AN INTERVIEW WITH HIM—HOW HE LOOKS.

WASHINGTON, November 12.—The following special dispatch was sent to the New York Evening Post this afternoon:

It was allowed a short talk with Guiteau in his cell. He was lying on the cot, and came to the door with his hands under his head in a reflective mood. When he saw the visitors he arose from the cot and pushed his feet into the slippers which were by the bedside. In answer as to how he felt this gloomy weather, he said he was enjoying good health. "Do you feel prepared for the trial?" "Yes, I am ready to have it come off on Monday."

PREPARATIONS FOR THE TRIAL.

The platform which has been erected in the criminal court for the accommodation of the spectators of the Guiteau trial will furnish seats for about 500, who must have tickets from proper officers. The trial begins at 10 a. m. Monday. Judge Cox presides. Judge Porter, Col. Corkhill and Mr. Davidge, who are counsel for the government, express themselves thoroughly prepared. They have been in close consultation most of the day and evening, but decline to say anything about the line of prosecution further than that they will first legally establish the death, cause and general responsibility of the agent, leaving the details of insanity a question for rebuttal. Messrs. Scoville and Robinson find it of no use to consult with their client at present. They will make insanity the sole ground of defense, all the witnesses subpoenaed being for the support of that theory. On the question of the jury Scoville says: "We cannot expect to find jurors who have not formed or expressed an opinion on the case, and as far as I am concerned will not try to get such jurors. It ought not to take more than two days to get a jury." He thinks the trial will last at least a month and probably nearer three months. One hundred witnesses are on the list made out by the district attorney. The defense have summoned about seventy-five. Questions of law will arise which will have to be argued and will prolong the trial. He has not given up all hope of assistance from other lawyers. Trude, of Chicago, may yet assist. The trial cannot get far advanced in a week or so and by that time Trude's business may permit his coming. Scoville is in constant receipt of letters from different parts of the country from persons offering to serve on the jury. The writers think that because it is a United States court they can serve. He received two letters to-day from people in this city saying that they will serve impartially and they will give references. Also a postal card from a friend in Chicago saying that he has been around to get some men to "chip in" to help the defense and closing by saying that while he was willing to help the defense he hoped Guiteau would be hung. That is the kind of men Scoville says he would not have on the jury. Robinson declines to talk to the press on the subject of the trial but it is understood that while he expects to put the most work on the insanity plea, he wishes no legal point or right to be made to the advantage of his client, and is prepared, if necessary, to go into the question of jurisdiction, as well as malpractice. Among other things, it is known that the defense intend to place on record the direct responses of experts on insanity to the allegation that Guiteau is of unsound mind. They propose to show that his father was not a person of well balanced intellect; that he had two wives, his father's brothers, who died insane, and two children, one of whom is a sister who also died insane. Both of these aunts had insane children. The assassin's brother and sister will both be examined on this point.

GUITEAU GROWING ANXIOUS.

Warden Crocker reports Guiteau as apparently growing anxious for the day of trial. To-day he repeatedly requested to know whether his sister had arrived. Mrs. Scoville has been ill since her arrival, but expects to visit the prisoner to-morrow, in company with her husband and her brother, who arrived to-day.

WASHINGTON, November 13.—All the arrangements for the trial of Guiteau which begins to-morrow have been completed and counsel on both sides profess to be ready to proceed without any delay. The court officials have made adequate accommodations for the press. No person will be allowed in the court who can't be seated and an extra number of chairs upon a raised platform have been placed in position.

McDonald, superintendent of Ward's Island, New York Insane asylum who was summoned by the government as an expert on insanity, was closeted to-day for several hours with Guiteau at the jail. He talked with him on all subjects with a view to finding out the best of his mind. Guiteau talked freely on all subjects broached and showed no disposition to refuse answering any question. He did not in the least appear excited. Mr. McDonald refused to give any opinion as to his mental condition at this time, but from what is gathered he will be the most important witness for the government on the point when the trial comes up.

GUITEAU'S RELATIVES CALL ON HIM.

