WAS HE MURDERED?

A FARMER'S MYSTERIOUS DEATH IN SARPY COUNTY.

John Nolan Found Dying in a Cornfield--Suspicions That Violence Was the Cause

John Nolan, an elderly and respectable The farmer at La Platte, Sarpy county, died yesterday morning at that place under peculiar and somewhat suspicious circumstances. The story, as state! by his son, who came to Omaha last evening to secure the services of an undertaker, is as follows:

The old man owned and lived in a comfortable house upon a form of 160 acres. He has owned for some time a large number of cattle, which he has been in the habit of keeping in a corral. About 3 o'clock yesterday morning he heard the cattle breaking out of the corral and get-ting away. Rousing his wife he told her ting away. Rousing his wife he to her he was going to head them off and instructed her to open the g te leading into the corral that the stock might be driven in. Saddling a gentle mule he was in the habit of riding he rode away, while Mrs. Nolan looked after the gate.

In a short time the cattle commenced to return and finally all had re-entered the coral, but nothing was to be seen or heard of Mr. Dolan. It is wife waited some time and then started in the direction he had gone, when she met the mule coming ack, on the walk, but riderless. Her worst fears now being aroused the anxious wife awoke a neighbor named Holman, who called his hired man and the three went in search of the missing farmer. Following the tracks of the cattle it was found that, the tracks of the cattle it was found that, after breaking from the corral they had headed direct for t e cornfield of another neighbor name i Henry Iske, which was only about eighty rods distant. Resching the field it could be seen that the cattle had been there and the mules tracks were also found. Accordingly the field was sea ched with lanterns, and in a few min-utes Mr Holman's bired man found Mr. Nolan lying on the ground and apparently insensi le. The une nacious man was carr ed to his house, where he expired in bout an hour.

A . hysiciau was summoned as quickly as possible, but did not arrive un'il the farmer was past relief. Upon examinati n of the dead man the doctor g ve it as his opimon that death had be n caused by conopinion that death and on the death of the brain, produced by injury to or blows of some kind on the head. Whether the injury had been received at the immediate time of Nolan's falling from the mule, or previously, was not deter-

From circumstances occurring recently. From circumstances occurring recently, this opinion of the physician caused not a little excirement, and it was determined to at once telegra h the coroner of Sarpy county, who lives at Plattsmouth, and have him hold a postmortem examination, which will probably occur to-day. These circumstances, as related by Mr. Nolan's son, are of such a character as to direct suspicion quite strongly toward the man in whose corn field Nolan was found insensible. It appears that he and Iske have not been on the best of terms for some time, they having been involved in a lawsuit or two, and that trouble has heretofore arisen, on account of Iske's claiming that Nolan's cattle had broken into and damaged his corn.
About a week ago the cattle trespassed into the field referred to, which joins Nolan's -roperty, and in which the corn is still ungathered. Nolan who had been to Plattsmouth, was just returning home when he saw Iske on a horse, with a pitcfork in his hand, riding among the cattle and jabbing the fork into them in a seem ingly unnecessa y manner. He crosed to where Iske was and told the latter to let the cattle alone until he could drive them or three times on the him two or three times on the head with the handle of the fork. Although not knocked down by the blow Nolan was considerably stunned and suffered severely all of that day from pain. He threatened to arrest Iske, but dropped the matter at the solicitation of 1 is wife. Last week Nolan seemed to be as well as usual, although complaining of his head at times, and nothing serious was feared from the blows he had received. The opinion, therefore, of the physician as to the cause of death has started the talk about the vicinity and in La Platte at a decidedly lively rate.

The mort cage was Mr. Cole's brother, and he now proposes to turn the property over to Davi I for use in this city, and the latter will organize a company without declar, if possible, and have the Herdics here and running before spring and in time to give the horse cars a pretty severe tusals for the Hanscom park and other travel.

While Dr. S. D. Mercer purchase the right for this city it appears that under the conches are obtained prevents its clashing with his cla ms, and The Bers sees no reason to doubt that in a short time Omaha will be pro-ided with a thoroughly equipped line of the modern and convenient venture.

Tuesday last, in a Deadwood mine, in which he and his son are interested and where the latter has been superintending affais for three and a half years past.

The Nightingale mine is located in Empire Gulch, about seven miles from Deadwood and is owned y Henry Hermand P. Jedsen. The latter, with Edward Tinsdale, a miner, was in the mine at the time, drilling out the rock where a charge of black powder, put in on the Satur lay previo s, was supposed to have explod d. Tinsdale was holding the drive and Jensen was striking when the xplosion occurred, throwing the two men bodily about sixty feet, entirely clear of the dump at the mouth of the tunnel. A BEE rep rter learned a bit of news no little importance last Saturday, and that is that a gentleman well known in stock, which is one of the best offers ever Omaha has come into possession of four-

The gentleman referred to is Mr. David Cole, of the commission house of Fearor & Cole, and the way in which he got hold of his Herdics was rather peculiar. When Peter Herdic established his lines of coaches in Chicago he got hold of a moneyless adventurer to run the business, and he did run it—into the ground. In the first place he contracted for 14 coaches, worth $89,000, for which he was to pay in instalments. He at once advertised for fifty did run it-into the ground. drivers, who were easily foun', and required them to put up $25 each as security of good faith against damages and so on. Then he started his line to running and took in all the receipts, run bills for out, and then he would pay for whatever damage they had done. It is alleged that Iske, instead of heeding Nolan kept up his pitchfork exercise, and when the latter attempted to drive the cattle out struck him two or three times in the headle of the fork.

