"GUILTY."

Charles DeGroat Convicted of the Crime of Arson.

Impressive Scene at the Court Room Last Night.

The concluding argument in the trial of Charles DeGroat for arson was finished yesterday afternoon by Judge Thurston, who concluded a splendid effort at 11 o'clock. During his speech Judge Thurston commented upon the presence in the court room of many friends and supporters of the DeGroats and said that his duty was of an unpleasant nature, but he did not shrink from it. Judge Savage charged the jury at some length, and at half past eleven they retired. The general opinion was that the prisoner would be acquitted or the jury fail to agree.

GUILTY.

At 10 o'clock last night the jury announced that they had arrived at a verdict. Judge Savage was sent for and soon arrived. The prisoner, accompanied by his brother, and one of the counsel for the defense, Clarkson, was brought into the court room. There were only two or three other persons, besides the officers of the court, present, and by the dim light, the scene was most impressive. Judge Savage asked the foreman of the jury, Ryan, if they had agreed upon a verdict.

"We have, your honor," said the foreman, and he handed the judge a folded paper. Glancing at it, Judge Savage handed it to the prisoner. As Charles DeGroat saw the word "guilty" written within, he turned his head aside and sank into a chair, utterly helpless.

As soon as the prisoner had recovered he was remanded to the custody of the sheriff, and the jury were discharged.

Clarkson moved for a new trial, and the motion will be considered by Judge Savage to-day.

Watson B. Smith.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, November 8th, 1881.

WHEREAS, God in His inscrutable wisdom has permitted an assassin to put out a shining light in the person of Watson B. Smith; and,

WHEREAS, The members of the W. C. T. U. feel that they are responsible to some extent for placing Mr. Smith in the fore-front of the temperance battle; and,

WHEREAS, We feel that he lost his life in the service of God and humanity; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That we humbly submit to the righteous judgment God has sent upon us, confessing as Christians our own delinquency in this work.

RESOLVED, That as Christians the most fitting tribute we can offer to his memory, is the taking up of the work for which he laid down his life.

RESOLVED, That we ever hold in grateful remembrance, the purity of his life, the earnestness of his Christianity and the bravery of his manhood and that we strive to follow in his footsteps.

RESOLVED, That we offer our tenderest sympathies to the bereaved family, asking that God will bind up their broken hearts.

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family, that they be placed upon our records and published in our daily papers.

MUSIC AND DANCING.

Pleasant Party Last Evening—Telegraphers' Ball.

A very pleasant private party was given at Standard Hall last evening. About twenty couples were present, and all seemed to fully enjoy the occasion. Hoffman's orchestra performed well the musical part of the program, while the company danced with happy faces and tripping feet. The floor managers were Charles McDonald, Ed. Shelby, Matt. Clair, and Ed. Murphy. A well arranged program of only eighteen numbers enabled the company to disperse at a seasonable hour. Such parties will bear many repetitions.

TELEGRAPHERS' BALL.

The lightning slingers of Omaha and Council Bluffs, of whom there are about seventy-five, will give a grand ball in Central hall, on Fourteenth street in this city, Monday evening, November 29th. It will doubtless be a most pleasant affair. Invitations will be sent by the executive committee and operators who desire their friends invited will leave their names with the committee as early as possible.

Death Record.

The death of George F. Clark, son of F. L. Clark, residing on Izard, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth, which took place at 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, will be learned with regret by a great many. He has been for some time in the employ of the U. P. R. R. in the general ticket office, where he won universal favor by his bright, intelligent, business-like character and careful attention to duty at all times. He had just begun to recover from the scarlet fever and was taken with the diptheria, which proved fatal. He was but fourteen years of age. The funeral will take place at 2 p. m. to-morrow.

THE PATH-FINDERS.

A Talk With a Man Who Passed Through Nebraska in '39.

The west bound U. P. train, a few days since, had among its first class passengers a venerable looking gentleman over whose head the sunshine and storms of about sixty-five years had swept and still not wrecked him.

In conversation with a BEE reporter he incidentally mentioned the fact that he was one of the pioneers of this great empire west of the Missouri. In 1839 he passed through Nebraska with his wife and another white man and woman, in route to Oregon, then almost as inaccessible by overland route as the North pole. The name of this veteran in pioneer service is J. S. Griffin, who resides in Hillsboro, Oregon. He was ordained as an Evangelist in 1838 by the Congregational association of Loram, county, Ohio, and equipped and sent, "as a law unto himself," west of the Rocky Mountains, in February, 1839. He has just been east for the third time, making a report of his labors in that far western state.

In contrast with the present trip in palace cars, he recalled that trip forty-two years ago, when he and his wife came to Independence, Mo., in a wagon, which they were compelled to leave there, as the country was impassable then, even for that luxury. Their outfit was packed on horses, and in company with a party of traders belonging to the Hudson Bay Co., they crossed the Missouri at St. Joe, and the Platte at Grand Island, and then made, Mr. Griffin claims, the first overland trip since the Lewis and Clarke expedition in 1804. He also claims that he is the original Pathfinder, and that General Fremont did nothing more than follow up the trail of his little company. Mrs. Griffin was the first white woman ever seen in what is now the state of Oregon.