At 10 o'clock Scoville and his wife and sister and brother to the prisoner and the niece of Guiteau, about eight years of age, the daughter of Scoville, called at the jail. Guiteau was brought from the cell into the warden's office and there for three hours remained alone with his family. The interview represented by Scoville as most affecting. Mr. John W. Guiteau had not seen his brother for two years and Mrs. Scoville for three years. Guiteau talked about the crime for which he was under arrest quite freely. He said he would to-morrow, in the opening of the court, make what he termed a "racy and essential speech," setting forth the notice that prompted the deed. He upbraided the name of President Arthur, ex-Senator Conkling and Gen. Grant, who he said had neglected him in his commitment. He discussed at length the line of defense, and said he was not insane, but had been commissioned by God to do what he had done. "The time will come," remarked the prisoner, with a good deal of emphasis, accompanied by gestures, "when the name of Guiteau will be sounded with praise instead of being denounced." The prisoner then donned a new suit of black clothes bought by his brother, and strutted around before them with as much pride as a boy who has just taken off his swaddling clothes and donned his first pair of pants. He then piloted the party around the jail, showing them the cells in which he had been confined. He conversed all the time and said he had been allowed free access to the corridors. He took pleasure in showing the cell he occupied when Sergeant Mason fired the shot at him, pointing out the spot where the ball struck and assumed the position he was in at the time. The party, after remaining some three hours, left the prisoner accompanying it as far as the inner door. To-night Judge Porter, of New York, W. A. Davidge, of Washington, and Attorney Corkhill held a conference of several hours at the parlor of Judge Porter in Willard's hotel. All the points in the case were carefully gone over and much sworn testimony of witnesses for the government who will testify at the trial and which has been taken from time to time, was read. Counsel refuse to say what course will be pursued by the prosecution, but it is known that the government will beat the plea of insanity set up by the defense and charge that Guiteau was of sound mind and actuated by a desire for revenge.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL. National Associated Press.

MACVEAGH BACK.

WASHINGTON, November 13.—MacVeagh came on from New York to-day to participate in the star route conference to be held probably to-morrow, and he will no doubt bring the material to the attention of the cabinet at to-day's meeting. The form of the indictment is expected to be agreed on soon. The matter will probably rest till the Guiteau case is well under way.

MORE CABINET HUNTERS.

One of the president's most intimate friends stated to-day that there would be no changes in the cabinet before December unless, indeed, in the case of the attorney-generalship. Mr. MacVeagh, it is understood, thinks he can as well be spared now as at any time. Ex-Senator Howe is not so strongly talked of for the place now as formerly, but Hon. Rufus Storrs, of Chicago, it is said, will soon appear where McVeagh's name now stands. Secretary Blaine will stay as long as wanted and some of his friends say that Frelinghuysen asks to be excused and that certain influences may yet induce the president to keep Blaine at least a little longer than he first intended.

CORKHILL'S SUCCESSOR.

In the line of appointments the report circulated yesterday that Elihu Root, of Chicago, was to succeed Corkhill as United States attorney for the District of Columbia, is to-day given as a fact and no one can be found who is willing to contradict it. Col. Corkhill says that if it is so he does not know it. The fact that Root was in consultation with Judge Porter to-day adds weight to the announcement, as the president is known to have said that he desired Judge Porter to have more capable assistance in the Guiteau trial.

URGING A SOUTHERN MAN FOR THE CABINET.

The republicans of the south are still urging the president to appoint a southern man in the cabinet. The southern republican club here have arranged to present to the president next week a petition numerously signed asking him to place a southern man in the cabinet. The petition is not at all an aggressive one, but puts its facts in a very respectful manner. It will be presented by a delegation.

SHERMAN'S STABLES.

The Gazette of this city, which last Sunday published the affidavit of W. Paul Brown of the amount of work he had done on Secretary Sherman's stables, will to-morrow morning publish a card from Brown in which he states that said affidavit was a part of his testimony before the Melius investigating committee in the treasury department, and also that while the investigation of the custodian's office was in progress he was approached by a treasury employe, who endeavored to get him to surround memorandum books containing a record of the work he did on ex-Secretary Sherman's house and stable by promising him employment in the cabinet shop of the department. During Tuesday of last week, he says, he was again approached by a treasury employe and urged to surrender the book for the purpose of a confidential investigation. The book is still in Brown's possession and will remain there until required when Brown testifies before any committee of investigation. The Gazette also cites Secretary Windom as authority that the matter of Brown's affidavit was never brought to his attention by the commission or any one in the department.

THE CHRISTIANITY CASE.

WASHINGTON, November 12.—In the Christianity divorce case to-day Col. Horatio C. King, of New York, was called in regard to the deposition taken by him of Mrs. Christiany's alleged paramour. He stated that while the deposition was being taken Mrs. Christiany entered and asked to see certain letters of his which she understood were being offered in evidence. After some hesitation he allowed her to have them. She tore them, one at a time, and at the conclusion she said: "I did not know I could be so sentimental." A little later she said: "I had an object in view; I meant to entrap the scoundrel."

REPORTS. COMMISSIONER-GENERAL'S REPORT.

WASHINGTON, November 12.—The report of the commissioner-general, submitted to-day, recommends that the law ordering that an excess of per cent. above cost shall be charged enlisted men and officers for all stores and subsistence furnished them, be repealed; that the subsistence bureau be relieved from liability to contribute to the maintenance of Indians when their supplies run out and the employment of enlisted men as servants to officers discontinued and civilians employed instead.

INSPECTOR-GENERAL'S REPORT.