The mortgaged with the handle of the fork was and took in all the receipts, run bills for all expenses and didn't pay the drivers for two months. The Officers of the "Old Hickory" in Omaha on Their Way East

Among other passengers on the overland train from the west one day last week was Hon, Wm. C. Saunders, state treas-Saturday night was an unusually busy urer of Colorado, who came to this point one for the police, even considering the to join Mr. George W. Roberts, formerly fact that that particular evening is u-ually of the Herald of this city, and proceed liveliest of the week. Everything east with him on a mission connected with started in serene, and up to 10 o'clock not the development of one of the finest mining one arrest had been scored. The band properties in the great mining territory of Mr. Saunders is treasurer and Mr. Rob erts general manager of the company which owns the "Old Hickory" copper mine, located about two hundred miles south of Salt Lake City, and near the southern extension of the Utah Central railway. The company controlling the mine was organized last May by George W. Robers, Wildiam U. Sanders, Sam. C. Gilliland, Jacob F. M. Bockafeller, and Jonathan F. Torley. The men named are all practical busines men, and thoroughly acquainted with the task they are under-taking, that of developing a mine which will equal in value any of the famous mines n the south shore of Lake Superior, or nywhere else on the globe.

The Old Hickory mine is located on wooden transway, which will convey the ore to the smalter, the latter to be built on the line of the road. The nearest town is Millord, a rapidly growing little city. The writer has seen this wonder-ful pro-ert, and has known of its rapid y wing importance for many months and that it was destined to take rank in is re-munerative capacity with the Alice, Horn Silver and similar mines. The ore has been thoroughly tested at Baltimors, Golden, Colorado and elsewhere, the vein is unlimited and in a few months he Denver, Rio Grande and Western road will be added to the facilities for tr asporting it to the market, giving itin all respects an un commonly promising future.

The com any has been organized with a capital stock of $1,000,000 div ded into 20,000 shares of $50. Five thous nd shares only have been placed upon the market for sale, the proceeds to go towards devel-oping the mine and erecting the proper nachinery, sm-lting wor s, tramway, etc. Recently thi company has made a very given by any legitimate mining company in the west. For $20,000 in cash they Omaha has come into possession of four-teen Herdie coaches and proposes at once to organize a company in our city and run them in our streets as they are already run in Council Bluffs.

The street of the west. For $20,000 in cash they will issue 2,000 shares (equal to $1:0,00 d) and with the money e cut a smelter, with a capacity of thirty tons daily, with plenty of power to run two additional plants of the same size. When completed the company will i sue a mortga e on the machinery for the amount of money raised. This is the most liberal offer made by any mining company in the west, and parties looking for investments in mones can do no better than to take an interest.

Messrs. Sanders and Roberts have gone east to lay the advantages of their mine before the heavy capitalists and if they do

BARRY'S FEARFUL FALL.

AND TERRIBLE DEATH.

Precipitated 25 Feet Head Foremost Through an Open Skylight in the New U. P. Shows.

William H. Barry, a painter, to enty five years old, fell through a skylight in the roof of the new Union Pacific car shop, about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and was killed. The unfortunate young man was precipitated to the ground, distance of about twenty-five feet, striking on his head. He lived about forty-five minutes after the accident. Drs. Mercer and Ayers were at once summoned, but could do nothing. Barry was probably entirely unconscious from the time he struck. Coroner Jacobs was notified, and arrived in a few minutes after the young man breathed his last. He empanneled jury, who examined into the cause of the accident. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental death

From the testimony presented to th ury, it was learned that Barry was employed with a number of others painting the large building which the Union Pacific company He then mounted a wheelbarrow and was which the Union Pacific company just about to swing off i to eternity when are hastening toward completion, and which is to be used as a mammoth car conwhich is to be used as a mammoth car con-struction and repair shop. At the time of the accident Barry was pain i g the frame of a large skylight in the roof. He was -tanding on a scaffold at the lawer end of the skylight. Another painter, who had finished one side of the frame had just left l'arry, and was about a hun-ored feet away. Hearing a peculiar sound he turned and saw Barry standing with his hands in the air tightly clenche; and his face indicating intense suffering. He started toward him, when he was horrified by seeing Barry topple and fall headlong over the edge of the skylight frame. When his companion rushed to the skylight he perceived the unfortunate painter lying on the ground, twenty-five or thirty feet below, and apparently inanimate. Surgical assistance was procured as soon as possible, Dr. Ayers arriving first. He discovered a fracture of the skull and severe concussion of the brain, and pronounced the injury

The relatives arrived in a few minutes and the grief of the mother, father and brothers was heartrending. From them it was learned that the unfortunate man was subject to sinking spells or fits, which are attributed to a fall he experienced some time ago while working up a the I er Bros.' building. He doubtless fell through the skylight white s. Hering from one of these attacks.

After the inquest the remains were conconveyed to the house of his parents, John J. and Honora, Barry, at 1017 Chicago brothers, among them being Thomas J.
