The funeral of the late city Treasurer Samuel G. Mallett will occur Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the St. Barnabas church, when it is expected that the two sisters of the deceased will be present.
The Plattsmouth City Hotel was destroyed by fire Monday morning, between 7 and 8 o'clock. The hotel was partly owned by Peter Gow, of this city, and was run by his brother. It was valued at $2,500.
The installation of officers of Omaha Lodge U. D. and Planet Lodge No. 4, K. P. for the ensuing term, takes place Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, January 23, 1882, at Castle Hall of Omaha Lodge. John F. Kuhn, D. D. G. C.
The house of McCaffrey has elected a speaker—usual weight and well developed lungs. The mania for girl babies on Oak Hill has been ruthlessly swept away by this New Year caller, and Owen is now a full-fledged dad, with all the airs, honors and anxieties of the office. All's well.
Daily prayer meetings are being held at the Young Men's Christian Association, in observance of the week of prayer from 12:15 to 12:45. Subject for to-day: "Prayer for the blessing of God on His church and His word, Eph. 1:11; 23: 2, Thes. 3:15. All are cordially invited."
The daily bulletin issued from the signal service office indicates cloudy weather for to-day, with a brisk wind and the mercury at 33° above zero. The temperature is lowest at Moorehead, and Vincent, being 10° above at these two points.
Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Kitton gave a house warming and New Year's dinner Monday at their new residence at 1171 Sherman avenue, upon the occasion of Mr. Kitton's birthday. A number of relatives were present and a most enjoyable time was observed.
The Swedish Library Association will hold a fair in Brasch's hall, corner of Twelfth and Farnham streets, commencing with Thursday the 12th, and running three days. The proceeds of the fair will be used to increase the library, which has already proved a great treat and source of education for the young and old Swedish people of this city.
The county commissioners had a regular meeting on Saturday and transacted considerable business, especially in the matter of allowing accounts. The following official bonds were received, filed and approved: Those of Luther R. Wright, Rodney Detcher, constable Sixth ward; Oscar Whitney, constable Sixth ward; following assessors: J. F. Ransom, Florence; E. S. Hoopman, Platte Valley; and I. Shipley, overseer of highways, Florence; Henry Fesler, overseer Jeffersons, and Henry Ruser, overseer Douglas precinct.
There was a regular monthly meeting of the Hook and Ladder company last evening, which was well attended. The only transaction of importance was the appointment of Chas. Fisher, the foreman, as a special committee of one to wait upon Chief Engineer Galligan and request him to witness James O'Brien as driver of the truck. The latter is at present in the employ of the U. P., but would, it is believed, take the position if tendered to him. It is claimed that the team and apparatus cannot be as well taken care of by anyone else as Jim.
MRS. COL. CHASE DEAD.
The Wife of the Ex-Mayor Breathes Her Last.
Mrs. Champion S. Chase, the estimable wife of Ex-Mayor Chase, died at her home on 13th street in this city, last night at eleven and a half o'clock. She has been suffering for two or three years from impaired health, and during the past five weeks a cancer has been rapidly growing which threatened to soon result fatally.
As a last resort a surgical operation was performed on Monday, and for a time it was hoped that the result would be of a favorable nature. Yesterday afternoon, however, the patient commenced to sink rapidly, and gradually her vitality ebbed away. When the end came it was peaceful and quiet and the sweet, Christian spirit went out into the mysterious beyond without a struggle.
Mrs. Chase was a member of the Butterfield family and a sister of Mrs. J. M. Woolworth, Miss M. Butterfield and Miss Fannie Butterfield.
The lateness of the hour forbids an extended eulogy of the deceased, which will be published hereafter. A bereaved husband and son are the remaining members of Mrs. Chase's immediate family.

BEFORE THE BOARD.

The Investigation, by the License Board, Into the Matter of Protests.

A Critical Examination as to the Character of Curry's Place.

Some Plain Facts Told by Witnesses Who Know the Den Thoroughly.

The reasons for the Protest Against Treitschke by the Coroner's Jury.

The License Board, consisting of the mayor, president of the council and city clerk, met at the mayor's office yesterday afternoon to listen to the testimony presented by the signers of the protests against granting licenses to Curry & Co. and Julius Treitschke.

The following is a full and complete report of the proceeding as taken by the stenographer for THE BEE:

Office of Mayor Boyd, the mayor, Thos. H. Daley, president of the city council and J. J. C. Jewett, city clerk sitting as an examining board in the matter of issuing licenses under the Slocumb law.