The inspector-general's report states that the discipline of the troops is constantly improving, and they are well fed and clothed. The report recommends that the practice of having enlisted men do mechanical work be discontinued, and hereafter be done by civilians, as it causes hardships among the soldiers, and desertion. The following recommendations are also made: That the sum committed for rations when the soldiers travel in detached service be increased from 75 cents per day to $1.50; that officers in the west, when traveling, be allowed $3 per day; that strong garrisons be maintained at or near Fort Hill, Indian territory, to prevent outbreaks, and at other points where such outbreaks are likely to occur, as the wild Indian has great respect for force; that the army should be furnished with competent teachers; that the government be given the rifle and carbine practice in volume which, it is reported, is improving the soldiers wonderfully in marksmanship; that the troops in the Indian country be collected into larger bodies, making garrisons fewer in number, that congress make some arrangements whereby war recruits may be mustered and drilled before being assigned to regiments.

REPORT OF COMMISSIONER OF CUSTOMS.

The annual report of the commissioner of customs has been given to the public. It shows the custom receipts for the year to have been $198,159,676.02; the cost of collecting which was $9,383,288.10.

SECRETARY LINCOLN'S REPORT.

Secretary Lincoln in his annual report furnished to-day calls attention to the urgent necessity for the completion of the new war department building and strongly urges favorable consideration by congress of the $450,000 asked to commence work on the west wing. He also calls attention to the necessity of further legislation to make available appropriations for the erection of a building for the pension office. The money was placed in charge of Quartermaster General Meigs, but was rendered unavailable by the omission of a word in the act making the appropriation. Secretary Lincoln refers with commendation to the renewed recommendation of the quartermaster-general that a fire proof building be erected in this city for the preservation of public records. He also commends to congress the recommendation of Surgeon-General Barnes that an appropriation be made for the erection of a new army medical museum in which to preserve intact the records accumulated in the old building.

NEBRASKA ELECTION. Official Figures—COUNTING.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE BEE. WEST POINT, Neb., November 11.—Maxwell's vote in Cumtng county is as follows: Maxwell 626; Munger 661; Powers, 1,282; Brass, 173; Barr, 173. Bierbower, district attorney Fifth judicial district, 1,264. The alliance ticket elected sheriff, county commissioner and county judge. A light vote was cast.

SALINE.

WILBUR, November 11.—There is nothing of importance to note from this place. The election went off quietly and resulted in electing a democratic county clerk and sheriff.

SHAWNEE.

HERBES, November 11.—The election returns disclose the fact that every candidate on the alliance anti-monopoly Thayer county ticket were elected: H. C. Biglow, treasurer; A. T. Clements, clerk; M. S. Ferguson, sheriff; John K. Keith, superintendent; Frank Decker, commissioner; G. W. Allen; surveyor; C. M. Sutherland, coroner. The speech of Mr. Rosewater at Hobron contributed largely to the above result. An adverse majority of about 400 had to be overcome, and a thorough canvass was made.

SALINE COUNTY'S OFFICIAL VOTE.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OMAHA BEE. WILBUR, Neb., November 12.—The official canvass of Saline county gives the republican state ticket 1,006 majority. The democrat elect the clerk, sheriff and county commissioner which gives them control of the board.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS. National Associated Press.

THE FRENCH MINISTRY.

PARIS, November 12.—The cabinet difficulty here has at last been overcome, but in a very curious manner. The arrangement as at present understood is thus outlined: M. Gambetta is to be premier and president of the council, without a portfolio. The claims of M. Jules Ferry are to be satisfied by electing him a senator for life; M. Spuller, a comparatively unknown man, takes the department of the interior; M. Cabot is to be minister of justice; M. Bourvillier is to be minister of commerce and M. Noyal will be minister of public works; M. Cockerly is to be postmaster-general and Paul Bert is to be minister of instruction; Admiral Peyron is to be minister of marine. As the mere mention of these names may not indicate the political significance attached to their selection at the movement the remark is not made that the cabinet thus formed is rather than of aggression, and it is held that M. Gambetta can scarcely hold his own save as an assaiant. His abilities as a ruler have yet to be proved.

A PROTEST.

EDINBURGH, November 12.—After a very animated contest in which much feeling was displayed Professor Bain was elected to-day lord rector of the university of Aberdeen. The unsuccessful candidate, Sir James Hand, has lodged a protest against the election. The present lord rector is earl of Roseburg. The office is purely honorary.

DEATH OF JOCKEY MACDONALD.

LONDON, November 12.—Jockey MacDonald died at 5:30 this morning from injuries received by being thrown from Buchanan in the race for the Liverpool autumn cup on the 10th instant. He was twenty-five years old. He did not rank as a first-class jockey until the Czarowitch race at Newmarket this year when he rode Keen's Foxhall to victory.

UMMULATING TO BISMARCK.

