NO CONSOLIDATION.

Dr. Mercer Denies Any Partnership With Vaughan and Chapman.

The Herdline Line to Be Put Upon Omaha Streets Independently.

About three months ago a rumor prevailed about this city that ex-Alderman Jim Stephenson had purchased the right to put on Omaha's streets a line of conveyances, known as the Herdline coaches. The Herdies are becoming very popular throughout the country and for many reasons are a very satisfactory means of public conveyance. Accordingly, the report was favorably received, and the appearance of a sample carriage upon Farnham street about that time tended to confirm the rumor.

Time slipped along, but no Herdline line was established and presently it was whispered that the scheme to purchase the right had fallen through, and that the privilege had been secured by Council Bluffs parties. In investigation of this latter report a Herd reporter went to the Iowa city and called upon gentlemen there who were stated to be interested in the matter. These gentlemen were none other than Mayor W. L. Vaughan and John W. Chapman, editor of THE Council Bluffs Nonpareil. In an interview Mayor Vaughan confirmed the report, but stated that he did not desire to have the matter made public, for various reasons, and said that when he was ready he would give THE BEE the first information. He further said that he and Mr. Chapman had paid $10,000 for the right for both cities, and congratulated himself that the investment was a good one. He stated that in order to procure the right for Omaha as well as Council Bluffs, he was obliged to resort to a little "dinner game" on St. Stephens, who was endeavoring to close negotiations with Peter Herdie, and that he telephoned over to Herdie while he was in Stephens's office, and the veteran William-porter accepted the dinner invitation, and there the bargain for the right to run coaches in both cities in conjunction was consummated.

The reporter acceded, somewhat unwillingly, to the request to keep mum, and nothing was published. On Thursday, however, an Omaha reporter for another paper crossed to Council Bluffs and interviewed Mayor Vaughan and other parties on the subject. In this instance the worthy and lively mayor disavowed his project, and rather encouraged their publication. He made the matter visible enough for a half column article, and the report gave therein the name of Dr. S. D. Mercer, of this city as the Omaha representative of the Council Bluffs Herdie coach line.

This report is emphatically denied by Dr. Mercer, who also, as will be seen in the following notes to THE BEE, gives the truth of the matter regarding the purchase of the right for this city: To the Editor of THE BEE. Please deny the report in THE Herald of this morning of my connection with any Herdie line. It is true that I purchased the right in Omaha, but it was entirely the interest of other parties, and not in my own interest, and was connected with the Council Bluffs line, or balloon bridge scheme. Very respectfully, S. D. Mercer.

This at once punctures a hole in the story by Mayor Vaughan and destroys the pontoon bridge idea as effectually as would the first rise of water that came surging down the turbid stream which separates Omaha and Council Bluffs. If Omaha ever has streets suitable for the Herdie coach with its lowly steps and axle, the line will be introduced and run by Omaha parties interested in Omaha's convenience.

Palpitation of the Heart. J. M. Night, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "When I first commenced using your Black Blood Bitters I was troubled with fluttering and palpitation of the heart. I felt weak and languid, with a numbness of the limbs. Since using my heart has not troubled me and the numbness sensation is all gone." Price, $1; trial size, 10 cents.

ALL FOR ANIMALS.

Important Meeting at the Opera House, To-night.

This evening the Nebraska S. P. C. A. will hold its annual meeting at Boyd's opera house, and all are invited and urged to be present. In addition to the business transactions of the meeting, a most interesting programme is promised. Little Jennie McClelland and Harry McCormick will sing, and Hattie Hunter, the noted declamationist, will give recitations. Addresses will be delivered in the order named by Dr. Geo. L. Miller, president of the society; Bishop Clarkson, Gen. Manderson, James Stephenson, Rev. A. F. Sherrill, George W. Homan and C. S. Montgomery, Esq. No charge whatever will be made for admission, it being the desire of the society to present the matter to the public and elicit general sympathy in the cause. The following has been issued as the OFFICIAL CALL. The undersigned, in behalf of many good men and women in the state and city, makes an earnest appeal to the people to attend and participate in the annual meeting of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, which will be held at Boyd's opera house on Saturday evening next. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present on that occasion. A pleasant entertainment is to be offered by those having charge of the arrangements. Mayor Boyd, with a liberality that seems to never weary, has given the use of his beautiful opera house for the purpose, practical and free, and the time will be opportune for many who have not seen the beauties of this magnificent structure, because they do not patronize

DRAGGING ALONG.

United States Court not yet Begun.

What Troubles Arise over Obtaining a Grand Jury.

The United States court is supposed to be in session in this city, -in fact was announced to begin last Monday -but as yet only a part of it, and that a dry legal part has been in motion. The rest of the business of the court is at a stand-still. The reason for this seeming blockade is to be found in troubles which surround the obtaining of a grand jury. This jury was drawn and the names of the jurors published four or five weeks ago. Still it is not filled and several attempts at expanding have only developed the fact that there were still one or more vacant chairs.

