Nilsson is fair and adipose, but not yet fat. She is 39. There are still about eighty seats left for the Nilsson concert.

The Omaha-Lincoln telephone line is now open for business. One of Louis Faust's assistants rejoices in the arrival of a nine-pound girl.

The Easter term of St. Barnabas parish school commences on Tuesday morning next. Oakland, Burt county, expects to send down quite a delegation of Swedes to attend the Nilsson concert.

Mr. Julius Nagle received a magnificent gold watch, Louis Quatras style, and richly ornamented, on Christmas. The C. St. P. & O. depot will be closed to all freight business Monday, January 1, 1883.

A petition was being circulated in this city yesterday asking Governor-elect Dawes to reappoint Warden Noble to the charge of the Nebraska penitentiary. The total internal revenue collection in Nebraska for the year 1882 was $1,169,200.17. The collections for the month of December alone was $108,045.87, as against $96,650.27 for the corresponding month of last year.

There is some talk of an effort being made to have the laws governing the city so amended that the offices of city attorney and city marshal shall be elective and not appointive. Mr. Patrick Desmond yesterday received word of the death of his infant child, which has been left in the care of relatives in Iowa. Its mother died only three weeks ago.

John Harris has filed a complaint in Judge Beneke's court, charging My Smith with stealing a small coat stove and sundry other smaller articles. A warrant has been issued, but no arrest has been made. Gentlemen, call on Frank Kurland, the merchant tailor, No. 321 South 12th street, as he has a large and well-selected stock of goods, and guarantees a perfect fit. Prices lower than the lowest. 39-24.

The W. C. T. U. will hold their meeting in the parlors of the Baptist church on Thursday afternoon, January 4, 1883, at 3 o'clock. All members and friends of the cause are invited to be present as the officers for the year are to be chosen. Judge Beneke held Pat O'Connell for trial at the next term of the district court for unlawfully disposing of logs belonging to his uncle, John O'Keefe. The logs were fixed at $200. Manweiler, who was arrested for being implicated in the affair, was discharged.

For some days past Mr. D. W. J. Saxe, proprietor of the opera house pharmacy, has been missing some articles from his store, such as little bottles of perfume, etc. He finally instructed his clerks to keep a watch on all the boys who came in, and Friday a juvenile thief was captured with two packages of cigarettes on his person. He is in jail and will be tried on Tuesday. A petition for the incorporation of Waterloo was filed and action on the same postponed.

"My Grandfather's Clock." Was once a very popular song but like many other sentimental tunes it doesn't wear well. Dr. Thomas' Eucalyptic Oil will wear; it will wear away all aches, sprains, and pains, and repay its purchaser a hundred fold.

An Interview With Madame Christina Nilsson.

The elegant Worcester excursion car, "Jerome Marble," which lay on the B. & M. siding, near the Tenth street depot, was to many the first reminder that Omaha had as an honored guest the great singer whose fame is world wide, Madame Christina Nilsson.

It was expected that the Nilsson party would arrive Sunday morning until a telegram was received late Saturday afternoon notifying the folks at the Paxton of their coming. It was first intended to give Madame Nilsson a reception by her countrymen of this city, but the idea was abandoned for the time being as impracticable and only Judge Anderson, Swedish vice-consul and Victor Landgren, editor of The Westra Posten, were at the train on its arrival.

There was much said of a confidential character by the lady, which it is not proposed to repeat, though it would doubtless be very interesting, but it may not be a breach of confidence to state that Madame Nilsson said that many of the pretended interviews in Denver, San Francisco and Kansas City were unfounded.

"Why," said the madame, "I never spoke to a single reporter in Denver, yet the papers had columns after column and whole pages of imaginary interviews. Among other things the reporters have been very particular about what I would eat and what I would drink. You may say for me, to make an end of this matter, that I eat a young elephant every morning for breakfast, a white elephant, and the lady laughed.

It was after 8 o'clock when the company reached the hotel, and the first business on hand was to partake of the supper which they found prepared for them. Madame Nilsson took hers in her room, and owing to the lateness of the hour, did not receive any callers during the evening. The only event of interest was the serenade by the Musical Union orchestra, which appeared in the rotunda and played a charming selection from the "Bohemian Girl" arranged by Mr. Julius Meyer and Prof. Hoffman and tendered as a compliment to Nilsson.

Yesterday morning it was expected that the party would attend services at the Lutheran church, but no grounds were given for any such belief, and those who went out of curiosity were disappointed. Instead of that, they had a disagreement during the forenoon with the proprietors of the Paxton, which resulted in Mme. Nilsson and the majority of the party transferring their headquarters to the Millard, where they were assigned the rooms adjoining the parlors. The change caused considerable talk during the day, and the explanation of the move will be found in the interview with Mme. Nilsson, which follows. The proprietors simply say that they proposed to run the house themselves so long as they were the proprietors.