Mr. Griffin is still actively engaged in his life work.

Card of Thanks.

We cannot take our departure from the city of Omaha, where we have for these few weeks sojourned, without expressing in some manner the deep sense of gratitude we feel for the kindly welcome we received and the generous response made to our appeal for charity, as well as our indebtedness to the amiable bishop, the Right Reverend James O'Connor, to whose kind patronage we owe, in a great measure, our unexpected success.

May they be ever blessed in the Sacred hearts of Jesus and Mary. In return we promise them—all we have to offer—a share in the merits of the prayers and good works of

THE SISTERS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD'S of Ottawa, Canada.

Got Out Doors.

The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operative pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder. nov 15

"D—d Black Republican."

A reporter of THE BEE went into the Metropolitan hotel about eleven o'clock last night and consulted the register to note the arrivals. A party of men were standing near by discussing some topic. Noticing the reporter's notebook, one said, "Be careful what you say. There's a reporter and he'll get you in the paper." Another of the party, named M. C. Wetmore, a drummer from St. Louis, turned to the newspaper man, who had neither noticed him nor his companions, and abruptly asked, "What paper?" The answer was, "THE BEE." Then said Wetmore, "Oh, that's a d—d black republican sheet, and if he reports anything people will know it is a lie." The remark indicated one of two things—that the man making it was either Wetmore inside with poor whisky than he should be, or that he is one of the few remnants of Missouri border-ruffianism who are yet found, and of whom the James boys and Youngers are types. In either event he is no gentleman.

Mr. P. B. Backus, proprietor of the 99 cent store, is about to remove his large and curiously assorted stock of goods from the store he has been occupying for the past five years, to No. 1209 Farnham street. This is the store room formerly occupied by A. L. Strang. Mr. Backus has branch establishments running at Lincoln and Avoca, Iowa, and surely, if any man ever earned the large and lucrative trade which he enjoys, Backus is the man! Direct attention to business, coupled with generous, fair treatment of patrons seems to be the motto at the 99 cent store.

A DOUBLE SCORE.

The Most Magnificent Minstrel Company in Existence.

It has come to be expected by the amusement loving public of America, that, while the farmer is annually harvesting his golden grain and separating the wheat from the chaff, Jack Haverly, the prince of managers, has done the same in the theatrical field and his is a harvest which never fails. Each year his ingenuity is taxed to gratify the public and the brilliant and magnificent entertainment at Boyd's new opera house last night was his crowning effort.

A BEE reporter, who attended Haverly's variety theater on Summit street, Toledo, way back in the '60's, can see in this last and greatest achievement in the line of modern minstrelsy, a triumph of art and a living illustration of the success which awaits a progressive and enterprising man in whatever field his talent is exercised. What Fred Englehardt's whale would be among the minnows of a brook the New Mastodons are among the minstrel troupes of to-day—immense. It needed just such a setting as Boyd's temple of art to exhibit the New Mastodon palace, and the forty Mastadons, in their gorgeous attire, captured the very large house from the rising of the curtain and the first ringing music from the chimes of Normandy. The end men, in their plush coats, navy blue trousers, and patent leather shoes, the "middle men" in their swallow tailed coats and white kids, and the row upon row of minstrels in full evening dress, made a spectacle so dazzling as to fairly take one's breath away.

The bill presented was new, both in matter and form; the acts, sketches and specialties all novel and taking; the songs and dances superior to a marked degree, and the whole performance of so refined and elevated a character as to mark a new era in negro minstrelsy.

The closing up of the introductory part with music from the Mascotte was exceedingly happy and Fred Malcom and Jos. Garland, in the duet, "When I See Thee" were rapturously encored. In fact the "Gobble" duet was never sung better on this stage. Harry Robbin's "aerial flights," convulsed the audience and was the most laughable feature of the performance. The plantation sketch entitled "The Corn Cob Family" was received with tremendous approval, and Hall's banjo playing brought him encore upon encore.

Haverly's quinetette met with an enthusiastic reception and well deserved it, and the Echo Horn sextette were not a whit less favorably greeted. The performance by the "Unequalled Jockey Club's Team" of thirteen clog dancers was a fitting termination to the best minstrel entertainment ever presented by any troupe in the country.

Manager J. H. Mack may justly feel a pride in his work, the wonderful results of which cannot be recorded in language too strong.

SNAKE RIVER GOLD.

An Omaha Firm Patents a Successful Mining Machine.

About three weeks ago Mr. J. R. Boyce of Omaha, went to Blackfoot, Idaho, in charge of a machine which had been shipped to that point for the purpose of making some experiments in saying the gold from the gravel beds along Snake river. The machine was constructed in Omaha and is patented by Messrs. Woodman & Seifkins, of this city.

It is a well-known fact that the saving of the gold from the gravel beds along Snake river requires a different process than in most any other locality; at least appliances that will work well in other places and save the gold will not pay for mining in these beds, while an appliance that will work there will pay in almost any other place.