In the first instance the jury ranks were broken by His Honor's excusing three gentlemen from this city from serving because they were subscribers to the Watson B. Smith fund, as it is known, and that case is likely to come before the present jury for investigation. This action by the judge was undoubtedly correct, but it created three vacancies all the same, and they must be filled.

Some names in one of the benches of the present system of obtaining a grand jury from the state. The box in which the commissioner has placed the names of residents of the state who are eligible for jury duty was shaken up and three names drawn. They all happened to be those of business men in Fall City, and it then became necessary to send them notification of their "election," which caused a day's delay. They came, but one of them had the next best excuse to personal illness -that his family were all sick -and he was excused. The box was shaken up again and the name of a far off resident of the state came out. Notification was sent him and he will probably be here to-day. But, in any event, the grand jury is not likely to get down to business before next Monday -just a week behind time.

This delay has doubtless caused much inconvenience to both attorneys, witnesses and parties in suits, and may cause more. Still it can't be helped under the existing law for obtaining that necessary adjunct of the court, the grand jury, and in the meantime the gentlemen from other parts of the state have ample opportunity to look over the prosperous, busy and teeming metropolis growing up on the eastern border of their thriving state.

The criminal docket, besides the civil, is large and some very interesting cases will probably be tried. conspicuous among these are those of the Sidney-Deadwood stage line, on charges of conspiring to rob the government, and also the trial of Geary, the route agent on the U. P., who got away with a $2,000 package from the Sidney postoffice. About thirty witnesses are in attendance to testify in these cases. The whole will be full of business and very interesting.

A BIG HIT.

Uncle Tom's Cabin at Boyd's Opera House.

The Finest Representation of the Drama Extant.

No more delightful entertainment has been given at Boyd's opera house since its opening than that of Thursday by Draper's Uncle Tom's Cabin combination. Familiar as is this dramatization of Mrs. Stowe's wonderful novel, often as it has been given in this city, it seems that people never grow tired of it and last night before the opening, scene the vast theatre was crowded in every part. Not less than 1,500 persons, probably nearer 2,000 were present, leaving enough for an overflow meeting at the Academy of Music, where the same play was presented by another company to a small house.

The piece was put on in such a manner as to place it in the best possible light, and at the same time reveal the magnificent scenery and equipments of the new house, and the cast was well taken and strong throughout. W. D. Corister, as Uncle Tom, was nearer the popular idea of that patient and pious old man than any other who has essayed the role for years past. W. J. Lewis, as Marks, was evidently acceptable to the house, for he was greeted with laughter and applause throughout the evening. A new departure was the remarkably light-colored Caucasians chosen to represent George and Eliza Harris. This is really carried out by the novel at a little hard to be accustomed to at first, but the players, Simon Leeger, George Shelby and other characters in the play were well taken.

The part of Topsy, sustained by Miss Adele Clarke, was by all odds the most perfect in conception and acting that has ever been seen here. How her black eyes did sparkle, and who ever saw more genuine childish devilry and childish agony of grief than this Topsy exhibited. Miss Clarke has no equal as Topsy anywhere. Evangeline St. Clair, by Little Genevieve, the opposite character to Topsy's part was equally well taken and deserves all praise. She is just petite enough for the part. The Magnolia Jubilee Singers, Messrs. Hamer, Corey Smith and Hagerman, introduced some new features into the play, which with their special vocal talent, were very enjoyable. They were encored four and five times at each appearance. The scenery was grand throughout, and the death scene of little Eva was set in a manner and with an effect never excelled in any metropolitan theatre. It was simply beautiful, and when the sweet notes of the Magnolia quartette came up in the night air they seemed heavenly enough to accompany the spirit of the gentle child to the kingdom of heaven that is of such as she.

A Talented Lady's Views.

Mrs C. F. Fleming, state lecturer of Missouri, and also an artist of rare merit, whose picture of Adelaide Neilson is pronounced by the press to be the most beautiful portrait in the United States, in an address before the "Ladies' Club" last evening, said: "I have been troubled with kidney disease since my childhood, and it finally culminated in chronic catarrh of the bladder. It would be impossible for me to describe how much I have suffered, and I had abandoned all hope of ever being cured. I was, however, recommended to try Warner's Safe Kidney Cure, and it has done for me what no other medicine could. My health is now as good as ever, and I have tried during my entire life." Such testimony is beyond question, and proves the value to all ladies of the remedy it advocates.

Colored Old Fellow's Ball.

Omaha Lodge No. 222, otherwise known as Pride of the West Lodge, of the Grand Union Order of Old Fellows held a pleasant reception in Standard Hall Thursday evening. About fifty couples were present, and they had a most enjoyable time.