Christine Nilsson and her company, since passing through Omaha on December 7, have given four concerts in San Francisco, two in Denver and one in Kansas City. The receipts for the four San Francisco concerts amounted to $29,000. Only three concerts a week are given by Nilsson. The first Denver concert brought in nearly $7,000. The second concert in Denver was given on Tuesday evening of the 20th. The tickets were cancelled owing to the small sale of seats. In order to give this second concert in Denver Manager Abbey had to buy off Leavitt's minarets, who had engaged the house for one week. There was $4,000 taken in at this second concert. Of this amount Leavitt got $1,000 for giving up the date, and the opera house arrangement $3,000. The balance, $3,000, went to Abbey, who had to pay Nilsson $1,800, the rest of the company their salaries and all expenses. The receipts of the concert at Kansas City on Friday night amounted to $4,900. The Omaha concert will bring in about $4,000. The seats in the lower part of the house and the first gallery have nearly all been sold at $4, $3 and $2. There are about seventy-five seats remaining at $4 each. The top gallery will be thrown open for sale on Tuesday morning at $1 a seat. No standing room will be sold, and everybody attending the concert will be obliged to have a seat—so says Manager Boyd.

The party will have a long rest in Omaha, three full days, and consequently the concert Tuesday evening may be expected to be exceptionally good. It is not probable that any formal reception will be held to-day at the Millard, although a few friends and countrymen may have an opportunity to pay their respects to the distinguished lady.

The famous Mendelssohn Quintette club, which accompanies the party, is one of the great attractions for Tuesday evening, when the opera house will be filled with an audience of the representative people of Omaha and all the surrounding cities within a radius of 150 miles.

CALLING ON THE CANTATRICE. A representative of The Bee called on Mme. Nilsson at her parlors in the Millard, about 5 o'clock last evening, and met with a very cordial reception.

She had just returned from an afternoon walk and was in the best of

SUNDAY SURPRISES;

Superintendent Havens Receives a Superb Present.

Judge Beneke Takes Diamonds in His

The era of surprises is not yet over, and yesterday two very pleasant ones took place, the first being to Sup't. B. Havens, of the Union Pacific, and the second to the popular municipal magistrate, Judge Gustav Beneke.

Mr. C. B. Havens was, previous to his promotion, the superintendent of the Bridge division and also had charge of the local freight department of the Union Pacific. He was always popular with his men, being kind and considerate to all and a gentleman in every sense of the word, as well as an efficient officer, the latter fact being best attested by his promotion to the important position he now fills.

His old employees and associates determined a few days ago to show him that they had not forgotten old associations, and therefore united in the purchase of a magnificent gold watch and chain, with the Knight Templar charm, the whole costing over $200. The entire outfit is as beautiful as anyone could wish for, and was purchased at Mr. John Baumer's jewelry store.

The watch was engraved on the inner case, "To C. B. Havens, from boys of the local freight department, Omaha, Neb., January 1st, 1883."

Mr. Havens was corralled in the baggage room of the depot about noon and Mr. Thos. Nolan made the presentation speech. Mr. Havens was "paralyzed," but recovered sufficiently to respond and to thank the boys for their gift, and to show him the pleasant associations of his old position nor the friends he left there. The matter did not all end in smoke, although cigars followed.

The dispenser of justice in the city court, Judge Gustav Beneke, who has as many friends, and as warm ones as any man in the city, and deserves his title, was given a handsome New Year's gift last evening. On Christmas day the judge, according to his old custom, presented all the boys on the police force with an acceptable present, and even extended his reminders to the prisoners in the county jail. "The force" determined to get even with him to some extent, and therefore went to Max Meyer and selected a superb diamond ring, the pure stone being set in a band of gold, and being one of the finest rings made. When the time came for roll call, 7 o'clock, they got the judge into the police court room and proceeded to do him up in good shape. It is safe to say that a present was never given with greater good will than this one to Judge Beneke.

THE RETURN.

Omaha Crosses the River to Greet the Bluffers.

At 1:30 p. m. Saturday the Omaha people who were able to get away from their business or other engagements, assembled in sleighs in front of the Paxton hotel and left promptly for Council Bluffs to return the call made by the Iowans Friday.

Saturday was not a good day, especially the Saturday before New Year's, for a big turnout and only about twenty-five sleighs were in the procession when it passed The Bee office on its way to the river. Other stragglers made delay for a city of 40,000 inhabitants. Professor Yager's band headed the procession.