The Blackfoot Register of the 5th inst. says:

"When Mr. Boyce arrived here he constructed a small flume to conduct the water about twenty rods and when secured had scarcely eight feet fall, which was hardly a sufficient force to cause the jets to discharge as intended. The gravel was also only loose wash and many doubted that he would find any gold at all. About fifty tons was washed, which fully demonstrated that the machine is a complete success and showed where any improvements could be made in its construction, which was all that was desired by Mr. Boyce. Owing to the insufficient force of water a considerable amount of sand collected in the bottom of the machine which with a strong force can be avoided. About five dollars worth of gold was taken from the plates, and from experiments made it is estimated that from thirty to forty dollars is contained in about two bushels of the sand which is collected in the bottom. The tailings have been experienced upon and not a color could be found, thus fully demonstrating that not a particle of gold passed out of the machine."

Mr. Boyce has returned to Omaha well satisfied with his experiment, and will superintend the construction of machines, making any improvements that may be required, and next season expects to see a number of them working along Snake river.

PERSONAL.

Wm. A. Paxton left for Cheyenne on the Denver through train last evening.

Ed. S. Mayo, accompanied by his wife and her mother, left yesterday for San Francisco.

Chas. Kahlo, U. S. consul to Sydney, N. S. W., was on the train yesterday en route to Frisco.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hoxton returned yesterday from Boston, having been absent two months.

General and Mrs. Chas H. Van Wyck, left Washington city on the 5th inst., and will arrive home in a day or two.

D. C. Raymond and daughter, who had been visiting Hon. A. J. Poppleton, in this city, left for the coast yesterday.

The Metropolitan and Canfield entertained the Haverly troupe yesterday. The whole troupe number fifty people.

O. W. Hall, formerly of Burt county, now in Paxton & Gallagher's, has been appointed railway postal clerk on the U. P. route.

Ed. Hainey, the boss baggage-smasher, of the Union Pacific depot, started yesterday on a week's trip, during which time he will visit his brother in Kansas.

P. Rumsey, a well-known citizen of Omaha, and his family, left last evening for Santa Fe, N. M., where he assumes proprietorship of a large and new hotel, known as the Palace Hotel.

Mrs. Judge Porter, who has been visiting at the residence of Head Baggagemaster Ed. Haney, of the Union Pacific depot, for some months, returned to her home in Globe City, Arizona, yesterday.

General I. M. Meily, ex-adjutant general of Ohio, was in this city yesterday, visiting friends. He left for Denver on the noon train. General Meily is the owner of several rich mines in the vicinity of Leadville.

Louis Beaumont, the well known and competent day clerk of the Withnell House, left Tuesday for a month's vacation in Colorado. During his absence, the good looking and genial night clerk, Frank Gable, will assume the duties.

The following persons are among the arrivals yesterday at the Canfield house: Christus Gabler and wife, of Fremont; O. Bruton, of Fremont; W. A. Sheldon, of Grand Island; H. P. Kinz, of Friend; Wm. H. Wright, of Papillion; Theodore Debry, of St. Paul, Neb.; Martha H. Pike, of Papillion; G. H. Peebles, of David City.

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with neuralgia, and a dull, heavy, inactive condition of the whole system, headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family.—A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal nov14-15

"THE BEAUTIFUL."

It Comes Down at the Rate of an Inch an Hour.

The first snow of the season for Omaha commenced flying at 6 o'clock last night, and continued to fall steadily all night. It soon covered the walks, streets, buildings and trees with a white mantle, which was also heavy and full of water. The storm seemed to come from the southeast, but little snow in that direction was reported by travelers from the evening train. Snow has been falling at intervals for over a month west of Cheyenne, and in that city a week ago it was nearly a foot deep. Omaha, therefore, has been exceedingly lucky to escape the inevitable slush which accompanies the first snow, until this time.

With a harder bottom the snow would be sufficiently deep for sleighing, but in the present state of the roads it can only be an aggravation to liverymen and other owners of cutters and bells. A premonition of the storm was furnished at the Barracks yesterday forenoon, when a slight flurry appeared in the air. Travel will doubtless be considerably delayed to-day. The depth of snow at 2 o'clock, when it had not melted, was seven inches, or nearly an inch an hour.

Omaha in the Mirror.

Among the papers which find their way to THE BEE office, The New York Mirror stands at the head of the list of dramatic newspapers in the east. It is in fact the most sought after theatrical people and has not only the largest circulation among dramatic papers, but has the lead in all matters of news pertaining to the profession. It is profusely illustrated and the contributions both from pen and pencil are of the highest order of merit. Among the former, in the last number, are two Nebraska contributions, representing Omaha and Lincoln. The very able correspondent of The Mirror, at this point, is Dr. H. W. Hyde, the well-known M. D., who not only stands at the head of his profession, but a writer of no small ability, a gentleman of intelligence and culture and a correspondent in whose hands the interests of no journal will ever suffer. He is just such a representative as a high-toned paper like The Mirror can afford to have.
