

CARRIAGES AT THE CAPITAL.

Some of the Equipages which May Be Seen in Washington. A correspondent writes from the capital as follows: The landau is the most popular vehicle in Washington, as it can be easily changed from an open to a closed carriage, and nearly every Senator owns one.

The articles presented by admiring friends, but a more enjoyable hurrah was never participated in by a more highly delighted mob of rustic hibernians than the one mentioned.

An Indian Shorn of His Locks

The River Press of Montana gives the following account of the shearing of an Indian chief: When Sheriff Healey went north recently after the Indian thieves who had stolen the horses of Harrison Bros. and others from the Yellowstone, he brought back with him a Blood Indian, known as Bad Bull, as a hostage, supposedly, for the return of the lost horses and guilty Indians.

A Statement from the Mayor. H. H. WARNER & Co.: Sirs—My wife and self both unite in pronouncing your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure the best medicine we ever used.

The Canadian Pacific—A Prosperous Scheme.

The Toronto Globe is not an admirer of the Canadian Pacific enterprise. In a recent issue it gives expression to its feelings as follows: As it is, the people must pay $58,000,000 in cash for the line—$25,000,000 of cash subsidy to the syndicate, and $33,000,000 cash for those sections to be completed by the government.

Hereand there upon the walls might be seen aboriginal sketches of Moses in the bullrushes, and oil paintings taken from peach cans of the time of Queen Anne.

At last there was a wild burst of music from the Pappoose string band, and the warriors of the party each gaily secured a partner and began to dance, like the man who steps on a carpet tack in the middle of the night.

It wasn't a very good scalp, but time was precious. The costumes were striking, yet inexpensive. Shavano was wrapped in thought. His wife was clad in the same simple costume.

Old Goggle-Eyed Pestilene wore a gold collar-button, tied about his neck with a piece of broadened bacon rind. His son, the Prairie Dog with a stomach-ache-a-griat-mill, wore a pair of red suspenders, but later in the evening he removed them to show that he was not pained.

Space forbids a full mention of all the articles presented by admiring friends, but a more enjoyable hurrah was never participated in by a more highly delighted mob of rustic hibernians than the one mentioned.
