Ghostly Shadows in the Camp of the Bums, Foretells of Early Death.

Valentine's Secret Edicts Increases the Power of the Alliance

Correspondence of THE BEE.

WEST POINT, December 9.—There is a growing sentiment in Cuming county in favor of anti-monopoly. The way the elections were run last fall has opened the eyes of the people to the necessity of taking matters in their own hands and asserting their right of independence. Cuming county heretofore has been in the hands of a few political sharpers who have manipulated the caucuses, both democratic and republican, to their own advantage, irrespective of the wishes of the people. Sometimes they have put good capable men up for office, but at the price of their submission to the dictates of the aforesaid politicians. In the Republican party Mr. E. K. Valentine is the "Great I Am," around which a few satellites revolve. A nod from him will set these few political Robins a jumping, and it is laughable to an outsider to see them scramble to do his bidding. Before the Republican caucus was held last fall this star of immense magnitude in his own estimation issued his fiat, that the present Treasurer (a Republican) and also an anti-monopoly man must be set aside to make room for one of another kind, who would serve the interest of his master better than the present treasurer, who does not recognize any man for his master, but does his own thinking. The word had hardly been forth, when all of these political hounds began to yelp; your correspondent, Pierce, struck the town about that time and explained a few of the principal features of the game, when he was immediately assigned to ashes by the invincible bumper brigade of West Point, and I understood at the time that parties high in authority footed the bill for beer and whisky to keep up their courage. But the great mogul, Valentine, has been losing power of late, and the machine did not work as of old. Probably the parts were not oiled sufficiently, for the convention nominated Mr. Mortenson, the present treasurer, by a large majority. But the fiat had gone out that it should not be, and the machine of Cuming county republicans, by the most open and barefaced trading and also by the use of money consigned the republican party to oblivion rather than lose their power of using the party for their own selfish ends. Just before election a prominent politician, one of Valentine's best friends, made the remark that it was useless to try to do anything against Valentine and his masters for he had it in his power to financially ruin any man who attempted it. A very bold assertion to make in a free country and one hardly to be tolerated. Mr. Valentine is determined to have a man nominated next fall for representative pledged to his interest and bulldoze republicans into voting straight to pull his me through; but the bulk of the party in this county had their eyes opened last fall, and will quietly sit down on Mr. Valentine.

Times are good here and farmers are bringing in produce and hogs in increased quantities. The new school house is progressing as rapidly as the weather will permit. The farmers are taking steps to build scales in central localities, each man belonging to the club holding a key to the same where he may weigh his produce before coming to town to sell. It will not be long before there will be a farmer's alliance started here. As I said at the start the people are awakening up to their own interests. ANTI-MONOPOLY.

Growing Old.

Laramie Boomerang. What can be sadder than to feel the chill autumn of life coming on when the shady side of the valley has been reached and the eye is fixed backward toward the green and sunlit fields which exist in memory alone. How sadly settles down upon the human heart the sorrowful truth that the brightest and best of existence has fled. The tear will unbidden start as we think of those years replete with gladness now gone forever. Those dear, delightful years before we trod the rough and rugged road of experience and bit off more than we could masticate. One by one we count the priceless bits of knowledge we have gained and look over the store as the miser reckons his treasure.

We call to mind how the cold, clammy truth was revealed to us at one time that, in gathering the full blown roses of life, too soft and too tender were the feverish and irritable bubble nestling in its arms. How freshly now comes back to us the memory of that bright autumnal day when the sky was one vast sea of golden billows and the spicy aroma of decaying vegetation pervaded everything; that day when we made some scientific experiments with what is called three card monte and went home without our overcoat.

That was a long time ago, but how fresh it is in our memory, and how fresh it seemed to our parents when we unfolded the account of our scientific experiment.

Yes, we are not so frolicsome now as we were forty or fifty years ago, but we know more. It is true we cannot go in swimming all day with impunity or walk around a billiard table all day and then glide through the Blue Danube waltz all night as we once could. But we have acquired some high priced experience and put it where we can get at it.

We were making an estimate last evening of the value of a few items of experience which we now have on hand, and among the more valuable ones we will name the following:

- Expense of calling a large, healthy man a liar, $50. Experiments in going without underclothes, $5,750. Experiments with ostensibly disabled hornets, $375.

Cost of winning the love and confidence of an orphan mule, $500. Little lessons in investigating different games of chance, with a view to making them a business, $2,500. Experiments with watermelons guarded by irritable bulldogs, $525. Cost of unavailing efforts to prevent baldness, $783.20. Expense of personal investigation of lotteries, $935.26. Actual cost of obtaining $13 worth of fame, which is now for sale at the above price and still in good working order, though slightly tarnished, $17,380.

There are other expensive little nuggets and gems of ripe experience that we have on hand, and we cannot look on them without a pardonable pride. "It is true that what we have learned is not very valuable to others, but it is a good thing to have, and we can use it right along in our business. We will try to work it off on our oldest son when he gets here, but he will not use it."

Bruce Turner, Rochester, N. Y., writes: "I have been subject to serious disorder of the kidneys, and unable to attend to business. Burdock Blood Bitters relieved me before half a bottle was used. I feel confident that they will entirely cure me."

