Tuesday was an election day of the all that the workers at the polls could desire, although the muddy streets somewhat interfered with the effective work of "skirmishers" in carriages and on foot. A hasty visit to each of the ward polls showed that every. thing was proceeding quietly, and that, These goods have been ordered from the although the saloons were generally best eastern manufacturers to suit their open, little disturbance had oclarge fall and winter trade. Give them a curred. The workers around the polls were numerous, and seem to be well disciplined. Large cloth banners on the carriages, used to hunt up and bring in decrepit and unheeding voters, showed on which side of the fight they are employed. At 4 p. m. the report was as follows:

The republican ticket, as a whole, is ahead in the city and also ahead in four wards. Rush leads this ticket, with Chadwick next. On the democratic ticket Hartman is considerably ahead also, and it is probable that the two candidates for treasurer will have the largest votes cast. The court house appropriation bonds are being generally voted, without opposition. Taylor, democratic candidate for county elerk, is running strongly in the Third, Fifth and Sixth wards. In the afternoon the B. & M. company's clerks turned out in a body and championed his cause. The different candidates are either reserving their forces for the later hours of the day or the total vote will be light.

considerable excitement all day. A two o'clock 280 votes, out of a possible 650, had been polled. Several bogue tickets were out and also many straigh democratic on which O'Keefe's name was spelled O'Keffe. These the inspeclor's friends were doing all they could for him, and Hartman was working hard. Still the republican ticket and candidates were ahead. There was considerable pulling about of unde cided voters, but no fights. The col ored troops had not as yet shown up in great force, evidently laying bac for orders or, perhaps, supplies.

The fight in the Fourth ward was a very tame one. There was little stir 143 votes had been cast.

The Fifth ward polls, corner of Sixteenth and Chicago streets, looked like the pay office of the U. P. shops on Saturday night. A string of voters 100 feet long were waiting patiently for a chance to deposit their ballots. A great deal of quiet work was being done for Rush, Taylor and Hartman around the corner, and the tickets were deftly handled. At 2 o'clock 271 votes had been polled here.

The Sixth ward polls were dull in the forenoon but became exceedingly friends began to show their work here as they had in the Fifth ward, while Baumer (republican, for clerk) made more than usual exertions to hold his advantage. A large crowd were about the polls, which were in No. I's en-cast, and they were coming in lively. The indications for the whole city are strongly in favor of an entire republican victory. The number of votes cast up to 2 o'clock in the whole city was 1,388. This indicates only about a two-thirds vote. The figh may wax warmer, however, by night the reserve forces may be brought out. A number of mistakes in the printing of the tickets, the abundance of scratches, and the "bogus" tickets palmed off on voters for 'straights' will probably delay the counting until a late hour this evening. THE RESULT.

The polls closed at 6 o'clock, and then commenced the most laborious and tedious work of the day-counting the votes, for the scratches were like unto the sands of the sea shore in number.

It was 9 o'clock before anything like an estimate could be made, and then no reliable figures had been arrived at. Enough was determined, however, to show that the republican ticket had made a clean sweep in the city, and that Miller, candidate for sheriff, and Rush, candidate for treasurer, were elected by an overwhelming majority. The total vote was about two-thirds of the registry.

The canvass in the First ward was continued until 2 o'clock, when the inspectors adjourned until 1 o'clock p. m. to-day, withort announcing any result. It was generally conceded, however, that the republican ticket was ahead. There were still however, that the republican 217 "splits" in the box to count.

A charge of so much importance has only escaped earlier mention from the fact that events so momentous have been transpiring continually to crowd it for the time from notice and it is not uncomplimentary to Mr. Dey's successor to say that the announcement of the change in officers will be read with regret by all our citizens who have had opportunity of becoming acquainted with the gentleman who soon leaves us, or who have had relations either in an official or social capacity with him. It is somewhat in mitigation of the disappointment that the fact the Shields majority 57 change is in the nature of a promotion will be learned. Mr. Dey about four weeks ago made application to the department to be transferred tolthe Pike's Peak station, and a week ago he received notice that pursuant to his request the transfer would be made very soon. The request was made with the double purpose of securing more time for study in this branch of the service and for the greater responsibility and experience would bring. The new station affords an opportunity to do special meteorological work and make scientific observations, for which important facilities are afforded. force of assistants is larger and the field of research in the science of which Mr. Dey is a votary, much broader in its scope, and the notification of the transfer was accompanied by the expressed hope that he would testify the appreciation of his promotion by extra efforts toward the end sought. Mr. Dey came to Omaha in Janua ry, 1880, and he has been known as a dilligent officer, a thorough student versed in the intricacies of his work, and as a pleasant acquaintance and an upright and useful citizen. His lectures in the Baptist church during the first spring of his residence here attracted no little attention and he is a valued contributor to various publications in the line of his profession. He has been in the signal service seven years and has been stationed at Buffile, Cleveland, Mobile and Omaha. He takes away with him more than he brought, a wife, whom he married in Council Bluffs in June last, and to both we wish a continued enjoyment of the good will that has been theirs while in their midst. Mr. Dey's successor is Mr. Alexander Poliak, who arrived with his family on Sunday morning last and has already assumed his new position. THE BEE extends to him a hearty welcome to the Gate City.
