by blotches and pimples on her face, and had a continuous headache. She is all right now, and all unsightly eruptions have gone. You may refer any doubting parties to me." R. M. WILLIAMS, "Elixir Street, Buffalo."

Price, 50 cents; trial bottles, 10 cents. (17-eod11)

Paul Boyton, the intrepid navigator and heroic commander of the torpedo service in the late Peruvian war will give one of his entertaining lectures. He does this at the general request of the citizens of Omaha, and it will be the first lecture given on his Yellowstone-Missouri voyage. He had intended to leave at noon today, but was so pressed to stay that he finally consented. Popular prices of admission will be charged.