E. Avenhall, Binghamton, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with a dull pain through my eye, lung and shoulder. Lost my spirits, appetite and color, and could with difficulty keep up all day. Took your Burdock Blood Bitters as directed, and have felt no pain since first week after using them."

Mr. Noah Bates, Elmira, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I had an attack of bilious fever, and never fully recovered. My digestion, strength and color, and could with difficulty keep up all day. After using two bottles of your Burdock Blood Bitters the improvement was so great that I was astonished. I can now, though 51 years of age, do a fair and reasonable day's work."

C. Blacket Robinson, proprietor of The Canada Presbyterian, Toronto, Ont., writes: "For years I suffered greatly from recurring headaches. I used your Burdock Blood Bitters with happiest results, and I now find myself in better health than for years past."

Mrs. Wallace, Buffalo, N. Y., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for nervous and bilious headaches, and can recommend it to anyone requiring a cure for biliousness."

Mrs. Ira Mullholland, Albany, N. Y., writes: "For several years I have suffered from recurring bilious headaches, dyspepsia, and complaints peculiar to my sex. Since using your Burdock Blood Bitters I am entirely relieved."

to Washington in a day or two. I have about $1,000 worth, however, that are unclaimed—that is to say, they have been lying here a long time. Here is a lot, all belonging to one man, and here is another, belonging to a single individual. They are merchants, well known here, but do not seem to be in a hurry to get their money. One of these allowed a couple of orders to remain longer than one year, and thinking his money was lost, gave his orders—one for $50 and another for $5—to his wife, telling her, jokingly, to make use of them. The lady came here and asked whether any orders were of any account. Upon being informed that they were, she thought this an excellent joke on her husband. I made application for her, and in two days she had her money."

False Teeth Lost and Found. New York Sun. Dr. Myers, the city physician of Paterson, was summoned out of his bed at 2 o'clock yesterday morning to attend a lady who, it was said, had accidentally swallowed her set of false teeth. On arriving at her residence he found the house full of neighbors. Doubting friends had turned the house topsy-turvy to find the missing teeth. The patient was suffering excruciating agony, and the first thing was to administer sedatives to relieve her.

Then the doctor examined her throat, but he could discover no scratches or other evidences of her having swallowed the plate, which contained six false teeth. She seemed able to swallow both liquids and solids without difficulty. She said she could plainly feel the sharp edge of the plate cutting the side of her stomach.

"I don't see how such a big plate of teeth could go down such a small throat," said the doctor looking into her mouth again. It must have been lost somewhere about the house.

"Oh, no," screamed several of the women gathered around. "We have examined the house from top to bottom."

"Where did you usually put your teeth at night?" asked the doctor, raising his voice that he might be heard in the excitement.

"I generally put them under my pillow after I go to bed," groaned the woman.

"Somebody go there and look again," the doctor called.

One of the neighbors looked again, but in vain.

"Now, then, one of you go and feel inside the pillow case, ejaculated the doctor. "Ten to one if she hasn't stuck the teeth inside the pillow case."

One of the women hurried away, and in a moment later returned holding the missing set of teeth in her hand. As the doctor had suspected, the woman had put the teeth on the inside of the pillow case, and when she subsequently felt for them under the pillow she could not find them.

The woman's terrible pains disappear as suddenly as if cured by a miracle.

A Renovating Remedy is to be found in BRUNNEN'S BLOOD PURIFIER. As an antidote for sick headache, female weakness, biliousness, indigestion, constipation, and other diseases of a kindred nature, the Bitter is invaluable. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents. col-1

The Wings of Winter. Bill Nye's Boomerang. Oh, time! thou bald-headed pilot with the venerable corn cutter and second-hand hour-glass, thou playest strange pranks upon the children of men. No one would think, to look at thy whitened countenance and store teeth, that in thy bosom lurks most eccentric schemes.

Life is one continued round of alternate joys and sorrows. To-day we are on the top wave of prosperity and warming ourselves in the glad sunlight of plenty, and to-morrow we are cast down and depressed financially, and have to stand off the washerwoman for our clean shirt or stay at home from the opera.

The clubby boy, whose danger signal hangs sadly through the lattice-work of his pants, knows that Time, who waits for no man, will one day, if he struggles heroically on, give him knowledge and suspenders, and a solid girl, and experience, and a soft white mustache, and eventually a low grave beneath the sighing elms and the weeping willow, where, in the misty twilight of the year, noiseless upon his breast shall fall the dead leaf, while the silver top of the gray autumnal sky shall come and sink in to the yellow grass above his head.

Leaves have their time to fall, and so has the price of coal. And yet how sadly at variance with decaying nature is the robust coal market.

ALMOST CRAZY. How often do we see the hard-working father strain his nerve and muscle, and doing his best to support his family. Imagine his feeling when returning home from a hard day's labor, to find his family prostrate with disease, conscious of unpaid doctor's bills and debts on every hand. It must be enough to drive one almost crazy. All this unhappiness could be avoided by using Electric Bitters, which expel every impurity from the system, bringing joy and happiness to thousands. Sold at fifty cents a bottle. Ish & McMahon. (8)
