PLATTSMOUTH, November 8.-Maxwell's majority in Cass county is 300. The entire republican county ticket is elected by a large majority. The city of Plattsmouth is republican for the first time in years, a republican gain a year ago. BUTLER COUNTY. Special Dispatch to The Bec. ULYSSES, November 8.—The elec tion in Butler county is noted for bold and open bribery. The republican ticket is probably defeated, excepting Davis, candidate for treasurer. The county precincts will give the anti-monopoly ticket a good vote, but in all the towns it does not figure conspicuously. The count has not been completed in David City. The tickets counted give this result: Evens, democrat, for · clerk, 84; Lordich, 90; Fenlon, democrat, for sheriff, 89; Wills, republican, for sheriff, 87; than was expected. MISSISSIPPI

JACKSON, Miss., November 8 .-Weather fair and voting here commenced early and continues with great interest.

VICKSBURG, November 8. - The election is progressing quietly. At noon the indications are that Lowery, democrat, will receive a large majority for governor. The democratic ticket will all be elected in this county, except Sheriff Beck, republican, will be elected. In every county the demo-crats are said to be leading, except Hinds, where the fusion ticket is ahead.

Jackson, November 8 .- There is now a large number of negroes voting the Democratic ticket. News has just been received of a riot in Londerdale county, in which the democratic nominee for assessor and two other white men were killed by negroes.

AN ELECTION RIOT. Vicksburg, November 8. - A special to the Herald from Meridian, Miss . says that soon after the polls were opened this morning at Marion, Miss., a row occurred, in which three white men were killed. Among the killed was A. T. Harvey, the present assessor and democratic candidate for re-clection. The white men killed were A. T. Harvey, Joe Bowel and Jeff Segars; Vincent Segars is mortally wounded. Two of the negroes who did the shooting are non-residents of Marion. Peace and quiet prevailed here to-

PHILADELPHIA, November 8-Noon. -The election is progressing quietly and a light vote is being polled. There is great apathy in many wards, but the reformers are doing hard work in of 150 in the city over the election of every section with a view of electing their ticket. The democrats are without an organization in many of the wards, while the republicans are active and will get out a good vote. The indications at this hour are that Bailey, for state treasurer, will have over 20,000 majority in the city, and the entire republican ticket, with the exception, probably, of one of the commissioners, will be elected. Bailey will probably be elected by 10,000 to 20,000 majority, if the state estimate is correct.

PITTSBURG, November 8.-A very light vote was cast to-day, though the weather was fair. The total vote of the city will scarcely reach 35,000. Scattering returns show that Wolfe, anti-Cameron candidate for state treasurer, is making a stronger run Davis, republican, for treasurer, 147; precincts give Bailey, republican, 2,562; Noble, democrat, 1,715; Wolfe, 1,061. The republican county ticket is sure of election. Ninety-seven districts of this city give Bailey, republican, 6,759; Noble, democrat, 3,469; Wolfe, independent republican, 2,533. Reports to The Times from seventeen towns throughout western Pennsylvania give Bailey 4,617 majority. Wolfe is making an excellent run, but Noble is making a very poor one.

tor to-day. JUDGE LAWRENCE'S REPORT. Judge William Lawrence, first comptroller of the tressury, has submitted his annual report, of which the following is an abstract: Accounts and vouchers have been received from the first and fifth auditors and commissioner general of the land office, and credited as follows: From the first auditor 9,036 accounts and 61. 571 vouchers, amounting to $2, 707,339,299 69; from the fifth auditor 6,464 accounts and 164,547 vouchers, amounting to $758,673,-686.82. From the commissioner of the general land office, 2,351 accounts and 17,602 vouchers, amounting to $5,942,740. Total amount for which accounts and vouchers have been audited, $3,471,955,227.18. The report makes the following recommendations: That it be recommended to congress that the solicitor of the treasury represent the government before the first comptroller when important claims are being considered by him; that the secretary be given authority to cause an investigation by officers of the department of official transactions and accounts of any officer under the department. Some of the vouchers of the District of Columbia commistually needed. The attention of congress is, however, called to this fact. that they may take action upon the matter. He says it is indispensible to the prompt adjustment of claims and carrying on of the business of the office that additional clerical assistance be given him. He suggests that a division of the claims in the office, with proper persons in charge department, would each facilitate work. Regarding certain disbursing officers, who are also custodians, he recommends a form of report similar to that used in the quar ermaster's department, under section 1221 of the revised statutes. He suggests that provisions be made for filling the places of secretaries of the ter ritories in case of death or absence of persons holding such places. He again recommends that a limit be fixed for the time in which claims against the government may be brought.

A CIRCULAR.

The second auditor of the treasury o-day issued a circular calling the attention of the disbursing agents of the department to the statute prohibiting payment in the absence of any article purchased by the government. This is to avoid a repetition of the complications that have hitherto arisen in this respect.