The application of R. D. Curry & Co., coming up to be heard before the board, the following proceedings were had, to-wit: "G. W. Ambrose, Esq., appeared and said that he on behalf of R. D. Curry & Co., and who would present for filing a written objection to any further proceedings under the protest which had been filed against R. D. Curry & Co., and he would call the attention of the board to the ordinance or law under which the board was acting, as follows:

"If there be an objection, protest or remonstrance filed in the office where the application is made against the issuance of said license, the county board shall appoint a day for hearing of said case, and if it shall be satisfactory proven that the applicant for license has been guilty of the violation of any of the provisions of this act within the space of one year, or if any former license shall have been revoked for any misdemeanor against the laws of this state, then the board shall refuse to issue such license."

He said that neither one of those objections to the granting of the license are named in the protest, but the applicants were simply cited here as being the keepers of a disorderly house. The board could not act, except in the way pointed out by law, and could not hear testimony upon any other subject than as set out in the ordinance.

Mr. E. Rosewater asked permission of the board to address the board, which was granted, and he thereupon stated that the law reads as follows: Statutes of 1881, referring to county boards, and he supposed it also referred to the city board:

"The county board of each county may grant licenses for the sale of any kind of spirituous or vinous liquors, if deemed expedient, upon the application by petition of thirty of the resident freeholders of the town, if the county is under township organization, and if not under township organization, then thirty of the resident freeholders of the precinct where the sale of such liquors is proposed to take place, setting forth that the applicant is a man of respectable character and standing and a resident of this state, praying that license may be issued to him."

He said that if this was a court setting to try Mr. Curry for criminal offense, the objection might possibly be entertained; but the law covering the action of this board appears to be of very wide latitude. He had signed his name when it was brought to the attention of the board, and he believed it was the duty of this board to investigate, especially when it was shown that the character of the house was disorderly to the extent of violating the law as provided in this statute, and if there is such evidence they should refuse the license. If the action of this board was not satisfactory, the law provided for an appeal to the district court. The court records show that this county has been put to great expense for trials for crime committed in Curry's place, and it would be a crime against the community to license him.

Mayor Boyd—I will call the gentleman to order. The law says that such offenses must have taken place within a year.

The law provided that the applicant must be a man in good standing, and his character and conduct previous to the last year should be considered. He had no objection to the issuing of licenses to parties who keep respectable, law-abiding places.

The mayor stated that he, as well as each member of the board had endeavored to carry out the provisions of the law as near as they could, and that he would decide right there, and the other members would sustain him, that he would go on with the evidence. Sections 10 and 11, published in the newspapers, state that if there is an appeal taken it shall be upon the written evidence alone, and for this reason the board decided to take the evidence. He said if there were any persons there who desired to be sworn the board would go ahead with the testimony.

Mr. Rosewater—Under this law it says any party interested shall have process to compel the attendance of witnesses, who shall have the same compensation now provided by law in the district court, to be paid by the party calling such witnesses; he of his own knowledge didn't know the character of Curry's house, but he wanted to cite witnesses to appear before the board. He thereupon gave the names of L. P. Hazen and Frank Casper.

FRANK CASPER, being duly sworn by the mayor, testified as follows:

Mayor Boyd—Now go on and state what you know, if anything, why license should not be issued to R. D. Curry & Co., or in regard to their keeping a respectable or disorderly house?

Mr. Rosewater—Do the board propose to go into it excepting where it is in violation of the law, as provided for in the law?

Mayor Boyd—Yes sir, we do; we propose to get at the truth of the matter.

Mr. Rosewater—The witness should be asked his name and occupation.

Mayor Boyd to witness—State your name, age and occupation.

A. My name is Frank Casper; I am a police officer of the city of Omaha.

Q. State what you know, if anything, about R. D. Curry & Co. A. Well, I wasn't around that beat the last three months; I was there about three months ago on that beat. If anybody will ask me questions, I will answer.

Mayor Boyd—Did you ever arrest Mr. Curry for keeping a disorderly house? A. No, sir; I never did; of course that block around there has got a bad name; I think there is some bad folks in that block; I don't know whether Mr. Curry is or not; Mr. Curry always closed his saloon sharp at 12 o'clock while I was on that beat; I can say that when he was closed up in good time, I never was called in that saloon and I never was in there but twice, since I was in this city; I never was called in there.

Q. Did you notice while you was around there whether there was more disturbance about that saloon than other saloons about the city? A. Well sometimes they have been pretty lively inside and noisy outside too; we always stopped the noise outside but not inside.

Mr. Ambrose—Anything more than saloons of that nature in this city generally? A. I don't know that there was any more than some other saloons in this town.

