Newsy Notes and Pleasant Personal and Business Mention.

The many friends of Ira Smith, late clerk at the Ogden hotel in this city, wife to come to Council Bluffs. will hear with sorrow the demise of made she started. By some mistake that most estimable gentleman, who she left the train at Pacific Junction. died at the place of his confinement While at the depot she heard a remark with that dread disease, small pox, made that a man by the name of between 5 and 6 o'clock on Saturday evening. Mr. Smith was one of these rare characters whom everybody liked, always courteous and obliging.

In the position he held in the leading hotel in the northwest. Mr. Smith evening. Mr. Smith was one of these much hotel in the northwest, Mr. Smith husband immediately intercepted her gained a friendship with those at Creston by telegram, telling her to with whom he was thrown return and he would meet her at in contact that even death cannot in contact that even death cannot in a sad condition. The shock of the sever. Some time ago Mr. Smith news that he had been murdered was visited St. Louis, and on returning too much for her brain to carry. The home was taken sick. Soon it became evident that he had the small-pox in a very light form. He was immedi-ately removed into temporary quarters just out of the city limits. Here, with the assistance of one of our best physicians, he tried to successfully battle with the disease, but all in wain. What little vitality the poor sickly man had was overcome, and he passed away at the hour above stated.

Mr. Smith has not been a well man for years, and it has been evident to his friends who have noticed him particularly, that he could not live many years. The deceased has been clerk in the Ogden since it was first started nuder its new management, and has always borne himselt in such a manner as to merit the respect, not only of his employers, but the traveling public generally. He was about 36 years of age, and leaves a wife and child, who reside at Boone, in this

A THIN STORY. into the city Saturday evening, riding a healthy but thin old horse. They were watched by hundreds of anxious citizens, who were debating in their minds as to which one would split first, the old farmer or his fine pointed steed.

NEW ENGINE HOUSE. Work was commenced on the new engine house, at the junction of Main and Bryant street, where it is intended to locate the new fire engine.

ON THE RAMPAGE. One of our well known business men got on a spree last Friday night, and thinking there was a certain dark eyed woman up a certain flight of stairs on a certain street in this city, staggered thence, ascended the stairs and knocked. No response came from within. The lady bird had flown. He became very angry, and swore he would kick the door in unless it was immediately opened. He kicked a while, but finally concluded the front over by a Herdic coach. end of his foot was getting the worst of it. He let up and came down on the walk. Not content to go home without having a fuss, he went to the office of R. S. Cole & Co., on Main street, and tried to kick their office door

He got inside and began abusing the book-keeper, who stood his non-sense a while, and then opening the door he pointed that way, looking the man sternly in the eye as if to inform him what he might expect if he did not leave. The merchant, thinking he could go with less injury to his posterior by getting a little in ad-vance of the book-keeper's boot, put on full steam and went. A COMING ATTRACTION.

The irresistible Jessie Couthorie will appear in one of her unique entertainments at Bloom & Nixon's hall in this city. The name of Scott Siddons has long since given way in this country to the new star, who but a few years since made her appearance above the literary horizon. Fresh from under the eye and ear of Euro-pean critics where her powers as a dramatic reader have been weighed in in the west. An accommodation train the balance with some of the finest will be run from this city. readers in the world, she brings most flattering testimonials. Indeed, to a Council Bluffs audience these would be unnecessary. The people here would welcome her with a crowded would welcome her with a crowded house without the extra polish of a number gathered and a general good Parisian conservatory. COURT BUSINESS.

The cases on assignment for Saturday having been disposed of Judge Reed adjourned court until this morn-ing. We understand the criminal cases will not be taken up until the present civil assignment is disposed of. No further assignment will be cases remaining undisposed of in their order, therefore it will stand attorneys in hand to be ready.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS. The two remaining frame buildings on the corner of Broadway and Sixth streets are being moved into a lot below the Coy house. One of these the the larger one as a second-hand clothing store. Mr. B. informs us that the blue front has seen its last days, for he shall join it to the rear of his store, as his increasing business demands more room. Originally these buildings occupied the site where the Everet block now stands, on the corner of Pearl street and Broadway, and were moved to give room for more imposing struc-

UNDRESS UNIFORM.

A man with nothing on but a shirt and vest created considerable excitement amongst the young ladies who happened to be on Broadway Saturday night. Judging from the different acts of different men under the influence of the stuff they peddle in some of our saloons for whisky, the devil himself does the mixing. The man above mentioned (and, by the way, he was not a juryman) filled himself full of this mixture, went first to Wayne & Co.'s broom factory, doffed his pants and drawers and threw them behind one of the shops. He then went inside and began to throw the broomcorn and handles at the workman who at once pounced upon him and soon landed him into the street. The man then went up Sixth street to Broadway, declaring that he was bound to John Bena's store for a pair of pants and woe be to the man who dared to

CRAZED BY A RUMOR.

One of the employes of the B. & M. railroad company, Owen Owens, at this point, sent to Burlington for his Owen Owens had been murdered in this city. She at once became very Glenwood. He did so, but found her woman seems to be in a dream. thinks that she is in Burlington, and all efforts thus far to convince her to band to return to Burlington with the poor woman, which he did.

SAD DEATH.

The funeral of Cora Warren, daughter of F. H. Warren, late clerk of Pottawattamie county, was largely attended by the many sympathizing friends of the family from the residence of her grandfather. Services were conducted by the Rev. T. H. Clealand, pastor of the Prestyterian church. Little Cora has left a vacant chair that never can be filled in that household. She was a sweet, pretty little child, the pride and pet of her bereaved parents.

ANOTHER DYNAMITE CAR.

It is reported that another dynamite car has been sent to this city; that the Union Pacific refused to re-A wealthy but thin old farmer came ceive it; that it was returned to the engine exploded

FLEECED OF HIS LUCKE.

A man from Mills county visited one of our dens of infamy, and hung his coat, containing between two and three hundred dollars, on the bed post. When he awoke in the morning he was surprised to find it gone. He is still in search of the coat and contents. He managed to save his pants. If he gets out of the scrape with only the loss of his money he will be in better luck than another man from Mills county, who occasionally visits this city.
