WOOD RIVER.

The Great Mining Country of Eastern Idaho.

Interesting Facts Concerning the Mining Eldorado of the Coming Year.

F. O. Harding, publisher and editor of The Wood River Miner, the pioneer paper in that recently opened and very prosperous mining district of Idaho, and T. M. Rogers, a large owner of mining interests, arrived in Omaha yesterday on their way to Chicago on business and stopped off for a call upon their numerous friends in this city. Mr. Harding was formerly one of the attaches of a newspaper in this city and therefore has many acquaintances whom he was anxious to meet, and who were equally pleased to gaze upon his beaming countenance. These gentlemen report the Wood River country as simply "a booming." On Wood River and its tributaries are six mining towns, as follows: Bellevue, with about 600 inhabitants; Haley, five miles north, containing 1,000; Bullhollow, six miles west of Haley, and the leading producing camp of Wood River, four hundred residents, which includes the miners working in and about this point; Ketchum, twelve miles north of Haley, with a population of three hundred; Galena, about forty-five miles north of Haley and at the head of navigation of Wood River, which has thirty-three hundred inhabitants. Sawtooth and Vienna are two small towns or camps about fifteen miles north of Galena and contain, each, about one hundred inhabitants. These are destined to become prosperous and leading mining camps of the Wood River country, and will in a few years have a large and thriving population. Even in these latter towns there were $100,000 ago and are rapidly increasing in value. The leading town on the river, commercially, is Haley. Notwithstanding that it is only five months old it has the largest population of the towns on the river because of various reasons. It is, in the first place, the outlet of all ore of this new mining region which is hauled to this point for reduction. In Wood River country, as you have heard, there have been created this season four smelting works and two stamp mills, the latter with a capacity of fifty stamps. The first smelter in the country was erected at Haley and this gave it special advantage in the reduction of the ore. The rapid growth of Haley is attributable to its superior location. Nearly all of the present producing mines get their supplies from and ship ore to this point. In a recent contest for possession of the county seat of Alturas county Haley "got away with the cake to the tune of four-way majority and consequently has the coveted prize. This majority, although small, secured for Alturas county the best possible point for the county seat, as Haley is undoubtedly the most advantageous and central location that could be selected. Hundreds of people have waited for the settlement of this county seat question in order to obtain residences, and consequently the greatest boom on the river is now in Haley.

The characters of ores are principally auriferous and carboniferous, with here and there bromides and chlorides, and very rich. In the upper country lead to the value of twelve to twenty dollars per ton is extracted, which pays for the reduction of the ore. The ores of this new Eldorado will average about sixty per cent of lead. All of the lower country produces smelting ore, while in the upper country, mainly Sawtooth, it is principally high grade, free milling ore. Life in these towns of the Wood River country is very similar to that of all mining camps. There is considerable life, and consequently many instances of homicide and robbery. At the same time the majority of the citizens of the largest towns are industrious and of peaceable character, and the inevitable influx of roughs into a mining camp is as much discouraged and energetically discouraged as possible. The cost of living is not exorbitant, about being from $8 to $9 per week, and the present price of provisions increasing at a rapid rate will probably raise the rates of board. Still the prices of board and living generally are more reasonable than in most mining camps, and the profits of mining are very large.

Messrs. Harding & Rogers speak very enthusiastically of the prospects of this new country, and prophesy a future for the Wood River mines which has not been anticipated by even the most sanguine of its discoverers.

PAVING POINTS.

Suggestions on the Subject From a Visiting Engineer.

A distinguished engineer who has been visiting in our city said to a Bee reporter yesterday:

"Paving is absolutely necessary to render your city attractive and to get ahead of rivals in or near this great valley."

"This soil is soft and springy and requires different treatment from that found in the east. Evidently a thick foundation of macadam must be laid for either wood or stone. Chicago and Detroit find cedar blocks the best in the wood line and of course cheaper than stone. Very well, then, we will have cedar. For this foundation of cedar plank, three or even four inches thick will not answer on your soil. One similar to that on Farnham street is the kind needed. The latter can be lowered to the proper level."

"Cedar blocks with macadam foundation will be expensive, but it will be a paying investment. The whole city could help the central property owners if necessary, and could at least attend to the crossings and intersections which are not really opposite any man's land."

"In the meanwhile some relief might be had by rounding up the cen-

THE JOSEFFY CONCERT.

An Entertainment Worthy of the Temple Dedicated to the Arts.

It is far from flattering to Omaha's appreciation of music that an audience of less than three hundred people was present at Boyd's opera house Wednesday to welcome Rafael Joseffy upon his first appearance in our city. To be sure a number of social entertainments were attractive more powerful to many whose faces are usually seen at concerts in Omaha, but even these and the terrible condition of the streets are not sufficient apologies for the beggarly array of empty benches which staved in the face the third greatest living pianist and offered a very suggestive commentary on musical taste and culture in our city. In many respects Joseffy is unique among pianists. He lacks the classical severity of Van Bulow, and the fiery impulsiveness of Anton Rubinstein. But in grace and delicacy of style in intelligence of conception, and in marvellous technical accomplishments he seems to unite many of the characteristics of the greatest masters of the instrument which he has chosen for and made his own. There is a delightful absence of self-consciousness in all his performances. Of course his individuality as an artist asserts itself in his various interpretations, still it is always the composer and not Joseffy who is brought into prominence. His conception of the aim of the pianist is that of an interpreter, not an originator, and his renderings are always marked by the intelligence of the student and the sympathy and feeling of the artist. Joseffy does not depend upon tricks of style to win an audience, although nothing would be easier to a performer of such wonderful technical ability. He prefers to allow his art to manifest itself legitimately through a conscientious fidelity to the aims of the great masters, which he interprets with such rare intellectual insight through a mechanical skill which is without a superior in his line.