Q. There are many other residents in that block besides Curry & Co.? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Curry never has been arrested to your knowledge? A. No, sir; I never arrested him.

Q. How long have you been a policeman? A. Nine months.

Q. During that nine months have you ever known of his being arrested? A. No, sir.

Mr. Rosewater—Have you ever been inside that saloon? A. I was there I think twice since I have been in Omaha.

Q. Do you know whether there is any gambling going on in that saloon? A. I don't know, I simply went in and stood a minute or two, and turned around and came back; I know they was playing on the pool table and that is all I have seen.

Patrick Ford, called by Mr. Rosewater, being duly sworn, testified as follows:

Mayor Boyd—State your name? A. Patrick Ford.

Q. And occupation? A. Street commissioner.

Q. Go on and state what you know about R. D. Curry keeping a disorderly house? A. I always considered it so during my time, on the police force.

Q. Confine your remarks to the past year; that is all the evidence we have to go on? A. During the past year I have seen several riots and rows around there, and there is a house of prostitution there and on the south side of that house there is an alley, between that house and Curry's saloon. I considered it all one place. I have been called to that house of prostitution several times and whenever I would go in they would go from one house to another. In my estimation it is a place no decent person can pass safely.

Q. Just give us the points—what you know, not your estimation? A. About the second day I was on the police force last spring there was a light here; there was so many there I could hardly get around; I was there nearly an hour tussling with a man; I couldn't get him and no one there offered to help me.

Q. Was that the only time you know of any disturbance there? A. I have never been in that saloon over three or four times to my knowledge—there in that saloon.

Q. From what you know during the past year, do you consider it a more disorderly place than other saloons in the city? A. There's lots as bad as it.

Q. That is the common run of saloons I mean? A. Yes, it is worse than the common run, but there is a good many as bad.

Q. Would you consider it a respectable and disorderly house? A. I wouldn't.

Mr. Ambrose How many saloons in that block? A. Between Douglas and Dodge there are two saloons and all the rest are houses of prostitution.

Q. There has been a good deal of disturbance on that street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. It don't all come from Curry's saloon? A. No, sir.

Q. That whole block is covered with houses of prostitution? A. Yes, sir; only one store to my knowledge and the United States hotel.

Q. During your last year on the police force and since you have been street commissioner did you ever know of Mr. Curry or his partner having been arrested? A. I don't know of any time.

Q. Has there ever been a complaint against him in the police court for disorderly conduct? A. We had search warrants in the police court. At the time Roagan was robbed there was searched the house and got some cigars there—probably taken by people in that saloon.

Q. Nothing of that kind attached to Curry? A. No, sir; I don't know as it was; I don't know but that Curry is a good enough man.

Mr. Rosewater—Do you know whether or not Mr. Curry has kept his saloon open on Sunday during the past year?

that, I seen one white man come out and I seen colored women come out of them houses.

Q. Not out of Curry's? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't know that this fight was occasioned by anything in Curry's saloon? A. No, sir; I don't know that it was occasioned by any saloon.

William McCune sworn and testified as follows:

Mayor Boyd—What is your name? A. William McCune.

Q. What is your occupation? A. Police officer.

Q. Go on any state any matters you have of your own knowledge, not what you have heard but what you know? A. Well, I have been on the street a long while. It is a pretty hard street, that block is, but in Curry's saloon I didn't see any more racket than in the rest of them. It is a hard locality to keep a saloon in.

Mr. Ambrose—What are its surroundings? A. Well, houses of prostitution of the worst kind.

Q. If you would suppress the houses of prostitution the saloons would not be so bad would they? A. No, sir; I think not.

Mr. Rosewater—Do these prostitutes frequent Curry's saloon? A. Yes, sir; they come in very frequently.

Q. Is there any gambling going on there? A. Not to my knowledge; I never seen any.

Q. Has there been anybody robbed in that place to your knowledge? A. No, sir; I never heard of it, and I was never called in there, and I have never been in there more than three times, and that was before I went on the police force.

Q. You don't know whether there is any gambling going on there? A. Well, I don't see it.

Q. Have you seen any people that have seen it? A. I have seen it by Mr. Ambrose as imitated.

Witness—It is nothing unusual to go into a saloon of that class and see them playing cards with checks.

Mr. Rosewater—I don't mean playing cards. I mean faro and such things? A. Well there is no faro lay-out where the policeman can see it; they play cards with checks and not with money.

Mayor Boyd—In the last year has Mr. Curry's saloon been a more disorderly place than any other saloon in this city? A. Well with the exception of his locality—there is no other saloon kept in so bad a locality—considering his locality I think he has kept a very orderly house; I never had occasion to stop a racket; the noise is more in the other houses.

