COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Handsome Tribute of Respect by the Bar to Sheriff Reel.

Close of the Catholic Fair, and who Drew the Prizes.

The Haul a Sneak Thief Made on a Hotel-Keeper's Vest.

District Court Opens To-Day—Miscellaneous News

Before the adjournment of the district court on Saturday night John N. Baldwin in a very neat but effective speech called Judge Reed's attention to the fact that the bar had some business they desired to transact before the court which would require the presence of Sheriff Reel. Mr. Reel soon entered the court room. Mr. Baldwin then arose and very feelingly related the object of the bar meeting, and in behalf of the members presented Mr. Reel with a very handsome gold-headed cane, also a beautiful meerschaum pipe in behalf of the bailiffs of the court. During the presentation Mr. Reel's eyes filled with tears and his lips at the close could only give expression to "I thank your gentlemen."

Judge Reed indorsed the action of the bar in a few appropriate words, saying he was pleased to see such a manifestation of appreciation by the members of the Pottawattamie county bar of so worthy an officer as Mr. Reel has proven himself to be since he became sheriff.

THE CATHOLIC FAIR

closed a very prosperous season at Dohaney's opera house on Friday evening. Conductor Heaton got the punch as the most popular conductor amongst the Catholics. Mayor Vaughan, as the most popular citizen, in the opinion of this church, was voted a beautiful saddle. Mr. W. D. Thomas stands at the head of butchers in the opinion of this church, and was the recipient of a handsome outfit. Miss Annie Quinn is the most popular young lady by a large majority. C. S. Clark of the Nonpareil got the editor's easy chair, as being the most popular reporter in the Catholic church. We got 13 votes, and came within 268 of winning the chair. We are sorry that Clark didn't get the 13, but for brave sons of Erin who stood so nobly by us, although we were not present, we return our sincere thanks. McGrew will turn and join different church. He says he will have nothing to do with one in which Clark is the most popular member.

A SNEAK THIEF'S HAUL.

A sneak thief entered the private sleeping apartment of Mr. and Mrs Max Mohn, at the hotel kept by them on Main street, and stole Mr. Moore's vest containing a silver watch with gold chain attached, and about seventy-five dollars in money. As has been her custom Mrs. Mohn arose in the morning leaving her husband asleep in the room. She went below to prepare there his breakfast. On retiring Mr. Mohn had left his clothes on a chair near his bed. During the absence of his wife the vest was taken but was not missed until quite late in the forenoon, when he proceeded to dress himself. Mr. Mohn found the vest lying in the parlor adjoining with the pockets turned out. As yet there is no clue. Mr Mohn states that he had about seventy-five lodgers in the house that night, a very large number of whom were strangers.

THE MILLER OBSEQUIES.

The remains of George L. Miller, who was accidentally shot on a cattle range out in Wyoming territory, arrived in this city on Friday evening. They were met by a committee from the Masonic fraternity of this city, of which he was an honored member, and escorted to his late residence on Eighth street, where funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the order to which deceased belonged.

SALSBURY'S TROUBADOURS gave a very pleasant entertainment to a crowded house on Saturday evening. The singing was excellent. Each member of the troupe is a star in the profession. Mr. Salsbury's impersonations were immense.

A STRAW.

W. R. Vaughan was elected mayor of this city by a large majority under the new charter of the Catholic fair, last Friday night.

BIG TIME ALL AROUND.

A very highly respectable farmer who came to Council Bluffs a few days ago, concluded to remain over night and take in the sights. He repaired to Big Lou's, where he put in a big night and was relieved of about $50 in cash.

THE DISTRICT COURT

will convene in this city to-day. Judge Reed gave the jury another holiday, but concluded he could not give himself one.

The Episcopal society will be entertained by Mrs. Col. Sapp at the Ogden hotel, this evening (Monday). A cordial invitation is extented to all.

The Dirtiest City in the World.
Naples Letter.

Naples is the largest city in Italy—nearly twice as large as any other—within 50,000 miles of Chicago; and this dense multitude live and move and have their being in huddling hives, from which they swarm like bees. This is believed to be their only resemblance to bees. They are as lazy as they are dirty. A Neapolitan's idea of heaven is to sit on a driver's seat and crack the whip over the head of a gothic horse. He seldom strikes the horse, but cracking the whip is a special accomplishment of Naples, as mosaics are of Florence. In only two things have I ever seen a Neapolitan display any vigor—cracking the whip and scratching his back.

Dirty! the Neapolitan is the dirtiest living creature. Nine-tenths of the people on the street look as if they had worn their clothes for years, and expected to wear them without washing till they drop off. They are generally of some hempen stuff, or tow cloth, once white. One garment seems to be considered enough, and two a superfluity.

Many of the workingmen are constantly seen going about their shops and even the streets with nothing on but a pair of trousers, and I saw one stop in a crowded street and deliberately take of his trousers to search for a flea. The boys from eight to twelve, entirely naked, may be seen walking leisurely through the principal streets for blocks, to the bath house. I never saw so many children without a scrap of clothing on them in my life as within the past week; and it is a real shock to the moral sense of the members of Cooks's Vacation Party, late from a land where modesty is regarded as a virtue.

Queen Victoria's Whims.
London Truth.

With regard to the "relic rooms," to which allusion was made last week, I understand that not only at Balmoral, but also at Osborne, and at Windsor Castle, the suits which were occupied by the Prince Consort have never been altered in any way since his death. Everything remains as he left it. The rooms are kept locked during the absence of the court, but, as the Queen comes to each palace, they are opened, and lighted up every evening during her stay. At Windsor her Majesty usually passes a part of each evening in the Prince Consort's sitting room, his suite adjoining her own, which open from the grand corridor. Frogmore has been practically rendered unavailable as a residence, in consequence of the Queen having closed up the rooms which were used habitually by the Duchess of Kent. This house was always an inconveniently small one, and the shutting up of the best rooms makes it impossible to accomodate a family and establishment there, which, however, is not regretted by the royal family, as it is a very dull place, and exceedingly damp. The Queen passes every morning at Frogmore while residing at Winsdor. In summer her Majesty has tents put up on the lawn, breakfasts in one, and writes her letters and transacts business in the other, driving back to the castle for lunch. Two grooms are kept constantly employed conveying the boxes of papers from Sir Henry Ponsonby at the Castle to the Queen in her tent.

Joseph Durrimlurger, Broadway, Buffalo, was induced by his brother to try THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL for a sprained ankle, and with half a dozen applications he was enabled to walk round again all right. 2-1w