They Had a Good Time.

You can just bet they did. It was up in Jim Neblet's room and quite a party were there, including Vic. Bierbroer, Esq., and fifteen or twenty representative gentlemen from Sidney. When the party were fairly assembled and the fun started it was simply immense. A quartet from the Omaha glee club were present and sang their sweetest and most stirring songs, until a select and favored audience applauded to the echo. As the night

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters as it is not a whisky drink. It is more like the old fashioned home-made tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters. -Nauda News.

Laid Up Again.

This Time it is Reported to be an Excursion that did it.

After various contradictory reports as to the probable arrival of the overland train from the west yesterday afternoon, it was finally bulletined at the depot that No. 4 had been abandoned. The fact that no heavy snows or starting accident had been reported west made it somewhat curious that the train had been taken off. Later, however, the explanation came that the large excursion from Montana, which was advertised to come through to-day had coupled on to the overland train and had delayed it so long that all hope of making up the time and connecting with the eastern trains was given up. Accordingly the train got no further last night than North Platte and there laid up for the Denver express No. 2, which took part of No. 4 in tow, and both arrive this morning at the regular arriving time of the Denver train, 7:35 o'clock.

State Bar Association.

The state bar association held a brief meeting Thursday evening in the United States court room. The only business of the session was the election of an orator for the next annual meeting. Judge Reavis, of Falls City, was selected. This choice is both a flattering one and very appropriate.

HUGO ROSINSKI.

He Dies Among Strangers, Friendless and Alone.

The Close of a Journalistic Career.

A stranger died near Kasota, in Lo Sevier county, Minn., a few days since. He went to the house of a man named Holbrook, complained of having a severe headache and requested permission to lie down, which was granted. A few hours later he was found to be dead, having passed away so quietly that none about him were aware of the presence of the grim visitor. Nothing was found on the body of the stranger to identify him save a physician's prescription, but he was a man about thirty years of age, evidently intelligent and well educated, and the whiteness and softness of his hands showed that he was not one accustomed to hard manual labor.

SESEMAN'S SAY.

He Nails Several Lies to the Mast-Head.

Mr. Gustave Seseman, landlord of the Western Hotel, on Pierce street called at THE BEE office yesterday and put in a stout denial to some serious charges presented against him in a morning paper, under the head of "Seseman's Swindle."

Mr. Seseman has been in Omaha for eight years past, and has never before had any insinuations made against his character. He does not depend on his hotel for a living, but works hard every day at his trade, that of a carpenter.

He says that Andrew Frank, the plaintiff, who won the suit in Judge Chadwick's court, referred to yesterday, came to his house in September instead of December, and that he had just forty-five cents to pay for lodging and breakfast. He paid up all but a balance of $13 in December. On February 4th Frank got his pension and back pay, and put $550 in his (Seseman's) hands to be given him when called for. Frank was sick on the day which Dr. Coffman attended him and by his own instructions, Mr. Seseman says he paid numerous debts of long standing. At the time of his sickness Frank was indebted to the house about $100. On the 21st of February he owed a balance of $40. He gave Seseman a check for $200, with which he purchased an electric battery and some other things for him. On April 4th Frank left him $27 in debt.

Mr. Seseman denounces the statements referred to as unmitigated lies, and says that by the time his case comes up in the district court he will prove what he says. He would sue the proprietors of the paper which published the story, but that he does not fix the responsibility on them.

WOMAN'S TRUE FRIEND.

A friend in need is a friend indeed. This none can deny, especially when assistance is rendered when one is sorely afflicted with disease, more particularly those complaints and weaknesses so common to our female population. Every woman should know that Electric Bitters are woman's true friend, and will positively restore her to health, even when all other remedies fail. A single trial will prove our assertions. They are pleasant to the taste, and only cost fifty cents per bottle. Sold by Ish & McMahon. (2)

J. M. WOLFE.

To the citizens of Omaha and State of Nebraska I am now engaged in the preliminary publication of a similar work from the Nebraska State Gazetteer and Business Directory and respectfully ask that my old friends and patrons will kindly reserve for me their orders for this work. I learn that an outside party is attempting to foist himself upon this community by misrepresentations, and is seeking to secure orders from patrons by stating that I am not engaged in getting up this work. I ask my friends to stand by me as an old citizen and not encourage an interloper from another state to step in and take to another state the work, business and money which should remain here.

My residence here and my works for the past twelve years will be sufficient guarantee as to the forth coming publication while a similar work from a non-resident will be devoid of any guarantee or personal responsibility whatever as to its correctness or completeness. My agents are now obtaining the necessary information throughout the state, and others will call upon the citizens of Omaha in a few days. Very truly yours, J. M. WOLFE.

I have been appointed state agent for Schilz's Milwaukee Beer in kegs.