Mr. Rosewater—Are not those houses all connected with Curry's saloon? A. Not particularly; no more than with other saloons.

Mr. Ambrose—As a policeman do you consider that any disturbance coming in the street there, that Curry & Co. are responsible for it or the people surrounding them? A. Well it is the people surrounding him. A. Well it is the people surrounding him. A. Well it is the people surrounding him.

Mr. Rosewater—Do you think those people would stay there if Curry's saloon was not there? A. I don't know; I don't think his saloon has anything to do with it; they patronize his saloon as well as other saloons; there is no other block in town where there are as many disreputable houses; I think they are the hardest cases in town; that is my opinion of that block.

The name of L. P. Hazen was then called at the suggestion of Mr. Rosewater, but he was not present and the further taking of testimony in that case postponed till 2:30 p. m. to-morrow.

TREITSCHKE'S CASE.

The case of Julius Treitschke was then taken up and testimony taken as follows:

Martin Dunham, sworn, testified as follows:

Mayor Boyd—What is your name? A. Martin Dunham and I live in Omaha.

Q. What is your business? A. Ice business.

Q. Go on and tell the board what you know about this matter. A. I think it is well known to the board that this protest comes from the coroner's jury of which I was foreman. After hearing the evidence the coroner's jury believed that indirectly the cause of this man Hamner's death was that saloon being open at the hour it was—3:10 in the morning—in defiance of three distinct laws, as the jury looked at it, the so-called Slocumb law, the Sunday law and the law that prohibits the doing of anything except the evidence brought before us at that time. The evidence taken then was taken by a reporter and is in writing and this court can get it.

Q. Do you know whether this saloon was kept open at the wish of Mr. Treitschke, or whether it was his orders that the saloon should be closed? A. I know nothing except the evidence before us. I think the evidence was that he proposed that it was open the night after the murder after 12 o'clock and until 3 or 4 o'clock. I never was around there myself after 12 o'clock, but I think you can have evidence that it was open two or three hours the next morning after this crime was committed. The evidence can be produced but I don't propose to pay for it myself; this court can get it if it is necessary.

Q. That will do if you know nothing more? A. I know nothing personally.

Henry Gibson, sworn, testified as follows:

The witness—My testimony is substantially that of Mr. Dunham. The evidence was very strong during that that saloon was open till after 3 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mayor Boyd—Do you know whether or not it was customary to keep it open till after 12 o'clock? A. I don't know; I think I have seen it open after that hour myself, but I couldn't tell the dates. How customary it was I don't know.

Q. Do you know whether it was open by Mr. Treitschke's orders, or whether his orders were to close it? A. I know nothing about that.

A. J. B. Redfield.

Q. You live in Omaha? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Go on and tell what you know about this case. A. I know nothing about it except the testimony produced before the coroner's jury. I was summoned to appear here by the clerk of this court. I know there was some seven or eight witnesses, I think, that testified they were there as late as 3 o'clock in the morning.

Q. Did you ever see that saloon open after 12 o'clock? A. No, sir; I never was in the saloon in my life until after the day of this occurrence.

A. About three weeks.

Q. What has been Mr. Treitschke's orders to you about closing up at 12 o'clock? A. I am not on the night force, but I have heard him tell the bar keeper to close at 12 o'clock, and I have heard him scold him for not closing at the time when he has been down late.

Q. So it was contrary to his orders if it was kept open till after 12 o'clock? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How is it, do you know, about his orders this night in question? A. I know Mr. Treitschke went home about 7 o'clock, and he told him not to keep open late.

J. J. Galligan recalled and was examined by Mr. Ambrose as follows:

Q. Do you know anything about Mr. Treitschke keeping his saloon open after 12 o'clock?

A. I don't know anything; I was out one Sunday I know, and I tried to get in there but I couldn't. I went to Treitschke the next day and he told me his orders were not to keep open till after 12 o'clock.

Mayor Boyd—No further testimony to be offered?

Mr. Ambrose—No, sir.

The further taking of testimony was postponed till to-morrow at 2 p. m.

Novel New Years Gift.

Mr. C. E. Mayne, the commercial editor of THE BEE, came down to the office yesterday with his face aglow with happiness and a twinkle in his eyes that indicated some good fortune had befallen him. He explained after awhile and it then appeared that he was the fit object of congratulations. His wife yesterday morning presented him with an extraordinary New Years gift in the person of a charming little daughter. Mrs. Mayne and babe are doing nicely.