THE WINGED GOD.

The Mercury Down Forty-Eight Below Zero at Buford.

The mild weather of Wednesday was succeeded by a return of the cold snap that night and the mud was once more solidified on the streets of Omaha. The wind, which reached a velocity of seven miles an hour, made the atmosphere biting and disagreeable and it continued quite fresh all day yesterday.

The signal office reports show that Omaha has been exceptional in the enjoyment of mild weather during November, the cold at other stations, north and west, being nearly as severe as during the corresponding month of 1890.

Yesterday the weather report received at the United States signal office showed a falling temperature at Denver, Cheyenne, North Platte, Omaha, Yankton, Deadwood, St. Paul and St. Louis. The lowest temperature recorded at present was at Assinibois, 57° F., and at Chester, 27° F. Fort Buford reported a temperature of -48° F., which, if true, would be the lowest ever recorded, even in Dakota, or, for that matter, anywhere within the temperate zone in the month of November, for which reason it is believed to be an error in the transmission of the cypher, in which the weather reports are telegraphed. No rain has fallen, except a slight amount at St. Paul, since Wednesday, but in the upper Missouri and lower Mississippi valleys is generally cloudy.

A Talented Lady's Views.

Mrs. C. F. Fleming, state lecturer of Missouri, and also an artist of rare merit, whose pictures of Adelaide Neilson is pronounced by the press to be the most beautiful portrait in the United States, in a recent letter said: "I have been troubled with kidney disease since my childhood, and it finally culminated in chronic catarrh of the bladder. It would be impossible for me to describe how much I have suffered, and I had abandoned all hope of ever being cured. I was, however, recommended to try Warner's Safe Liver and Kidney Cure, and it has done me more good than the combined skill of all the physicians I have ever tried during my entire life." Such testimony is beyond question, and proves the value to all ladies of the remedy it advocates.

O'Brien leaves the Union Pacific office to accept a position in the Western Union telegraph office in this city. It will take a good man to fill George's place acceptably. Capt. W. H. Sihoe, Fourth U. S. infantry, commanding Fort Bridger, W. T., was in the city last night. He is a former resident of this department and has a host of friends and acquaintances here. Hon. John Sharp, president of the Utah Central Railway Consolidated, and a prominent officer of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, came in from the east this morning, en route to C.

THE JOSEFFY CONCERT.

The origin of the fire is not known, but it is believed to have come from a little four year old son of Leisner's, who, left to amuse himself alone, probably got with the match box. Mrs. Leisner had gone out in town leaving the child asleep, while Mrs. Benolkin, his mother, was in the adjoining apartments, the former intending to take the boy when awake. At length her little girl went into the room and came back to her mother, saying that it was full of smoke. Mrs. Benolkin ran in and found the child cowering on the floor and the fire just getting a good start in the cupboard corner. She saved the child and then gave the alarm. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. L had returned when the fire broke out. Mrs. Benolkin later had quite a streak of bad luck. He was hurt during the summer and compelled to lay off from work, then one of the children, they had six, died and now they are suddenly left homeless in mid-winter.

THE ROYAL RINK.

Magnificent Preparations for Winter's Sport.

Some days ago it was rumored that a skating rink was to be opened on the vacant lot at the corner of Farnham and Ninth streets, but the rumor was subsequently reported as without foundation. Yesterday, however, it was learned that great preparations were in progress for the complete transformation of the Tivoli gardens, southwest corner of Ninth and Farnham streets, into one of the most complete and superbly equipped skating rinks in the west. Every one is familiar with the place named, which has undergone so many changes from a church to a beer garden. It is one of the pleasantest spots in town, and right on the line of the street railway. The enclosure is 132 feet square and this grveled surface is now being cemented, while all the trees, with the exception of a few, which are being removed and the inside fences taken down. The large building at the northwest corner, heretofore used as a saloon, will be changed to a restaurant, and the little church into a ladies' waiting room and ball room. Here will be a piano and the music provided for the season. The full musical union orchestra has been engaged for the season, and will play every night when not engaged at Boyd's opera house.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, but it is not a whisky drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone-set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters. —Nunda News.

A Hot Fire on a Very Cold Morning.

At 10 o'clock yesterday an alarm of fire was sounded from box 16, a message of the same import coming through the central telephone office at the same moment. Although it was bitter cold and a stiff wind was blowing from the north, many persons hastened after the department, which was on Eighteenth street, near Burt.

The fire was found consuming a small, one-story cottage, belonging to Mr. S. Reichenberg, and occupied by two families, those of Mr. John Leisner and Frank A. Benolkin, the latter a boiler-maker in the U. P. shops. The hooks and hose carts Nos. 1 and 3 were soon on the ground, and found the fire racing in the south part of the house and in the roof, bursting out fiercely at the east end of the cottage. Two streams of water were got on from the hydrants in short order, while the hooks did efficient work and the fire was brought under control by the time it had destroyed the roof and interior, leaving the walls intact. The furniture was being partially saved and with the household goods of several
