An Unusually Interesting Batch of News

Quite a large number gathered in the Congregational church on Tuesday evening. This was the evening of the evening. This was the evening of the commencement of the Congregational session. Ministerial association, but the clergy gave way to the ladies here working in the interest of the Womens' Board of Foreign Missions, Mrs. Geo. F. Mayoun, of Grinnell, Iowa, and Miss H. A. Hillis, formerly of Iowa, now a missionary in Ceylon. Prayer was offered by Rev. Geo. Little, of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, Mrs. Magoun was then introduced. She spoke in a very pleasing manner from manuscript, of the work there was for women in foreign mission fields. That as in most heathen country's the misery and want and wretchedness fell to the lot of women. It becomes the special duty of women in all civilized communities where their rights are respected and protected, to work in a canse that tends alleviate their suffering, elevate their moral and social condition. In order to do this three things were indispensable: Thought, prayer and money. They must have more of these, especially the latter. In very eloquent terms she pictured the sinful, shameful condition of women in heathen lands, where wretchedness was the rule instead of the exception. Quoting a declaration made by that celebrated reformer, Martin Luther, she exclaimed, "This is a hard world for girls." She related the fact of the male instead of a female. Mrs. Magoun is a very fine appearing lady, a pleasant speaker, and seems to have her heart in the work. She is the wife of Professor Magoun, of Grinnell college, this state.

At the conclusion of her remarks, Mrs. Hillis was introduced. She to him, Adams, as he was the agent. spoke very rapidly, and rather ind stinctly, but at the same time what she said was quite interesting. She spoken of by Mrs. Magoun on this island, that the women are on top and the men are the ones who sit on stone floors and eat the thinnest part of the soup. Here the god they worship is made with hands, but the one they talk about is the god they worship is made with hands, but the one they talk about is the god they worship is the god the god they worship is the god the god the god the god they worship is the god the go rice. She spoke for an hour of the school work carried on there through the instrumentality of the women's board of foreign missions.

Mrs. Hillis is not a very pleasant speaker, yet she has a way of making herself quite interesting. HARD ON CLARA.

Our morning contemporary devotes about half a column relating how Miss logg concert was met by two young Kellogg visited one of our first class roughs on lower Broadway, who saloons and partook of a rich lunch; ordered him to hold up his handw that there was three in the party and the bill come to $40. They know what they are talking about, for they when they disappeared. had a reporter who stood by and who watched every mouthful she ate. They make the bold charge that Miss Kellogg talked all the time she was eating; that she even laughed right viding with criminals. Such a charge out loud. The Gate City editor will against the character and integrity of too when he reads that article. Now, Miss Keliogg may be a very poor singer in the opinion of The Nonpareil, worthy of nothing but empty chairs to sing to, but when it is claimed by that sheet that she hasn't the right to visit saloons and partake of a first class supper, we think it a little hard on Clara.

It is reported that Miss Poole, who sang with Miss Kellegg, remarked the which, to him innocent amusement, next morning after the concert, that under the circumstances it was almost impossible to sing. In the first place it was very cold in the green room the horses underneath were stamping their feet, and one of the gas jets kept up a continual hissing sound. THE LITTLE GIANT.

If there is a man in the city who can get signatures to a paper, that man is Vaugban. It is said the energy and persistency displayed by him in procuring the doctors' certificat that there was no case of small-pox in the city, was simply remarkable, believing that if the facts was spread abroad that small-pox was raging here it would cause irreparable injury to

The following resolution offered by ex-Alderman Graham was adopted by the board of trade Tuesday evening: Resolved, That the board take immediate action toward securing to Council Bluffs a United States court house and postoffice building.

On motion the board adjourned until last evening, when committees were to be appointed to petition congress in this matter.