BERLIN, November 12.—In the second ballot for members of the reichstag in this city both progressists have been elected. In Loelian a conservative was elected and in Bromberg, Altona, Erfurt, Eastenburg and Hof, progressists have been elected. In Braunschweig socialists were elected, and in Arnberg an ultra-romantic, while in Mannheim, Warburg and Nuremberg socialists have been chosen to represent the people. Herr Stocker has been elected at Mindon.

REMARKABLE OFFER.

LIMERICK, November 13.—The earl of Devon has made a remarkable offer to his Limerick tenants, viz: To allow them to surrender their leases, which concludes them from the benefits of the land act, in order that they may apply to the court. It is stated that Lord Cork intends making the same offer.

NO BIDDERS FOR LAND.

DUBLIN, November 13.—The proceedings in the land court yesterday showed that land is a drug in the market, no bidders coming forward for lots put up. It is an ominous fact that no one will even offer a price for land, and it shows how deep the belief is in the thoroughness of the great revolution now proceeding.

GLADSTONE DENIES.

LONDON, November 13.—It having been reported that it was the intention of Gladstone to accept a place in the peerage, he has issued a denial of the report.

APPLICATIONS TO THE LAND COURT.

DUBLIN, November 12.—One thousand and applicants to fix a judicial rent were lodged with the land commission yesterday. The total applications are over 45,000. The commissioners arranging to hold night sittings of the land.

MARQUIS OF SALISBURY ASSAILS GLADSTONE.

LONDON, November 13.—The Marquis of Salisbury in speaking at Bristol yesterday denied that the people of Ireland were yet prepared for self-government. He assailed Gladstone as making a liberal party an engine for attacking private property. He said that the true remedy for the Irish difficulty was to make the tenant the owner of the land by honest purchase. THE QUESTION OF ANNEXING CANADA. The question of the annexation of Canada to the United States is beginning to excite interest here. A controversy is going on between Professor Goldwin Smith and Sir Francis Hincks. Mr. Smith denounces the policy of England retaining Canada as "jingoism" and points out with great force that Canada cannot be divorced from her national association and her natural marks and hitched onto England as a sort of dunkey engine. Sir Francis, loyal British patriot that he is, declares that is no wish for annexation in Canada. NEWS FROM IRELAND. LONDON, November 13.—The latest German authorities represent Premier Bismarck as sincerely resolved on resignation. The emperor resists, hoping for an arrangement with Rome under which the ultramontanes may support Bismarck in the German parliament without asking for the repeal of the anti-Catholic laws, which Bismarck steadily refuses to propose. The capitalists say that no movement could be so favorable for a negotiation with the pope, considering that he can no longer depend upon Austria. The same reason is urged for soliciting a renewal of the diplomatic relations between England and the Vatican.

STATE JOTTINGS.

Alabama county takes kindly to Crow. The jail proposition was defeated in Sarpy. Many are nominated, but few were chosen. Lancaster county claims the republican banner. The jail proposition was defeated in Thayer county. Pawnee city is united by railroad with the outside world. Immense quantities of hay have already been destroyed by prairie fires. The B. & M. sold $3,000 worth of land at Culbertson one day last week. Work has commenced on the Congregational church at Harvard. Nemaha county farmers will turn most of their corn into beef this winter. Nicholas Hany, the pianist of Webster county, has joined the majority. The Nebraska Wesleyan university, at Fullerton, was dedicated last Sunday. E. K. Conrad was fatally stabbed in a free fight at Elm Creek, Webster county. Iron for the new bridge over Salt creek at Abland has arrived and work commenced. Cole, the Alexandria wife-beater, was adjudged a fit subject for the state insane asylum. A prairie fire called on Schuyler last week but was driven off by the fire brigade. William Vanhosen, of Furnas county, glided headfirst from a shed and cracked his skull. The Union Pacific and Sioux City and Pacific companies contemplate erecting a union depot at Norfolk. Six hundred dollars worth of historical and mathematical works have been added to the library of the state university. Two women, farmers' wives, living on the Loup bottom, opposite St. Paul, Neb. county, were burned to death in a prairie fire. The editors of The Blair Pilot and The Oakdale Pen and Plover offer their young ladies' ready lessons in "sparking." Mrs. going to visit, etc. Columbus has added creamery to her industries. Articles of incorporation have been signed and filed with the county clerk. Capital stock, $12,000. The sheriff of Dawson county is lying in wait for the misdoers of Plum Creek, who amuse themselves smashing in windows with "sliding shots." Theodore Miller, of Lincoln, received the sad intelligence last week that his uncle left him $100,000. Tears would not receive him at Norfolk. The people of Oakdale are considerably inflated since the visit of the managers of the St. Paul & Omaha road, whose promises were numerous and tickling. A ferocious eagle pounced upon a flock of ducks in the shoulders of Plum Creek, who amuse themselves smashing in windows with "sliding shots."
